NEWCASILE ILLUSTRATED Another illustrated Edition to be Issued by The Advocate.

This year we have been repeatedly asked if we did not intend to issue an illustrated edition for this summer and we now make the interesting announcement that such is our intelltion, and our printers are now at work at same. This edition will not be quite as large as the one last year. but will be of the same character, only dealing exclusively with the is the best for her work owned by the enterprising organization. Unject the superintendence of the Compary's manager, Capt. John Bullek, the "Mtranichi" was rebuilt during the winter and speing. Her frame was mainly found to be quite sound and was renewed where necessary; new deck-beams, extending over the siles sufficiently to give 3 feet gangways fore and sit were put in, the hull and deck newly planked, new rails and houses put an, a new boiler, made by the Mattheenso of New Glaagew, put in, reev upper deck hid and, in fact, all essential parts renewed. Engineer Charles Johnston thorougily overhanded the engine and mach it as good as new gail. Mr. Willam Johnston did the pansing in his usual complete and artistic magner. The result of all the work done is that the "Miramichi" is the handsomast steamer on the North Shore, and so traunch as to gaararetulated to enjort at a safety di excursionists and other partons. The directors and Capt. Bullick are to be comparatulated on their efforts to meet the comparatulated on the substance and safety di comparatulated on their efforts to meet the comparatulated on the efforts to meet the comparatulated on their efforts to meet the comparatulated on the state of the cocan. The comments of the passengers when an ocean stermer passes an ice-berg are often curious. If the weathdirectors and Capt. Bulliek are to be ship, perhaps a great ocean liner, congratulated on their efforts to rate the falls in with a fleet of these levia-requirements of the river service by irements of the river service by furnishing this latest evidence of the company's enterprise.

Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, recently drew in a re-cent lecture he delivered in Toronto an interesting picture of the origin and methods of the founders of On-tario and the conditions under which they haid the foundations of the so-cial and economic exemutation of th y haid the formations of the so-cial and economic organization of to-day. In those days the women were married in homespun gowns, decrsin petticoats, and squirrelskin homets. Freachers were scarce, and Magistrates performed the ceremony, and so inadequate were the records kett that it was deemed wise in 1793 by act of Parliament to legal-ize all marriages made previous thereto. Despite the plainness and security of the life those old people looked back with recret to the time looked back with regret to the time when there were no doctors, no hawyers and very few preachers.

awyers and very tw preachers, when people "said pravers at homa and trusted in Providence," He also told of the great emistration to Can-ada from Great Britan, extending from 1815 to 1860, and to the in-terest in live stock of those British settlers he attributed in great part the present properity of Ontario.
