THE MAYOR'S PLAIN WORDS.

"It is a lie!" In these simple, forceful easily understood, homely English words Mayor McLaren yesterday repelled a false and malicious assertion made by T. J. Stewart at the nomination for the Mayoralty in the City Hall.

But the Mayor did not forget his position. The forgetting was done by the man who made the false accusation with the evident purpose of injuring him. The Mayor's words were apropos.

It is by such statements that the gang which put forth great efforts to induce Stewart to carry the Hydro-Electric banner against Mayor McLaren hope to deceive too trustful ratepayers to vote for its candidates on Monday next.

They have dealt in lies and half truths, which are the worst kind of lies, until truth and candor do not seem to come easy to their tongues, and Stewart's attack on the Mayor was but a part of the conspiracy to betray the ratepayers. The attack was met promptly:

"It is a lie!" And the slanderer, halted in his malicious assault, unable to substantiate his assertion, and smarting under the disapproving glances of the honest citizens before him, could only whine at the direct and vigorous manner of the denial.

And this is but one block which goes to make up the great fabric of lies and deception of which the Hydro Electric structure is built. Watch the gang! Turn on the light! Expose the rascally deceivers!

THE HERALD'S SNARL.

The local organ of the Hydro-Electric conspirators, having failed to secure a mayoralty candidate who would stand by his guns and permit the hungry ones to get at his pockets, is exceedingly sore, and has turned its batteries of abuse upon Ald. Hopkins, whom it had counted on playing the role of deluded victim. Last evening it indulged in a long editorial snarl in which it insinuated, with many "it is understood," that Ald. Hopkins had yielded to influences of a certain kind and proved untrue to the Hydromanic clique.

Such an attack was very characteristic of the organ making it. How prone people are to suspect their fellows of resorting to such means as they themselves would use on occasions to effect their purposes!

At last evening's council meeting Mayor McLaren referred to this attempt at "journalistic reputation assassination." He had accepted an invitation to visit Mr. Biggar and meet his mayoralty opponent, and he had done so. There was nothing in the nature of a "deal," and he had no thought of such a thing, either then, or at any time before or since.

This statement by the Mayor will not be questioned by any ratepayer who knows him and Dr. Hopkins. Indeed, explanation of Dr. Hopkins' determination to stand from under is hardly necessary to those who were not out "after the staff" hoping to profit by election expenditures. Perhaps Dr. Hopkins was tardily convinced of the folly of contesting the mayoralty; perhaps his mind was made up to retire earlier than many people think. We are not inclined to believe that the doctor was deceived by the Herald's bluff and bluster about the Mayor's alleged weakness.

But whether or not this view is correct, the fact remains that his retirement was not improperly induced, as the Herald insinuates. The Mayor's statement last night was hardly necessary to reassure the public. It is, however, but one more public exposure of the unprincipled course which the organ of the desperate Hydro-Electric conspirators pursues toward all those who do not lend themselves to the furthering of that scheme at the expense of the city.

A writer in an English magazine says that on the average it costs about a guinea to raise each one of the plebeians shot on English estates. Yet to this game breeding hundreds of thousands of idle acres are devoted in order to furnish sport for the rich. How much better it would be were the poor of the kingdom employed on these lands in producing their own support.

PICK YOUR MEN.

With thirteen candidates for the Board of Control in the field, and aldermanic contests in every ward, and a number of by-laws to be voted upon, next Monday's work will not be light for the election officials. As the aldermen are elected on the ward system, however, there is less danger of congestion than if the at-large system prevailed. Every elector will be entitled to vote for four members of the Board of Control and for his ward alderman. He may vote for fewer than four controllers if he choose to do so, but he must not vote for more than four, or he will spoil his ballot.

Candidates have until this evening to take the oath of qualification, which will entitle them to a place on the ballot; and it will not be possible to know with certainty how many candidates will be in the field until the expiry of the time allowed by law for qualification. There is ample material offering from which to select a good Council. Last year the city was happy in getting rid of party machine rule. Various cliques have been selected to pledge candidates to the promotion of their ends. Let the ratepayer beware of being misled in this matter. The man who acts upon principle and has given faithful service to the public, deserves consideration beyond that of any candidate who stands ready to give any pledge that may be asked in order to secure votes. As a general rule, the ratepayer stands to gain by rewarding faithful public service with a renewal of confidence. The Council of 1909 has many good works to its credit; let us hope that the people will be equally fortunate in their selections for 1910. Let us have a Council of business men devoted to the city's interests, not a Council of politicians, faddists and extremists.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Thirteen Controller candidates! It will be an unlucky number for a good many of them.

