and the odor of flowers is always oppressive to me. Is there not a room or a balcony where we could get out of this for a moment?

He had passed his hands across his eyes to shut out the vision, but before his trembling hand had been removed from them, the elder Quin tard, with Miss Beaufort upon his arm, was beside them.

'I must introduce the season' favourites to each other,' he said, with the familiarity of friendship for both. 'I have not asked permission, but I know that I would be accorded. Miss Beaufort, allow me to present my new, but for all that valued, friend, Mr. Chapman!'

The clear eyes were lifted to the glowing face, and a smile curved the lovely mouth as she responded with

She was cool as melting icicle, dainty and debonair.

It is a pleasure to meet vou, Mr. Chapman,' she said pleasantly, ' particularly after having read your really delightful book. I suppose all that has grown very monotonous, and one ought to have the charity to spare you, but one does not often meet the author of a book like 'The Exile,' and therefore should be indulged.'

The white face had crimsoned beneath her words, but as she ceased the power of speech seemed to have

He stammered some half-unintelligible words about being pleased that she had enjoyed it, something that a schoolboy might have been ashamed to have acknowledged, and, excusing himself on the plea of in ability to endure the heat, almos staggered to the deserted reception

'Has she recognized me, and does she intend to punish me in this way?' he asked himself, unconsciously wondering if the ghastly reflection in the mirror was his own. 'Or has she forgotten? Oh, God, why did I ever come back? I might have known that the temptation would only bring me into an eternal perdition of suffering. My God, what man has ever suffered for a fault as I have done! My wife! That I should have met her like this after all my anguish. Is it that she does not know me? There is scarcely a trace of resemblance'gazing hungrily into the mirror. 'Has she forgotten? Has she learn ed to love anoth---- Heavenly Father, I should wish her happiness, but

He remained alone half an hour longer, then with a smile of determination he reentered the ballroom.

Mr. James Clark, Maidstone, Sask, writes: "I suffered for four years with unbounatism in my shoulders and could not lift my arms above the head. I tried nearly all the advertised remedies but none of them gave me relief. It cost me at least $100.00 for medicines before I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

J'With the use of this medicine, I followed up this treatment for six months and was then quite free from rheumatism. While using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ackacke Plaster when so stiff that I could searcely bend. They always found the meak spot and gave relief while the internal treatment was bringing about thorough cure."

The success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been phenomenal. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes will be sent from the control of the control o
