BANKED MONEY

NUMBER AN ALIAS

Heirs of Quebec Man Do Not Discover Deposit for Some Years.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire] New York, Oct. 24.—It was disclosed yesterday that the late Joseph George Michaud, of Quebec, had the sum of $29,000 in United States currency on deposit in a strong box at the Lincoln Safe Deposit Company in this city under the name of "J. A. Belanger." This fact came to light when Surrogate John P. O'Brien was petitioned by Georgian Richard-Julien, of Montreal, to turn this money over to her as executrix of Michaud's estate.

Michaud, according to the police, died in Quebec December 2, 1919, but the existence of the money was not known until a bill for the rent on the strong box for two years, made out by the Lincoln Trust Company to J. A. Belanger, accidentally reached the petitioner. According to the disposition of Arthur Mautte, manager of the Banque Nationale, Quebec, Michaud had placed an account at the bank under this alias, but had been compelled to close it and re-opened it under his right name when deception was discovered.

Oscar Hamel, a Quebec solicitor, personally testified that Michaud had, in his presence, once made out a cheque to himself and J. G. Michaud and had signed it J. A. Belanger, explaining that he had an account in a New York bank under that name.

The reason why the late Mr. Michaud employed an alias was not explained.

Surrogate O'Brien reserved decision.

DAMAGE BY FIRE AT PLASTER ROCK

Plaster Rock, N. B., Oct. 23.—A considerable section of this town barely escaped destruction by fire on Friday when sparks from the mill burner, fanned by a heavy wind, set fire to several buildings including the Queen Hotel, Turner House and stores occupied by A. B. Murphy and J. Brody. The roof of the last building was burned through in two places and there is no doubt had these fires raged a little more headway that not only this but several other buildings in the path of the wind would have been reduced to ashes. Fortunately, the fires were soon put out and little damage was done.

PREMIER SMUTS ON FOREIGN POLICY

French Policy is Attacked and Great Britain Is Duly Warned.

London, Oct. 23.—Premier Smuts, of South Africa, having the European situation without gloves and called for a conference of the powers to consider the whole position in a speech to-night at a dinner attended by the South African delegates to the Imperial Conference.

He attacked France for her policy and wanted Great Britain and the United States against an "excessive generosity" in the renunciation of inter-Allied war debts, which would aid in further militarization of the continent.

General Smuts asserted that he had not only the right but the plain personal duty to speak frankly.

"Of the great number of public men whose names stand under the peace treaty," he said, "there are only two or three who still survive in power today. For better or for worse I am one of them, and the responsibility for what was done at Paris, weighs heavily on my conscience in spite of the fact that I signed it only under protest and under a sense of foreboding of future calamities which has come only too true."

A gallant attempt to save Europe, without patching or temporizing was necessary and this could only be done through a conference of the powers mainly interested in the reparation question.

The situation was too desperate to be dealt with by any subordinate authorities or even the reparation commission or the council of the League of Nations.

"It is a business for the principals, not agents," he declared. "It is vitally important that the United States should be there as an active member and bear her full weight, which under the circumstances may be more decisive than that of any other power. In her distress Europe is to-day more than ever turning her eyes and stretching out her hands to her great daughter nation in the west. The appeal is not so much for material assistance as for moral support. In this dark hour it is the lack of moral justice which is Europe's undoing."

"The peoples of Europe have faith in America. I share that faith and that feeling and I have complete confidence in America's readiness to act at the right time. President Coolidge has already in his recent statement taken the initiative. It is being followed up and the new world may once more come in to redress the balance of the old as it did six or seven years ago."

ROTARY CLUB HAD WILD FOWL DINNER

Tabusintac Goose Club Hosts—Addresses by T. F. Allen and R. W. Tufts.

Two addresses of particular interest from the standpoint of sportsmen were delivered last evening in connection with the dinner tendered by the Rotary Club members of the Tabusintac Goose Club to their brother Rotarians and friends at the Masonic Hall. The addresses were furnished by R. W. Tufts, of Whiteville, Chief Migratory Bird Officer, and T. F. Allen, of Andover, veteran Superintendent of the Tobique Salmon Club, and followed a brief discourse by President Bob Vandine on the merits and fine points of duck and goose and other wild fowl and the sport which ever hunter attaches to securing a dinner of last night's description.

Mr. Tufts dealt briefly with the events leading up to the adoption of the international migratory game birds treaty between Canada and the United States in 1917. An impression which he had found, was that Americans were benefitting under this treaty at the expense of the Canadian sportsman. This was, however, incorrect in fact, and he had yet to hear an argument to support this impression.

Many changes, he declared, have taken place during the past decade amongst which have been the introduction of automobiles, motorboats, and the large increases in the number of wild fowl hunters. All these have contributed to the increasing destruction of game birds and the need for protection, protective measures were not at first a success owing to the fact that every state and province adopted varying laws which did not conform to any standard. In the United States this was overcome in 1912 with the introduction of a uniform act applying throughout the country. It was followed in 1917 by the international treaty from which great benefits to both countries have already been received, particularly to be noted in the Canadian West.

Prohibition of spring hunting and marketing of birds has saved Canada's game birds, said Mr. Tufts. The regulations are practically new and are capable of being molded to suit local conditions. One feature in this connection which he had investigated was the destruction of the shell-drakes. Results of the analysis of the contents of a number of birds killed on the Miramichi and Nashwaak had shown 50 per cent. trout poisoning, revealing the extent of their depredations.

Here the speaker was briefly interrupted by Mr. Allen, who stated that the shell-drakes were most destructive in connection with salmon, feeding for three years in succession from the spawn to the third year stage of salmon development. Six years, he added, were required to produce a salmon, and with high and muddy water the shell-drakes retired to the lakes where they fed on trout.

Mr. Tufts then explained that the treaty and regulations allowed extermination processes to be commenced in connection with any injurious species under local permit.

Mr. Allen, who has been connected with the Tobique Salmon Club for a period of 34 years, since its inception in 1889, then addressed the gathering in an interesting discourse on the life history and habits of the salmon, all of his remarks being based on personal observation. Speaking with reference to spawning, he stated that if hatcheries were entirely relied upon there would soon be no large salmon in the rivers.

The Tobique, he said, was the main spawning ground for the Bay of Fundy Salmon and that the net fishermen along the river St. John and harbor receive 35 per cent of the benefit derived from the protection instituted by the Tobique Salmon Club on the headwaters. The club he stated was maintained at an expense of between twelve and fourteen thousand dollars annually and consisted of 25 members. Bay of Fundy Salmon consisted of the only remaining lines of pure Atlantic salmon, said Mr. Allen, who also criticized the introduction of the Pacific Coast strains through the hatcheries in an attempt to improve the local Atlantic stock.