And must the Hydro vultures after all go hungry? No wonder the Herald is mad at Doc Hopkins. So near and yet so far!

A Virginia man has offered to marry Carrie Nation. But Virginia has long been famous for the production of brave men.

The field crops of Canada have increased in value $100,000,000 for a single year. This is surely the "growing time" of the Dominion.

The Supreme Court of Illinois has affirmed the right of the city of Chicago to fix the weight of a load of coal, and to see that the customer gets full weight. Will somebody please carry the news to Mr. McNaught, M. P.?

Hon. A. B. Morine is doubtful of the Governor's naval policy. That is because he isn't the Marine Minister of Canada.

It is a "boon" that accounts fully for a good many faulty findings at times, these days.

The Government of Japan is considering the revision of its tariff and a general readjustment of its treaties of commerce. Japanese statesmen say that they will not adopt high protection, but will frame a tariff with the object of producing revenue.

The City Council is arranging for a banquet to mark the retirement of Engineer McLarene from the waterworks, and to testify to the popular appreciation of his long and valuable services. The decision to thus honor Mr. McLarene is one that will meet with unanimous approval.

The total trade of Great Britain for November was over $50,000,000. The exports of British products, chiefly manufactures, were $20,000,000 greater than in November, 1908. The exports of the eleven months were over $50,000,000 ahead of the corresponding period of last year.

The New York Medical Journal affirms that it would be injudicious to attempt to substitute spinal anaesthesia with stovaine as practised by J. J. Gussio for general anaesthesia in the majority of cases. It finds the local anaesthetic useful in special cases, but condemns it as a routine procedure.

Taking the figures of the "Tariff Reform" advocates the British Liberals very effectively point out that to put about $8,000,000 into the treasury by taxes on foodstuffs more than $10,000,000 taxes would be levied on the British consumers on their grain, meats and dairy produce.

Ald. Juttan said very truly in his nomination speech that it would have been folly for the Council to have committed the city to the Hydro monopoly, when it had a chance to test the scheme with a 1,000 h.p. contract for a year before doing so. And no sane, honest man will gainsay it.

"It is a lie!" said Mayor McLaren, interrupting T. J. Stewart, Hydro-Electric Boss, in one of his personal attacks. Some of the clique resent the Mayor's plain words. But no other words so fitly describe not only the statement then referred to but a lot of other Hydromanic assertions as well.

The Herald insinuates that Doc Hopkins was "called off," and closes a long editorial with some remarks about "open enemies and false friends" of the Hydro scheme. Jab it with a hypodermic, Doc; it may enable it to endure with greater patience the "barrenness" of a campaign where there is no "bar" to be tapped.

The inequality of the British system of taxation is hinted at by the statement that Cardiff Castle and grounds, owned by the Marquis of Bute, is rated for taxes at $5,000. The Marquis' tailor's shop near by is rated at the same amount. The Lloyd-George budget revaluations will doubtless make a decided difference.

In New York in 1908 over 1,000 persons were treated for hydrophobia. The number of deaths was 20, and these in these cases no treatment was given, or there was too much delay in beginning it. The total number of deaths of hydrophobia in the United States in 1908 was 82; in the years 1901-5 the average was 42.

The lack of public interest manifested in the Board of Education elections is to be regretted. Probably such matters are overshadowed by the aldermanic and controller elections, but it is a pity that they should be. A considerable part of the revenue of the city is disbursed by the trustees, and important interests are entrusted to their care.

An enquirer about the Stratheona fund for the encouragement of military training in connection with the Public Schools, is informed that no schools can share in the Trust Fund until the Province takes action to comply with the conditions under which the gift is made, and which were published in the Times recently. Everything is at a standstill now in that regard, awaiting Whitney's pleasure.

There are people in Canada upholding the House of Lords, who would be in a furious rage if its Canadian counterpart, the Senate, would do as it has done, Victoria Colonist (Can.).

That is a very true statement. Few intelligent Canadians, no matter what their party allegiance, would submit to have their affairs managed by the Senate in defiance of the will of the people's representatives.

Stewart yesterday sneered that not one new industry had been secured by the city this year. Well, isn't that what he and the Hydro gang were working for? What else did they expect to accomplish by libelling the city, playing into the hands of rivals, knocking the local power concern and striving to insure it, and advertising abroad the falsehood that we were in the grasp of a tyrannous power monopoly?

