Wedded in Montreal.

Mr. W. W. Horwood, son of Mr. William Horwood of the Horwood Lumber Company, was married last Wednesday in St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church, Montreal, to Miss Maud G. Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry, of Montreal. The Rev. Dr. Gibson officiated. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Georgina Henry, and was given away by her father, Mr. J. W. Smith was best man, and a brother of the bride, Mr. J. A. Henry, was one of the ushers. The bride was attired in a robe of white satin with pearl trimmings, and wore a veil with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold bracelet, and to the bridesmaid a gold ring with equal setting. The honeymoon will be spent in New York, after which the married couple will reside in Montreal. To them we extend best wishes.

Another Act of Bravery.

On Friday night last John Squires gallantly rescued Timothy Snow, who was on the point of being drowned. At 10.30 while the S. S. Rappahannock was loading fish at Pitts' wharf, Snow a labourer, who was working near No. 2 hatch was accidentally knocked overboard between the ship and the pier. It was so dark at the time that nobody could see where the man had disappeared. At last his screams were heard for help. Being unable to swim he was sinking gradually. His cries attracted Assistant Stevedore E. Holwell and J. Squires. To save the drowning man was not an easy matter as there was scarcely room for a man to get between the pier and the ship. Squires however, without hesitation, dropped overboard and succeeded in rescuing Snow with the aid of a rope lower by Holwell. In view of the attending danger where the affair happened the act of Squires is all the more brave and we understand that the Longshoremen's Union are taking steps to reward his heroic action.

Was Forced to Suspend.

Budapest, Hungary, June 6.—The proceedings of the Diet to-day looked so much like developing into a free fight that the President, Count Tisza, suspended the sitting within a few minutes after the opening.

The Count's appearance on the rostrum was the signal for an outburst of curses and personal opprobrium, and a chorus of toy instruments drowned all attempts to speak. The passionate verbal altercations of opposing elements raised the temper of the members to dangerous heat and all indications pointed to the probability of the factions coming to grips. Accordingly Tisza declared the sitting suspended. All the approaches to the Parliament were held by detachments of Gendarmes and Police.

During the recess the members of the ministerial party left the House and the police entered, and after a scuffle expelled thirty members who had been named by the President for systematic disturbance. When the sitting was resumed the Opposition stirred another melee and then withdrew in a body.

At the Yarmouth Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp, held at Tusket Falls in August, I found MINARD'S LINIMENT most beneficial for sun burn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

Touring the Provinces.

A large number of strangers were in town last week, remaining in Windsor on their way through the valley. On Wednesday a party of five ladies—Mrs. H. B. MacDonald, Mrs. Holland Lounsbury, Chatham, N.B., Mrs. John Russell, Mrs. John Robinson, Newcastle, N.B., and Mrs. Fred. V. Chesman, St. John's, Nfld., arrived from Wolfville, where they attended the closing exercises of Acadia Seminary, of which institution Mrs. MacDonald is a graduate. They left Chatham May 22nd in Mrs. MacDonald's five-passenger Brockville "30" car, with Mrs. MacDonald at the wheel, and had a most delightful trip through the Province, going as far as Yarmouth. They left there on Thursday morning for Halifax, to remain until the following day, when they would leave for home. At Truro Mrs. Chesman expected to leave this happy party and go to Sydney en route to her home in St. John's.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Trappell and daughter, Jean, returned to Windsor on Friday, via Truro, from a very pleasant trip to Sackville, Montreal, Toronto and Niagara Falls. On their way they left Don at Jonquiere, Quebec, where he will do surveying work until the College re-opens. These always welcome visitors left for Halifax on Monday evening, and the following day sailed on the steamer Florizel for St. John's, Nfld., accompanied by Grant, who has been here while the others were on the tour. While here the party were guests at the home of Mrs. Blackwood, Mrs. Trappell's sister. — Hant's Journal, June 5.

A Much-Needed School.

One of the things our Hospital will do will be to start a school for drivers. Few things irritate more a good driver than to see the stupid, ignorant, utterly irrational methods pursued by many boys, and even men, who have been entrusted with horses, and who know no more about driving than they do about steering a boat. The yanking, the sawing of the mouth, the jerking of the head, the constant nagging of the horse by reins and whip, the urging the horse forward and then pulling him back at the same time—these and other evidences of total lack of knowledge of how to guide and control a horse through the sensitive organ of his mouth, or by the voice, force upon us the desire to see such a school for drivers established as we can make possible when our new Hospital is built. This is a dream which we expect to see realized. A certificate from such a school would be worth something to a young man looking for a driver's position.—F. H. R. in Dumb Animals.

CONCERNING BREAD

And of Special Interest to the Millions Who Eat It.

