Invoice Fees on Imports From Foreign Countries

In view of considerable misunderstanding existing with regard to the establishment of the proposed system requiring that all invoices covering goods to the value of $100, or more, when imported into Canada from foreign countries, should be "visé" by an officer appointed by the Canadian Government, the Department of Trade and Commerce has issued the following statement:

Legislation empowering the Canadian Government to institute the proposed system was passed in an amendment to the Customs Act at the last session of Parliament. The scheme is to be brought into force by proclamation when the necessary arrangements are made to that end. This will require some months.

The proposed certificates are to be signed by a Canadian Trade Commissioner, British Consul or other accredited officer in the form or to the effect prescribed in that behalf by the Governor-in-Council, who may also prescribe the fee to be charged therefor.

It will be observed that the scheme is to be applied to goods imported from foreign countries only, viz., outside the British Empire.

As is well known, many consular officers of other countries are established in Canada. For years they have been collecting fees on invoices covering exports from Canada to the various foreign countries. In some cases no fee is charged, in others a rather heavy fee is imposed. Some have adopted a flat rate, others charge a fee on an ad valorem basis. The fees which have thus been collected in Canada in the aggregate amount to a very large sum. As an example, it may be mentioned that in the case of the United States Consuls in Canada, on exports amounting to over $500,000,000, collected nearly $500,000 in invoice fees alone; that is to say, about one-tenth of one per cent. This sum not only paid the expenses of the United States Consular Service in Canada, but produced a handsome revenue, as the total expenditure for the United States Consular Service in Canada during this period was a little over $270,000.

Had Canada imposed an invoice fee on exports from all foreign countries to the Dominion during the year 1920, a very large revenue would have been received.

The new system, if established, will enable the Department to very considerably extend the Commercial Intelligence Service in various parts of the world, whereas at present it is difficult to obtain a sufficient sum by parliamentary appropriation to extend the service to such proportions as the Department so greatly desires.

Again, the Department would have greater freedom of action rather than being curtailed as at present in having to ask Parliament for the sum that is considered vitally necessary. While a large parliamentary appropriation would appear to be a heavy burden upon the people of Canada, under the proposed system an even larger amount could be obtained which would not in reality be a tax upon Canada, to the extent believed by many, as many Canadian exporters have informed the Department that they pay the foreign consular fees collected in Canada out of their own pocket and do not pass the charge on to the foreign importer. Thus Canadians pay the fees collected. It is a reasonable measure to suppose that Canadian importers would to the same extent be relieved of the payment of the fees collected abroad. In any case, the tax would be so widely distributed it would be a trifling consequence.

At present Canada has abroad 20 Trade Commissioners, 10 of whom are in foreign countries. No revenue is derived from this Service at present, whereas the total expenditure which has to be voted by Parliament and is a direct tax upon the public is approximately from $230,000 to $240,000 per annum.

The proposed scheme would operate as a further Imperial preference, in the imposition of the fees is not proposed to be applied to goods imported into Canada from within the British Empire.

It is proposed that British Consuls throughout the world shall act for Canada and that in the more important centres Canada will establish additional Trade Commissioners which will enable a great extension of the Commercial Intelligence Service, especially in many countries in which Canada has no direct trade representative at present.

By the utilization of British Consuls, who will retain a proportion of the fee collected, the Canadian Commercial Intelligence Service will become more closely associated with the British Consular Offices scattered throughout the world, thus effecting a very considerable economy in expenditure and rendering it unnecessary for Canada to duplicate the Commercial Service of the United Kingdom.

Under the new system, all officers, whether British Consuls or Trade Commissioners or other accredited agents authorized to visit export documents.

The town council met in special session last evening, Mayor Cochrane in the chair. C. D. Clayton acting town clerk. One councillor was absent. The minutes of former meetings were read and confirmed. Some bills were ordered paid. Councillor Mitchell presented a by-law relating to traffic and after some discussion it was passed by the council. The school trustees asked for $3,000 for school purposes and a cheque was ordered for the amount. A delegation from the Gaiety Theatre, consisting of W. Harry Allen and Arthur Pringle, appeared before the council and asked the council to define the sports that would be allowed. Mr. Allen said that the Gaiety did not want to break any rules or regulations of the town in regard to games. Personally, he said, he did not favor wheels of fortune. On motion the matter was left in the hands of the police committee with full power, and after thanking the council the delegation retired. The matter of the back taxes of the Nashwaak Pulp & Paper Company was before the meeting and a committee composed of the Mayor and Councillors Finnmore and Manzer, were appointed to deal with the case. The meeting was then adjourned. Misses Violet and Helen Cowie, who have been visiting friends in St. John for the past few weeks, have returned home.