Stewart looked very foolish yesterday, when, after attacking the Mayor and Council of 1909 for reducing the water charge for closets, and striking a stage attitude, illustrating by asserting that the hotels and not the average ratepayer would profit by it, the Mayor mildly explained that the measure did not apply to hotels at all. T. J. actually had the grace to admit that the Mayor knew more than he did about that matter. My, what an admission!

The British tariff advocates who have heretofore presented their policy as a means of "preserving the Empire" that is, paying, with a preference to the colonies to remain loyal—some now beginning to see the insidious character of the proposition. The Morning Post frankly abandons the theory that protection in Great Britain is intended to be pleasing to Canada and the other British countries. Frankness would lead to the fair trade admission that it is designed to add to the burdens of the masses that the classes might escape taxation.

Mrs. Juttan, the Hydro cause should have received no benefit at all from its medical treatment.

Having failed to induce Dr. Hopkins to stay in as spite candidate for the Hydro clique that had looked forward to a jolly time "pulling his leg," the organ is now ready to turn and rend him. What a pretty exhibition of malice it gives! Perhaps in view of the organ's unmasking thus far the doctor may be very glad that he did not give himself (and his purse) into the hands of the gang.

Now that the British Columbia elections are over, the Dominion Government will proceed to select from among the defeated candidates of the Reform party some judges and a Lieutenant Governor for the Province. Its trouble now will be that there are too many defeated candidates. The men who are not pleased will be sure to have a grudge—Hamilton Spectator.

And among the appointments there was not a single defeated candidate—Vancouver Sunset.

It would seem that something in the way of amend would be due from our local Tory contemporary, which, of course, is not to be regarded as seeking to malign the Liberal Dominion Government. But will it be forthcoming?

Chancellor Boyd has dismissed the action brought by a Chatham restaurateur to quash a Chatham by-law which requires every victualling house, etc., and all other places of like entertainment, to be closed every Sunday from 2 p. m. till 5 p. m. and also from 7 p. m. Sunday till 5 a. m. the following Monday. The judgment is one which may have far-reaching effects, and which, in local option localities, would deprive the public of any facilities for obtaining meals except at the particular times permitted in the by-law. It approves of an enormous stretch of municipal powers and in that respect is vicious to the last degree. It will probably be further heard of in the courts.

The trouble with a pull is that it doesn't always pull the right way.

Our Exchanges

PRINTER'S ERROR. (Toronto Star). The printer erred sometimes almost beyond forgiveness, but it remained for the Stratford Herald to speak of a local clergyman as "a monster of God."

ADMIRATION REVIVED. "Do you like my new hat?" asked Mrs. Brock. "Yes, indeed," replied Mrs. Lynn. "I had one—just like it when they were in style."

ALL A MISTAKE. (Niagara Falls, N. Y., Journal). Since he did not reach the pole, they say, Nor climb McKinley, steep and tall, They may prove, at some distant day, There was no Dr. Cook at all.

ALL READY FOR PUSS. (Exchange). Mr. Youngbird (on the train)—Did you leave anything for the cat, dearest? Mrs. Youngbird (on the train)—How can you ask? You know I wouldn't forget him. I left a whole tin of salmon, with a can-opener right beside it.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE. (Rochester Herald). It has been discovered that Mrs. Harriman is worth $221,000,000 instead of $149,000,000, with which she was credited. Quite a discrepancy in somebody's bookkeeping.

WILL RUN THE CITY. (Kingston Whig). Montreal and Hamilton will next year experiment with city controllers. The Council will supervise their work, but cannot refer it back except by a two-thirds majority. Three or four good men will, therefore, practically run the city.

THE DAY OF SWEAR-OFF. (Detroit Free Press). The Day of Judgment comes once, if we may trust the premises from which the theologians argue their conclusions. The Day of Swear-Off is annually recurrent. Soon we shall again be face to face with it. How are we going to meet it?

WRONG ADVERTISING. (Montreal Gazette). In Berlin an advertiser has been punished by the courts for trying to draw attention to his wares by sending forth announcements on black-bordered paper with the appearance of being notifications of death. There are those who are slow to learn that the best advertisement of honest goods is that which on its face pretends to be just what it is.

A MODEST DOCTOR. (Pittsburg Gazette). While on his vacation, a city doctor attended the Sunday morning services at a little country church. When the congregation was dismissed several of the members shook hands with him, and one wishing to learn if he was a Methodist, inquired, "Are you a professor, brother?"

"Oh, no, indeed," answered the physician, modestly; "just an ordinary doctor."

