The latest development in the fash-ionable forms of hospitality which the world of Victorian society delights to interchange amongst its friends and votaries is surely one of the most de-lightful and original of all the dainty devices ever evolved by the clever brains of afternoon tea givers. The idea in question is the "Tally Ho Tea." Such was the entertainment given yesing from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart. Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system bauses nervousness, palpitation of the system nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.
