PRINCESS COLONA. INCOME $175,000 A YEAR.

In the courts of France a separa infrom Prince Colonna, has arrived in New York. With her were her three children, Andrea. Bianca and Marco. aged eight, six and four years respectively. She was also accompanied by her half-brother. John W. Mackay, ir., who joined her in London after her flight from Paris. The Princess and her children lett the Hotel Brighton, at Paris, on Jan, 30, as if for a moonlight promenade. To hill suspicion, Mrs. Mackay remained behind. The cause of flight was said to be the intolerable position in which the Princess found herself after the French court allowed the Prince to see the children twice a week. This feeling of uncasiness was increased by the fear that the courts of Paris would give the children to the recreant husband. The story of the marital infelicity of the daughter of John W. Mackay and the stepdaughter of John W. Mackay is one of the unhappiest of the many tales of m sery which have resulted from the mariage of wealthy American girls to titled foreigners. She married Prince Ferdinand Gallatro Colonna, whose title is as high as any in Italy, a little over ten years ago. She was known to San Franci co before her widowed mother married John W. Mackay, as Miss Eva Bryant, a most charming girl of delightful manners and lovable dispusition. It was while she was traveling in Europe with her mother; Golonna met her in Paris. He followed the girl and her mother to Italy, when they left Villebonne, their chateau, about the league out of Paris. There he woode constantly and zealously. His attentions were not unappreciated, for besides his high rank and ancient heage we was a very handsome and ag-ceable man of less han thirty years. She has, however, rued the fact that he was agazed, almater the Farmer Hardist: What under the thinks the work won't be quite so hard.

Farmer Hardfist: Work? Why, shucks, Polly; he don't skurcely know what work is! He hain't done a thing since supper but milk the cows, feed the horses, slop the hogs, split and carry in the wood and kindlin's, shell a little corn, ketch the colt, and turn the grindstone for me about half an hour. He's had all the rest of the time to himself, except the few minutes it took him to mend the bridle I broke this mornin'. What in the name of Tunkett makes all the boys so crazy to leave the old farm?—Life.

Taking Life Easy. "One of the most noticeable changes that has come about in my experience," says a traveller of fifty years, "is in the evening life of our towns and cities. Why, it isn't so many years ago that in any city the places of business would all be open of an evening. Lawyers would be in there offices, the mechanics in their shops, the merchants in their stores, and everybody pegging away busily. Mills and factories even would run until 7.30. Now go through almost any city or village of an evening, and you'll find the business wheels at a standstill. The lawyers, mechanics, merchants—in fact almost everybody—are idle. No one now attempts to do much of an evening. Social life claims its own when the sun goes down, and either the home circle, the club or the theatre has the people. Perhaps fifty years hence we'll no longer work afternoons. "One of the most noticeable changes Slaughtered for their Furs.

An idea of the enormous number of fur-bearing animals annually slaughtered for their pelts may be gained from the following figures of skins to be offered for the January sales at London:
One million five hundred thousand muskrats, 550,000 Australian opossum, 220,000 raccoon, 200,000 skunk, 175,000 mink, 105,000 opossum, 50,000 wallaby, 38,800 fox, 88,000 marten, 82,000 nutris, 20,000 wombat, 14,000 beaver, 8,800 cat. 6,000 bear, 5,000 kangaroo, 5,000 Tynz, 3,600 Thibet lamb, 3,400 wolf, 2,800 dry-hair seal, 1,100 badger and 1,000 Russian sable, a total of nearly 3,000,000 skins, This is exclusive of the regular offerings of sealskins on Jan. 15. which will comprise 28,900 skins, all except 3,200 of which are from northwest coast seals. Slaughtered for their Furs.

An Interesting Experiment.

Touch the convex side of a watch glass upon water so as to leave a drop hanging on the glass. Pour a little sther into the concave side and ablow upon it. The rapid evaporation of the ether will render the glass so cold that the drop of water will be frozen.

little Alphonso must be pardoned if he is a "spoiled" child.

One day Alphonso and his governess were out driving, when suddenly the governess noticed that the little king was not acknowledging the "salutes of his arbitects".

was not acknowledging the salutes of his subjects.
"I am too tired to bow to them," exclaimed he, pettishly, "and I am not going to do it."
"But you must acknowledge their salutes," insisted the governess, "because you are their king, and it is one of the customs for a king to bow to his subjects.
"I shall not bow to them!" exclaimed Alphonso, loadly.
"Then you cannot drive in the carriage with me," replied the governess, idadly but firmly, for she feared that Alphonso would offend his subjects.
"Then you may get out and walk!" exclaimed the naughty little king.
Then, calling to the coachman, he cried. "Halt, Carlo! This lady wishes to go on foot."

months needed repolishing. The diminished cost of labor and material will more than make up the interest you save by delay. The old-fashioned barroom freeze of your hall is ridiculed by your neighbors; it is loud and vulgar; rub it out and substitute something more refined.

If you are suspicious there is arsenic in your wall paper, have it removed. It will save a prospective doctor's bill, which, when paid, leaves you with nothing you ought not to possess without his expense.

Give an order at once for that suit of clothes you contemplate when the times are a little better. Your tailor will take the order at reduced rates during the dull season.

The parlor suit begins to look shabby; it has been in use 15 years without renovating; it is old fashioned and not worfure pairs. It is now a good time to buy new and modern at a very low price.

If I have falled to mention all you require and your bank account still shows a surplus above immediate wants, drawing nothing by way of interest or at most 2 per cent tell your wife of it, and if she does not find a more useful way to employ the money you had better get a divorce, for she is certainly not the helpmate she promised to be.

Nut Spoken as Spelled.

The absurd and sometimes extraordinary difference between the spelling and pronunciation of English names has often been commented upon. Several lists have been published, but they are by no means complete. The following, it is believed by the Boston Transcript, are, for the most part, new: Woodnesborough, Winsbro; Woodman.cote, Woodmuncket; Wymondham, Windum; Yaddlethorpe, Yalthrup; Gainsborough, Gainsber; Glencoin, Lenkerri; Grassington, Girstun; Haddlscoe, Hadsker; Gunthwatte, Gunft; Eskdale, Ashdale; Brampton Brian, Brawn; Brighthelmstone, Brytun; Hallahon, Horn; Meddlethorpe, Threithrup; Marylebone, Marrowbone; Ulrome, Ooram; Uttoxeter, Tuxiter, Rampisham, Ransom; Crostwight, Corsti; Pevensey, Pinsy: Ooxwold, Cookwood; Holdsworth, Holder; Skiddaw is Skiddy; Kirkendbright, Kircoobry; Ilkley, Eethla; Hawarden, Hard'n; Alford, Artfold, Strachan should be pronounced Strawn; Colquehoun is Kooloon, the accent being on the last syllable; Beauchamp is Beacham; Duchesne should be pronounced Nut Spoken as Spelled. sounded. Menzies is pronounced Alynges. Knollys as Knowles, Sandys as Sants. Gower as Gorr, and Milnes as Mills. Dalziel should be pronounced "Dee-al," with accent on first syllable; Glamis is Glarms; Geoghegan should be pro-nounced Gsygan and Ruthven is Riven.

The Ivery Supply.

If the ivery trade increases at the present rate much longer the elephants will soon become extinct. One firm alone in Sheffield, England, last year received the tusks of no fewer than 1,280 elephants. A few years ago 800 pairs of tusks were sufficient for them.