HIS VOICE. (Exchange). It was at a summer hotel, and the baby, being warm and fretful, cried, "Tut! Tut! We can't disturb our neighbors this way," the fond father said, taking the child in his arms. "Let me sing to him, if he won't go to sleep," he sang, and straightway "come to know at the door and these words: 'There's a sick baby next door, and it's all the same to you, you'd you must let the baby cry instead of singing to it!'"

CAESAR'S TIME. (Pittsburg Times). When the weeping rebel of Caesar was packing up to move out of the palace she came upon the toga worn by the deceased statesman on the day of the assassination.

"I don't know whether to darn this thing or to throw it away," she said. "I'd keep it as a curiosity, California," said her mother. "Some collector might pay you a good round sum for that garment."

"How absurd!" retorted California. "What kind of a collector would want a thing like that?"

"Oh, you never tell me," said the old lady. "Some rent collector may come along some time, and it is just full of 'em."

BENNETT'S THEATRE. "A Woman of Few Words" a very funny sketch, is the largest individual laugh on a merry bill at Bennett's this week. Immense audiences filled every seat at both performances yesterday, and judging by the applause the show proved pleasing to the majority of those present. Rae and Brosie get off some lively dialogue and the sketch is full of amusing complications. The headline on the programme is Adelaide, America's foremost dancer, with Johnny Hughes and the girls in "The Poster's Dream." Adelaide is one of the most graceful dancers ever seen here, and the supporting company of six clever people make one of the most entertaining numbers offered this season. Radford and Winchester, in a comedy juggling and pantomime act, provide twenty minutes of fast fun. They perform some remarkable juggling feats and some of their stunts are extraordinarily funny. Another good comedy act is White and Simmons in "On the Ban Wagon." They are a clever pair of comedians, and have some new jokes. Lillian Terry sings several Irish songs with a delightful brogue. Clark and Bergman and Perry, the frog-man, complete a very good bill.

BETHEL MISSION. A pleasant and profitable evening was spent at the Bethel Mission on Christmas night, the Vice-President, Mr. Fellers, being in the chair.

A good programme was given by the workers of the mission, assisted by the Ferguson Avenue Baptist Quartette, and friends; closing with a good, hearty vote of thanks to the friends who had so loyally subscribed for a good substantial dinner, for upwards of forty men.

Salesman—Shirt sir. Will you have a negligee or a stiff bosom? Customer—Negligee, I guess. The doctor said I must avoid starched things.—Boston Transcript.

CELEBRATED THE JUBILEE.

Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKenzie.

It was indeed a brilliant scene that the home of Andrew McKenzie, 129 Fairleigh avenue, presented last evening, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Kenneth and Mrs. McKenzie, 81 Catherine street north, Kenneth McKenzie, born in Glasgow, and Margaret McCulloch, born in Rossshire, were married in County, Scotland, on December 27th, 1859, by Rev. M. McEwen, and in 1861 came to this country with their children, four sons and three daughters, three of whom have died since their arrival here. The remaining ones are Andrew, of this city; Donald, of Detroit; and Miss Beth, at home, immediately on their arrival here they became members of MacNab street Presbyterian church, in which they have been ardent workers ever since. Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie received their many friends and relatives, and in the evening a family reunion was held. There were over one hundred guests present from Toronto, Niagara Falls and many other parts of the province. An appropriate program was rendered, and a fine dinner was served by Mrs. (Alice) Hugh MacPherson, of Toronto, and Mrs. Donald A. McKenzie, of Detroit, during the afternoon, and by Mrs. Alex. Murray, of Costa Rica, and Mrs. R. Small during the evening. Among the guests present were Rev. Dr. Fletcher, Rev. H. A. Macpherson, Toronto, Rev. R. B. Patton, and Rev. M. Patton, Waukegan, Ill. The extensive wedding party and Mrs. McKenzie are held as shown by the large number of congratulations and presents that were received from their many friends, not only in Canada, but the United States. Both Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie are enjoying an unusual degree of good health for their years. Mr. McKenzie being 72 years of age, and his wife 74 years. It is the hope of their many friends that they may be spared for many years to enjoy the golden sunset of life together.

Society

The annual dance given by the Girls' Tennis Club of Winona, was held last night in the Winona Institute Hall. There were nearly three hundred present, and all had a most enjoyable time, the girls of Winona and the patresses made every one thoroughly welcome, and the novelty of more men than of the fair sex, was quite a pleasant change. The dancing hall was hung with ropes of evergreen and red streamers, while the table from which the dainty buffet supper was served, looked charming with crimson roses, ferns and brass candle-lanterns. Among those present from out of town were Mrs. Newberry, Miss Coleman, Miss Hattie Hagey, Miss Nora Kelland, Miss Frances Baby, Miss Amy Land, Miss Madeline Darling, Mrs. Fred Gayer, Miss Lee, of St. Thomas, Miss Rosalind DeLong, Mrs. W. F. Robinson, Miss Jeannette Land, Miss Rita Fairgrove, Miss Virginia Moncrieff, Miss Elsie Ogilvie, Edna Pulver, Miss Gertrude Morwick, Miss Marie Dalley, Miss Katherine Sutherland, Mrs. W. E. Man Said to be Married Shoots Young Girl When Repulsed.

