RECIPROCITY DISCUSSED AT MONSTER MEETING

Hon. H. R. Emmerson of Westmorland, James Reid and Hon.
C. H. LaBillois Tell of Its Advantages.

The Campbellton Opera House was crowded to the doors, many having to stand, to hear Hon. H. R. Emmerson discuss Reciprocity and the policy of the Liberal govern- ment.

Long before the hour set for the meeting people began to assemble and although hundreds of seats had been provided, all were rapidly taken, until over a thousand were seated in the auditorium, among which were many ladies.

As the Ocean Limited was over an hour late Hon. Mr. Emmerson did not reach the platform until nearly 9.30. His appearance, with Mr. Jas. Reid, Hon. C. H. LaBillois and others was the signal for loud cheering and applause.

Mr. A. T. LeBlanc, Barrister, was chosen chairman, and in a few brief remarks introduced the speakers. He also apologized for the non appearance of Hon. Chas. Marcell, who was unable to be present, as he is at present touring Nova Scotia with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but would at a later date address the electors.

JAMES REID, M. P.

In opening the meeting Mr. Reid thanked the electors for their attendance in such large numbers at the opening meeting of the campaign. He also thanked the electors for the confidence they had shown in him in again choosing him as their standard bearer. While he did not pose as an ideal representative nevertheless he had always endeavored to do his best in the interests of his country and of Campbellton. In the discharge of those duties the Conservatives of this constituency had no reason to complain as he had endeavored to look after their interests as well as those of his own party. The electors did not come to hear him and he would not try to discuss the question which took pre- cedence in this campaign, Hon. Mr. Emmerson would do this. He wished to thank Mr. Emmerson for his appearance here. No man had done more for Campbellton; No man had done more for the intercolonial than Mr. Emmerson.

The first act of Mr. Emmerson when he became Member of Rail- ways and Canals was to come to Campbellton, and together with the speaker and Hon. Chas. Marcell, had proceeded to Metapedia where he approved of the plan to use the old I. C. R. bridge as a highway bridge between New Brunswick and Quebec, and this important work has been com- pleted. He complimented the citizens of Campbellton on the remarkable progress of their city, a city of which all should be proud. He hoped the day would come when the good people would look back upon the conflagration of last year as a blessing in dis- guise. He concluded his remarks by asking the audience to give the speaker of the evening, Hon. Mr. Emmerson, an attentive hear- ing—Applause.

HON. C. H. LABILLOIS

Hon. C. H. LaBillois was the next speaker introduced and was warmly greeted.

He thanked the citizens for their greeting and reminded them that in the twenty-five years he had been their local representative he had always been well treated as their hands. He complimented the citizens of Campbellton on the wonderful progress this town had made in the past year. It was merely the citizens of Campton who wished to see the town rebuilt, but the people of the surrounding country were just as anxious for its rebuilding as all recognized that its geographical position was such that the town was bound to prosper and increase until it would become a city of at least twenty-five thousand in- habitants. And in the rebuilding of the town you had the generous assistance of the Dominion govern- ment. Was it not fortunate that you had Mr. Jas. Reid as a re- presentative, a man who was friendly to and held the respect and confidence of the ministry; a man who, immediately after the fire, came to Campbellton and consulted with the citizens and then proceeded to Ottawa to lay their claims before the government. The town of Campbellton was in sore straits and her needs were many but everything that the citizens then asked for was granted, and as of this hour is due to Mr. Reid's indefatigable work and his persistent standing with the ministers of the different depart- ments. Mr. Reid has done as much for Campbellton as if he had been a resident of the town and citizens should not allow the little differ- ences which have entered the party to turn him down at this day. The present time is a very important one for Campbellton. There was before parliament when it dissolved an important measure, the Branch Line bill. When this bill becomes law the government would take over the International Railway, as well as other railways in N. B. But it is the I. N. R. we are most deeply interested in. This new road which opens up a new country will connect the Bay Chaleur country with that ninety million market we are now hear- ing so much about. He wished to ask the electors if this was the time to strike down the man who had done so much for the town and country and who could, when the next parliament meets do so much more for his constituents. He advised the citizens of Camp- bellton to stand by Mr. Reid, and return him with a larger majority than in the past—Applause.

The chairman then introduced Hon. H. R. Emmerson of Moncton. Mr. Emmerson in rising was greeted with prolonged cheering. He thanked the audience for their kind reception and the chairman for his flattering remarks in in- troducing him. He was here for two reasons, and two reasons only. First—Because of the high regard in which he held the esteemed re- presentative for Restigouche, Mr. Jas. Reid. He knew something of the sterling worth of that man, cause it had been his pleasure di- viding the past ten or eleven years to sit, work and speak with him. He also knew of the esteem in which Mr. Reid was held by both ministers and members of the Commons, not only the Liberals, but Con- servatives as well. He was noted for his careful and regular attention to his duties, a man who is always to be found in his seat while parliament is in session, or looking after the interests of his constituents in the various departments. A man who commands respect where- ever he goes. Such is your re- presentative, Mr. Jas. Reid. So- called—Because I wished to confer with you on two questions. The absorption of the Branch Lines and Reciprocity.

Mr. Emmerson spoke about an hour and held the close attention of the audience.

The meeting broke up with cheers for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, James Reid and H. R. Emmerson.

Absent—Metall
H. W. Ferguson

A Dream—Barlett
R. J. Lavoie

Love's Sorrow—Shelley
R. G. O'Brien

Far away in the South—Quartette
Lavoie, Mercereau, O'Brien and Ferguson

Garden of Roses—Schmidt
T. H. O'Brien

There was no long waits, the specialties being rendered between the acts and were of the usual high order, all being obliged to respond to encores.

In the rendering of the drama the young people showed much care and aptitude in the inter- pretation of their portions. Miss McLatchy and Mr. Mercereau looked after the heavy work with the ease and grace of professionals, while Miss Lingley, Miss Graham and Miss Moores and Misses O'Brien and Ferguson in the lighter roles took their lines promptly and with proper inter- pretation of their various parts.

As a whole the entertainment was a grand success and the sum realized will assist the Fire Brigade in their work. The special scenery used was prepared by Messrs. Blyth & Im- ray.

UP-TO-DATE CLOCK

FOR POST OFFICE

Tower Will be Erected With Four Clock Faces.

The Public Works department have forwarded the plans for the proposed clock tower for the new post office. This shows an artistic tower about twenty-five feet high which will contain a clock with four illuminated faces. These faces will face north, south, east and west, and the clock will be visible from all parts of the town and harbor.

At first it was proposed to in- stall a small single faced clock, but citizens and the Graphic brought the matter to our members atten- tion and he quickly took the mat- ter up with the above results.