The housewife together with every lover of good, pure bread, will welcome the announcement that it is possible to obtain Flour from which can be made Bread possessing all the wholesome nutritive and digestive properties contained in the Best and Purest Spring Wheat. Bread made from "ARUNDELL" flour in addition to these merits has that distinctly sweet and wheaty taste obtainable only from the best spring wheat. "ARUNDELL" goes largely into competition in London and throughout the U. K. with these flours milled by special process and which have become so deservedly popular by reason of their retaining all the best properties of the pure spring wheat none of the merits of which are sacrificed to obtain the maximum of whiteness.

Try a barrel of "ARUNDELL" and be convinced of all that is claimed for it; also that by reason of its strength and absorbent qualities it is the most economical flour for family use.—may 27, 61, eod.

Taffeta parasols of plain color carry floral and Persian borders, which for the most part are wide ribbon. The border is no longer on the edge, but has moved higher up on the parasol, directly in the center or several inches above the hem and a narrow border frequently appears several inches below the top.

Marching On.

My sisters want to vote to-day but they are in despair! The lady barber didn't come in time to fix their hair—they want to help the uplift, but they don't know what to wear—the girls are marching on! Some vital issues are at stake and every girl should vote; but should she venture to the polls in common walking coat? Perhaps 'twere better far to wear the new style redingote—the girls are marching on! The ballot is a sacred thing, and when that boon is hers, the bones of ancient prejudice will shade their sepulchres; but should she take her parasol or wear her winter furs? The girls are marching on! "The right to vote," my sisters say, "is quite so sweet, we wist; it is a wholesome pastime that we long have sorely missed; for we have soured on crochets and we are tired of whist!" The girls are marching on! I ask my sisters how they'd vote if they should vote to-day; they give the problem weighty thought, and this is what they say: "We'd note how Mrs. Jimpson votes, then vote the other way." The girls are marching on!

Begone Unbelief.

The following was the late W. T. Stead's favorite hymn and was sung at his memorial service in London, together with "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past."

Begone, unbelief,
And for my belief
My Saviour is near,
Will surely appear;
By prayer let me wrestle,
And he will perform;
With Christ in the vessel
I smile at the storm.

Though dark be my way
Since He is my guide,
'Tis mine to obey.
'Tis His to provide;
Though cisterns be broken,
And creatures all fail,
The word He hath spoken
Shall surely prevail.

His love in times past
Forbids me to think
He'll leave me at last
In trouble to sink;
Each sweet Ebenezer
I have in review
Confirms His good pleasure
To help me guide through.

Why should I complain
Of want or distress,
Temptation or pain?
He told me no less:
The heirs of salvation—
I know from His Word
Through much tribulation
Must follow their Lord.

How bitter the cup,
Of want or distress,
Which He drank quite up.
That sinners might live!
His way was much rougher
And darker than mine;
Did Jesus thus suffer,
And shall I repine?

Since all that I meet
Shall work for my good,
The bitter is sweet,
The medicine, food;
Though painful at present,
'Twill cease before long.
And then, oh, how pleasant
The conqueror's song!

Nasty!

Sir George Reid, the Australian Commissioner in London, has been on a visit to Germany, and some people are saying that there is some deep political motive behind his journey. One never knows, of course, what the politicians may be up to these days, but Sir George's mission must be very deep indeed, because so far nobody has been able to guess farther below the surface than that he has simply gone on a holiday with his wife.

One of the stories told of Sir George is in connection with a parliamentary election in Australia. He was addressing a meeting of electors, and one of them, a pasty-faced man, repeatedly accused the speaker of being "two-faced."

Sir George turned on him at last, and said, "Well, it's pretty clear," he said, "that you are not two-faced."

The man, rather staggered, blurted out: "Why?"

"Because if you were two-faced," retorted Sir George, "you'd have left that one at home and brought the other!"

NEW YORK, June 9.
A London cable says: Sidney Lee's biography of King Edward VII. has evoked criticism on the ground that so critical an estimate of his late Majesty's career should not have been published so soon after his death. The Telegraph is particularly severe in its denunciation of what it describes as an act of gaucherie and tactlessness. Lee replies in a letter explaining that the Dictionary of National Biography, in which the memoir appears, is a work of historical reference, which exists to furnish the historical student with critically treated facts in as concise a form as is consistent with completeness. The Telegraph says: "My source of information are chiefly conversational. I have discussed the material for the biography with most of the leading men of the present day, and have had access to many published papers such, for instance, as the diary of the late Sir Charles Dilke." If these are the foundations, says the Telegraph upon which he has built up his biography of King Edward VII, no further comment is needed to justify our condemnation of a work, which shows such deplorable want of judgement and tact."

Obituary

MR. JOHN CARNELL.

It is with profound regret that we record to-day the passing of Mr. Jno. Carnell, whose sudden death occurred at his home on Quidi Vidi Road at an early hour this morning. He was apparently well until last evening, although a constant sufferer for several months past from asthma.
