LIBERALS AND LABOR CONTEST IN IRISH HOUSE

Both Claim Right To Be Recognized as Official Opposition in New House.

GREAT RUSH FOR SEATS

Lady Astor and Lloyd George Present and Secured Two Coveted Positions.

London, Nov. 20 .- A parliament in which Ireland, with the exception of part of Ulster, is not represented and in which the Labor party appears as the chief contender for recognition as the opposition, opened at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon. The proceedings started with the usual formalities.

Following tradition, members found the speaker's chair vacant. For a moment the clerk assumed charge of the proceedings, but instead of speak he merely pointed a finger at T. O'Connor, "father of the house," who promptly proposed John Henry Whitley for re-election. When this choice had been confirmed the house to receive the king's formal assent to its choice of speak-The Parliament that opened this afternoon is the smallest since the union with Ireland in 1801. The session just concluded was the thirty-first Parliament of "the United King-dom of Great Britain and Ireland," but Ireland, with the exception of a part of Ulster, is no longer repre-sented in the imperial legislative body, whose membership is correspondingly reduced.

The question as to which party will be recognized as constituting the Yeggmen Enter Offices of official opposition remained the question of paramount interest as Parliament assembled. The Laborites have asserted an uncompromising claim to this position on the ground of their numerical strength, rumors are afloat that their claim will be disputed by the Liberals.

Urges Drastic Action.
The Daily Herald, Labor's official paper, which may be assumed to know the intentions of the leaders of that party, says today: "If the speaker should not immediately concede the Labor party's clear title to the oposition of official opposition by calling upon its leader to speak first in the initial debate, then the Labor party should immediately walk out of the house in a body."

The situation is complicated by the Gossip concerning such an amalgamation is being constantly floated in political circles but no definite step toward union of the Asquithian and Georgian circles but no definite step toward day previous. Papers and checks such a union is known to have been were not disturbed by the robbers.

The Laborites are credited with making the contention that theirs is the right to monopolize the front opposition of the House of Commons to the exclusion of the Asquithians and the Georgians. Washington, D. C., Nov. 20 .- The resignation of Senator T. H. Newberry, Michigan, was to be read to the senate today, shortly after that body convened at noon. Newberry's resignation was sent to Governor Grosbeck of Michigan, Saturday night, and filed with Vice-President Coolidge, Sunday, by Newberry's secretary.

Newberry requested that Coolidge have it read into senatorial records s soon as possible.

While Newberry's action was not wholly unexpected, receipt of word that he had resigned stirred official the department that the department of the department of a massacre of his fellow-countrymen, which it is reported will take place in a few weeks. With finish written to one of the most celebrated and long drawn out senatorial controversies of its kind, interest centered in the sequel. Many expected Newberry would ask Michigan voters to elect him again at a special election, expected to be held soon, to fill the vacancy created by his resignation. But the tone of Newberry's letter of resignation seemed to indicate that he was glad to be out of the whole affair, and would not again seek senatorial honors. In this connec-tion, the question was being asked whether Henry Ford, whom Newberry defeated in the Republican primary and in the general election in 1918, would be a candidate for the vacancy.

The case grew out of the 1918 Michigan senatorial primary, in which Newberry was opposed by Ford for the Republican nomination. Newberry defeated him in the gen eral election. Newberry, and more than 100 others, was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury on charges of conspiracy to violate the corrupt practices, which limited expenditures to $3,750. Newberry and many of his lieutenants were convicted, but later the United States Supreme Court neld unconstitutional part of the law under which they were convicted, and they went free.
