THE DEADLY TYPHOID FEVER

Over 19,000 Cases Among British Troops in South Africa Since the War Began.

Of These 4,233 Proved Fatal—Scant News From the Scene of Operations—British Capture 1,000 Horses—Boers Occupy Vosburg—Anniversary of Paardeburg Fittingly Observed in Windsor, Ont.

19,000 VICTIMS OF TYPHOID.

London, Feb. 18.—Questions in the House of Commons today regarding the war in South Africa did little to ward really enlightening the situation. The secretary of state for war gave the ever-increasing number of cases of typhoid fever among the troops, thus partially accounting for the long casualty lists. In October there were 569 cases and 98 deaths; in November, 1,213 cases and 207 deaths; in December, 1,665 cases and 286 deaths. The total since the beginning of the war, to Dec. 31, is 19,101 cases and 4,233 deaths.

BOERS OCCUPY VOSBURG.

A dispatch from Britstown, dated yesterday, says: "It is reported that the Boers have occupied Vosburg, communication with that place having been interrupted. It is asserted that there are 1,000 Boers at Strydenburg and others at Houtwater, 21 miles from Britstown."

ROUGH EXPERIENCE.

A Boer named Rademan, who has arrived at Newcastle, says that he was driven out of the Transvaal having been in jail since October, 1899. He escaped at one time, but was recaptured. One of his brothers, who refused to break his oath of neutrality, was shot, and the rest of the family were exiled. When the Boers put them over the border into Natal, Rademan and his aged mother were shot at. Two brothers have been missing since the confusion attending the forcible exile of the family.

ENEMY RETREATING.

Cape Town, Feb. 18.—Port Elizabeth and King Williams Town are among the latest places in the Cape Colony to have trenches placed around them as a means of defense against a possible attack by the Boers. Several Boer patrols have been seen retreating past Mount Kraal towards the Orange River.

BRITISH CAPTURE 1,000 HORSES.

Durban, Feb. 18.—A thousand horses and a number of carriages have been captured by the British near Standerton. Boer refugees are constantly arriving.

LEYDS' LOSS.

Dr. Leyds, the Transvaal diplomatic agent, has returned to Brussels from The Hague. His baggage was placed for a moment in the vestibule of his residence, and shortly afterwards it was ascertained that thieves had entered the house by false keys, and stolen a valise containing diplomatic papers. The police are investigating the matter.

ANNIVERSARY OF PAARDEBURG.

Windsor, Feb. 18.—Yesterday was the anniversary of the battle of Paardeburg, and it was made a happy day in Windsor for Private Paddon, who received six wounds in that engagement, and Sergeant Marentette, who was also wounded in the arm. Paddon received a $1,000 check from the Canadian patriotic fund, and Marentette a check for $750.

Paddon received the larger portion because he was most severely wounded, and carries Boer lead in his body yet.

"I shall never forget," said Marentette, "the night attack at Paardeburg, or the scenes which followed—the search for the wounded and dying; the capture of the Boer position and the surrender of Cronje. The pall of South African night hung over us as we left our position and moved stealthily forward in the direction of the enemy."

"On we went in the darkness until all at once the chasm beneath us was transformed into a veritable infernal region. Fire belched forth as from a volcano. There were the cracks of the Mauser and the whizz of bullets, as the latter sought their living targets. The Canadians were in the thickest part of the engagement. Poor Walter White rushed forward only to meet instant death with a bullet in his head."

"Finally the Boers realized the foolishness of further struggle and a white flag went up in front of the Canadian lines. The party holding the flag stepped over the earthworks and advanced towards our position. The detachment of Cronje's men to whom he said he wished to surrender with all his men. As the surrender was unconditional, the officer accepted it, and thus it was that the Canadians had the honor of receiving the first detachment of Cronje's men to surrender to the British forces on that memorable day."

BEHEADED.

Meaford, Feb. 18.—The body of Wm. McIntyre, familiarly called "Bill" McIntyre, a farm laborer, beheaded and dreadfully mangled, was found on a railway track south of here yesterday

FOUR FIREMEN KILLED!

Buried Beneath a Falling Wall While Fighting Fire at New Haven, Conn.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 18.—The search for bodies in the ruins of the old Judson packing house on Canal street, which was burned shortly after midnight, resulted in the definite knowledge that the four firemen whose mangled remains were pulled from under the debris while the fire was in progress, were the only victims. These firemen were: Capt. Joseph Condon, Fireman William Kelly, Fireman Fred Hale, Fireman Frank Williams.

The accident occurred shortly after the fire companies reached the burning building. A wall of brick three stories high, against which several hose streams were being directed, fell without warning, crushing the men beneath it. All the firemen on that side of the structure immediately relinquished their efforts to extinguish the flames, and turned their attention to removing the bodies of their comrades. In a short time four crushed and blackened corpses were unearthed, and two injured firemen were removed to a hospital. Both will recover.

The property loss will amount to $50,000.

SHOT HER FATHER TO SAVE HER MOTHER

Startling Act of a Fifteen-Year-Old Girl at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 18.—Bessie Slater, aged 15 years, shot and fatally wounded her father last night, to save her mother from death at his hands. The little girl was taken to the police station, and after an inquiry was allowed to go.

Slater came home in the evening, threw his wife on a bed and proceeded to choke her. The little girl secured a revolver and fired a bullet into her father's back, inflicting a dangerous wound.
