

warrant me in recommending him to the favourable consideration of those who may have to exercise the patronage of any medical appointment for which he may become a candidate.

WILLIAM HENDERSON, M.D.,
Professor of General Pathology,
 University of Edinburgh.

14th Nov., 1860.

Joseph Lister, F.R.C.S., Professor of Surgery in the University of Glasgow.

17, WOOLWICH PLACE,
 GLASGOW, 14th Nov., 1860.

I was acquainted with Dr. RACEY during his dressership under Mr. Syme, in the Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh, and also when a member of my surgical class in that City, and in both cases had occasion to remark alike his intelligence and amiability, and his devoted application to professional study.

As he also bears an excellent moral character, I regard Dr. RACEY as a medical man of very high promise.

JOSEPH LISTER, F.R.S.,
Professor of Surgery,
 University of Glasgow.

James A. Hunter, M.D., F.R.C.S. E., Surgeon to the Edinburgh New Town Dispensary.

NEW TOWN DISPENSARY,
 EDINBURGH, 13th Nov., 1860.

As I had numerous opportunities of judging of Dr. RACEY's attainments during the period that he acted as my pupil in visiting