ACTION OF THE CHINESE ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 30.-Another NOT DUE TO WAR OFFICE

PEKING, Sept. 30. - No explanation has yet been advanced here of the dynamiting yesterday of the railroad bridge at Tayo-Pau, six miles west of Chinese troops.

The foreign office said today that this action was not taken on orders of the war department, and suggested that German railroad employees might have caused the destruction. The foreign office has requested the British legation in Peking to mediate this question of railroads between the Chinese and the Japanese. The Peking Gazette has suggested that the Japanese seize no railroads in China and that the Chinese give assurance that the transfer of railroads to any outside nation be not permit ted while the war lasts.

Claims They Have Been Germans Restart Devastation Indications Are That German Right Wing Must Fall Back to Another Defensive Position-French Claim To Have Made Advance at Several Points.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

PARIS, Sept. 30 .- 11:17 p.m .- The following official communication was issued tonight:

"The general situation is satisfactory. There has been no change of any account on the front except to the south of the Woevre, where we have occupied Seicheprey and advanced as far as the slopes to Rupt de Mad."

[Canadian Press LONDON, Sept. 30 .- The nineteenth day of the battle of the Aisne finds the allied armies pushing with all the strength they can bring to bear in their great effort to outflank the German right wing and force it back from its line of communications through Belgium. There is evidence that this movement is beginning to tell and that unless something unforeseen happens this portion of the German army must fall back to another defensive line. The French official report issued this afternoon says that the action continues to develop to the northward; so that the French left must now be pushing towards Cambrai, as yesterday it was in the neighborhood of Albert. Even further north than this the French cavalry are operating, and last week a German force which was sent to Orchies, sixteen miles southeast of Lille, to punish Franc-tireuirs for an alleged attack on a German hospital at that place, met with superior forces and had to fall back.

Cannot Check French.

The Germans, too, admit that they have been unable to arrest the French advance against their right, and also that the allies have advanced on their right front. Indeed, there seems to be some agreement in the official reports of the belligerents on the events in this part of the battlefield.

The German reports refer to an advance of the allies, while the French communication says that a vigorous attack made by the Germans on Tracy-le-Mont, northeast of the forest of Aigue, was repulsed with heavy losses. Of course, these reports may refer to different incidents, but they nevertheless agree that the advantage is with the allies. In the centre, from Rheims to the Meuse, the armies appear still to be waiting for the outcome of the fighting on the wings, as there has been a lull in the battle there.

Allies Gain in Woevre. Between the Argonne and the Meuse and again in the Woevre there has been severe fighting, and the French claim to have made slight progress and to have advanced at several points, especially to the east of St. Mihiel.

Although the French staff is very sparing with its information, it is evident that the forces which advanced from Toul to oppose the Germans, which crossed the Meuse near St. Mihiel, have been successful in getting behind the small contingent of invaders, who had success fully carried out an attempt to bend the French line at this point. Other offensive movements by the French between Verdun and Toul were, however, according to the German report, repulsed.

In Lorraine and in the Vosges there has been no change in the situation and here, too, the armies seem to be awaiting the result of the greater contest going on further west, where British military experts believe the allies have at last firmly set the claws of their left in the German right wing under Gen. Von Kluck.

BOTH WINGS OF GERMANS APPEAR TO BE RECEDING

ON THE BATTLE FRONT (via Paris). Sept. 30-6:20 p.m.-This was the nineteenth day of continued hard fighting along the 150 mile front from the Somme to the Moselle and yet there is no definite indication that the historic battle is nearing a finish.

There are, however, evidence that the Germans are receding before a forcible and sustained pushing from the allied armies, especially on their western and eastern wings, while in the centre, where the Germans are more strongly entrenched than at any other point with heavy artillery, remains almost stationary. It is generally concluded by French military men that some important move must soon be made by the Germans, who have found it impossible to stem the advance of the Allies, though they opposed the sternest and most desperate resistance sacrificing thousands of men daily. The German wings appear as though following back on the centre, leaving the sole loophole for a backward movement, by way by heavy masses of troops, as it is absolutely essential that this place shall be held for the revictualling of the German armies in northeastern France, appears to be placed in a somewhat precarious situation with its single line of railroad.

The line of battle has changed considerably since the beginning of actual contact of the two vast armies. The allied commanders are husbanding their men's lives to the greatest possible extent by keeping them from frontal attacks on positions where the Germans are in advantageous situations, but whenever the plan of campaign attacks the French and British soldiers go forward cheerfully with the utmost con-

LONDON, Sept. 30. - The Standard's | Sir Edward Goschen's cook, The Loka "An incontestable proof that England wanted war all the time and was secretly preparing for it long before the crisis occurred, may be cited the fact that the English ambassador dismissed his female German cook on July 30five days before the war was declared.
