Trouble has again broken out between the town council and the local Board of Health and at a time when the public must suffer most. The discussion arose in the council when the Mayor read an agreement entered into between the Board of Health and Jas. E. Kelly for a piece of his property used for a public dumping ground, some of the members found fault with the locality, the cost was too much, the Board was not properly looking after it and refused to ratify the contract. The Board claims it is the only suitable place available in Ward 3, and then secured only after a fruitless search in the West end for over two years, that such a dumping ground is a necessity in that section, that it is properly looked after and the attention paid to it. Mr. Kelly was to receive $15 a year for five years, the town having the option of renewing. This the Board thought was a good bargain for the town. The board thinks the Council has interfered with their work and shows a want of confidence in them as a body. The result is Mr. Kelly has closed his dumping ground to the public and householders now busy cleaning up their yards must pay 75c or $1 to have their loads hauled a mile and a half to the dumping ground east of the town, where formerly the cost was 25c. As matters look now the council may be required to elect a new board at least some of the members and should have in the interest of the public health immediate attention.