Toluca, O., Dec. 27. Carol Hunt, aged eighteen, was instantly killed tonight, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hunt, were wept by Joseph MacEly, aged 33, who is charged with having shot them as they sought for refuge in the shooting occurred at the Hunt home in Howard street. According to the police, MacEly, a gambler, who is said to have a wife and child in Mansfield, O., attempted to pay attention to the girl, and was engaged when repulsed. He entered the Hunt home tonight, declaring his intention of killing the family, drew a revolver and began shooting. The girl was shot in the head and

BARTON AND GLANFORD.

Rev. Matthew Wilson Honored by His Parishioners.

On Christmas eve at the Glanford Township Hall the rector of St. Paul's, Glanford, was in the chair at the annual Christmas gathering, and at the close of the entertainment, while Santa Claus was distributing gifts from the Christmas tree, a valuable bearskin carriage rug was handed up to the gentleman in scarlet, who comforts so many hearts at this most festive of all seasons, and he in turn, handed it to the rev. gentleman in the chair. Mr. Wilson, quite unconscious of any such luck in store for him, was naturally taken by surprise and very warmly thanked his Glanford flock for their evident thoughtfulness. It was something so very good and substantial—it would easily last him for the rest of his life, and his gratitude would be fresh every time he used it.

At Holy Trinity, Barton, Rev. Matthew Wilson, the rector, has received rich white altar frontal and pulpit hanging, from the Woman's Auxiliary at Ancaster, per Miss Jermyn, of Ancaster, and Miss M. Bull, of Hamilton. They were used on Christmas Day for the first time at Holy Trinity, Barton.

GIRL'S CRIME.

Stole $97,000 to be Sure of Getting a Husband.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 27.—An unusual story was outlined today at the opening of the trial of eight Italians, accused of conspiring with crippled seventeen-year-old Angelina Schiavone to rob her father, a widely known Italian banker. Assistant State's Attorney Fleming told the jury that Francesco Schiavone, uncle of Angelina, three years ago, told the girl to get all the money she could from her father's bank, bring it to him and he would save it for her, and when she had a sum amount she could marry his son, Michael. The girl was employed in her father's bank, and it is alleged that her thefts aggregated $97,000 before she was detected. She testified that, being crippled, she feared that she would be unable to marry and so had tried to win Michael Schiavone for a husband with her father's money. All of the different sums which she abstracted from time to time she said she entered in a little memorandum book after she had given them to her mother.

New Publications.

The salient article of the January Century is easily Mr. Walter Camp's chatty discussion of "Personality in Football" in which he asks and answers the pertinent question, "Are our boys trained to set up a false standard of hero-worship?" Entirely different in theme, yet also an important question of current interest, is the "Study of the New Plan of Chicago," with remarks on city-planning in general, by Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard University, which is given added vividness by reproductions of drawings by Julius Guerin, maps, diagrams and plans.—John Kimberly Mumford's authoritative article on "The Passing of the Antique Rug" is notable for its illustrations. For music lovers there is Daniel Gregory Mason's record of "A Conversation on Music with Frank Kniesel." There are two notable names of writers of fiction in the January Century—May Sinclair and Edith Wharton. Miss Sinclair's "The Creators; a Comedy," a novel of London life, will run through the magazine year. Mrs. Wharton's psychic story, "Afterward," which is made the leading feature of the number, is altogether different from anything she has done hitherto.

The January Strand is full of interesting and unique articles attractively interspersed with short stories and serials by popular writers. An article that should interest both sexes is by the Hon. Mrs. Fitzroy Stewart, entitled "Plain Men." The author declares that plain men have an extraordinary fascination for beautiful women which will be of comfort to those of us who are not rest in an Adams' world. Mr. A. E. W. Mason continues his exciting "The Murder at the Villa Rose," and a number of famous black and white artists each contributes what he considers his funniest Christmas picture. The color section is devoted to portraits of beautiful women made by eminent photographers. Lewis Walker, who, with Richard Mansfield, brought "Monsieur Beaucaire" to success, writes his "Reminiscences."
