

Hamilton Spectator Carnival Souvenir

Kingsthorpe

KINGSTHORPE, a residence and day school for girls, has been established to meet a much felt educational need in the city of Hamilton. For some time past there has been no institution, exclusively for girls, doing advanced work and offering advantages in music, art, and other special subjects. Kingsthorpe compares favorably with the best of girls' schools, and the girls of Hamilton can now find in their own city as great advantages as can be obtained elsewhere.

The school is centrally situated at the corner of Hughson and Maria streets. The house is well built, with bright airy rooms; the class rooms are on the ground floor and bed rooms all on the second story. The number of resident pupils is limited to twenty, this enabling each to receive individual attention and all the advantages of a well-regulated home.

RESIDENCE OF R. E. GALLAGHER, HUGHSON STREET SOUTH

Both the principals have had large experience in teaching in day and residential schools, and are assisted by an efficient staff of teachers.

Among the subjects taught are French, German, music, art, elocution and physical culture, dancing, etc. Tuition fees are most reasonable, and parents would do well to send for the 1903-4 calendar, which gives all particulars. The fall school term begins September 10.

A. H. DODSWORTH

A. H. Dodsworth

THE combination of qualities that go to make the successful undertaker are not frequently all found in any one person. In this, A. H. Dodsworth, the well known King street west undertaker, is an exception. He is a man not only with vast experience in this class of work, but also with the needed tact and good management to make his experience most valuable to his patrons. His establishment at 59 King street west is beautifully fitted up, and there is every convenience for the accommodation of customers. Mr. Dodsworth some years ago began the manufacture of caskets and coffins, his object being to have always on hand the best of selection and at prices that would satisfy his patrons. This branch of his business has been very successful. For many years Mr. Dodsworth has been recognized as one of the most experienced embalmers in the country. His funeral cars are up-to-date and his equipment throughout is such as cannot fail to satisfy the most fastidious taste. His business is a steadily growing one, which is not to be wondered at when one considers the care and attention paid to the smallest details of the last sad duties entrusted to his care.

In the summer of 1889 the last carnival was held in Hamilton. It was a most brilliant success, and did the city an immense amount of good. The weather was ideal all the way through and large crowds of visitors attended. The program was a varied one, and concluded with a military display in which the famous Thirteenth Regiment, of Brooklyn, New York, took part. There was no limit to the enthusiasm of the people on that last day, and even yet it is talked of as the greatest celebration in history. C. R. Smith was the promoter and secretary. He now lives in California.

"Gone but not forgotten."

C. R. SMITH

The promoter of the 1889 Summer Carnival, as he then appeared.

RESIDENCE OF CYRUS A. BIRGE, MAIN STREET EAST