At One Time Chairman of Local Bd. of Education-Held Leading Positions.

Rev. W. B. Manville, a leading Methodist minister of the Little Rock (Arkansas) Conference, and a former member and chairman of the London Board of Education, died at South Hot Springs last Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Manville was at one time a well-known auctioneer of this city. He left here 35 years ago, shortly afterwards entering the Methodist ministry, and going to his first pastorate at Alexander, Ark. Greatly interested in horticulture, he was the originator of the "Manville tomato." In the beginnings of the Arkansas State Fair he was one of its most enthusiastic advocates. He was superintendent of the agricultural department at the first fair, which was held in 1887. # Every Hour of Wednesday's Short Shopping Day Abounds With Saving Opportunities

This store will close at one tomorrow for the Wednesday afternoon vacation. The hours from 8:30 to 1 o'clock will be crowded with interest and apportunity for shoppers.

This page tells of some rapid price-disposals, timed for early morning in the different sections of the store, and "vacationists" will find large, varied stocks, and prompt, courteous and efficient service on all their requirements.

Each week brings greater opportunities and it is most encouraging to note that through the Wednesday morning special sales, the half-holiday is enjoyed by over 300 employees of this store, with little or no loss of business. As the season advances, the sale assortments become more numerous, but quantities are shorter, which suggests "Shop Early."

NO PHONE ORDERS

In some cases Wednesday morning sale lots are in limited quantities, and will sell out quickly. We will, therefore, be unable to fill phone orders, as a protection to customers who come out for these special sales. All will be sold over the counter, and all assortments full at the opening hour.
