A Little Girl's Neat Composition on New School House at Komoka.

Dear Teacher,—I am a little girl born and brought up in the village of Komoka, and now, at your request, I am going to write a composition on our school houses. The old house was a quaint, old-fashioned boilding in comparison with our new one. We moved from the old house into the new one on Friday, the 25th of October. It is in School Section No. 1, and I think the building is number one through and through. In the first place, it is built on the most beautiful site in the section. The house is a stone and brick building, the basement being stone, and very neatly finished, and the upper portion being E. J. PARKE, Q. C., T. H. PURDOM, T. E. PARKE, ALEX. PURDOM. A. G. CHISHOLM, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, &c., 78½ Dundas street, London, Canada. Telephone 731. JARED VINING, BARRISTER.—MONEY to loan.—414 Talbot street. STUARTS, MOSS & ROSS—BARRISTERS, solicitors, notaries, etc. Offices, London, Strathroy and Glencoe. Alex. Stuart, Duncan C. Ross, LL. B., W. D. Moss, Duncan Stuart. London offices, corner Dundas and Richmond.

The front arch faces the west, and sup-ports the belfry. The building is cover-ed with the latest design of an ornamental deck roof. I shall first endeavor to describe the upper inside portion. It is beyond my ability to describe it as it is for its beauty and grandeur, but I will make an effort to do so. It is laid out with the rooms facing north and south. There is rooms facing north and south. There is a hall running through the entire building from east to west. It is supplied with books for our wraps and cupboards for our lunch baskets. It has a maple floor. Each room is supplied with two beautiful panelled doors, and the entire building is wainscoted four feet high, and is beautifully oak-grained. We have two stationary and two removable blackboards. The windows of the entire building are provided with shades of a greenish hue. There is seating capacity for, I should think, one hundred and fifty pupils.

We will now take a step down to the basement. There is a dividing brick wall extending from east to west It is heated with a furnace called the Famous Magnet, made by McClary Manufacturing Company, London. It takes a portion of the basement for the use of storing wood, and the remainder our teacher permits us to have in our story weather which I and the remainder our teacher permits us to play in on stormy weather, which I consider very kind of him.

A will draw my composition on the building to a close, but not only have we a good school house, but we have two good teachers to occupy it, who evidently are deeply interested in our educational welfare, and take every pains possible to fare, and take every pains possible to push us ahead in our studies, and if we not learn I am sure it is our faults, and not theirs. ETHEL SCOYN, Komoka.
