and their Opponents, There was little variation in the proceeding in the Park yesterday afternoon. There were and heterodox, jubilant Salvationists, and the representatives of balf a dozen "isms." One innovation there certainly was, and that to the redit of the Freethinkers. Citizen Duval and his confreres generously allowed the use of their table to their opponents, who received as fair a hearing as did the Secularists. It was, however, a repetition with variation the old, old story, the alleged defects and vaunted results of Christianity.

Citizen Firth served up a medley of Darwin ism, Swedenborgianism and Secularism. Yorkshireman though he is, he made a regular "bull"
and failed to see it, though his audience cheered and laughed. He was depicting how Darwin in his earlier days was caricatured but outlived obloquy. "Yea," said the Citizen, "he lived to see his tomb in Westminster Abbey."
In conclusion he eulogized Pantheism, but much more so Secularism, and his peroration was, "Hell fire is quenched and the Devil's
dead,"
Then a Christian veteran, of probably more

dead."

Then a Christian veteran, of probably more than three score and ten, whose tottering steps were steadied by a stout stick, felt the Spirit move him to reply. Prophet-like he looked with his silver hair and glittering eve as he vehemently declared, "Infidelity's all wrong and rubbish." This sentiment was both cheered and hooted, but undismayed the old man proceeded. He told briefly the story of the Creas and was irreverently hade to "shuff the Cross and was irreverently bade to "slut up." He had not been speaking five minutes when there were cries of "time." Before he concluded he reminded the Park atheists of "the awful day of reckoning." "'It is a dreadful thing," said he, "enough to turn my brain, to hear an old man, near the end of his life, and an Englishman too publicly speaking and an Englishman, too, publicly speaking against his Maker." Encouraged by this attack on the enemy's camp, another elderly gentleman sporting the "little bit of blue," one who is well known as "little bit of blue," one who is well known as wont to hold forth at the Gospel Temperane stand, took up his parable against Secularism. He was moderate in tone and even kindly spoken of the Freethinkers personally, especially "my friend Duval." Ruinous mischief was being done in the Park by atheistic teaching; the community was being contaminated and the moral forces weakened. If they could get rid of drink, Secularism and other mischie yous "sizms." what a good time they could get rid of drink, "what a good time they would have of it! [Laughter]. His object was to prevent the unwary being led astray. He made a capital point by asking, "Where was the hen that laid the egg from which Free-He made a capital point by asking, where we the hen that haid the egg from which Freethought said all things sprang?"

Citizen Duval gave one of his characteristic addresses. He denied revelation, the miracles, thought with a learned Chinese philosopher that Jesus borrowed "The Sermon on The Mount" from Confucius, and said even stronger things. He was several times interrupted and, being nettled, said to his most persistent interrupter, "You want Christ to come here and make you a gentleman." He was mere with cries of "Blasphemy." "Well," said Duval, "if I speak blasphemy why don't you prosecute me?" whereat his followers cheered. Waxing wroth, he added, "I know that some good people in Toronto would like to hang me to that tree and say 'served him right." Then he told the story, a la Father Chiniquy, of "God being eaten by a rat," referring to the consecrated Host being tastily nibbled by a rat, and the deduction was that a God who allowed sin to enter this world and then allow.

rat, and the deduction was that a God who allowed sin to enter this world and then allowed Himself to be crucified to put it away, was no more to be respected than a God who let Himself be eaten by a rat. This naturally raised a storm of dissent, but the doughty Duval held on his way and proceeded to show the alleged superiority of Secularism to Christianity.

but their services were not required.

It is quite among the possibilities that the ambitious General Boulanger will eventually place himself at the head of the French nation, in which event we may confidently look forward to some stormy scenes in Europe, It the ambition of the Canadian Harness Co. to manufacture the best harness made and to sell it for the least money. Their stores are 176 and 478 King-street east. Landlords in Scotland.

The Highlands and the Hebrides are the home of romance. There is a legend for alnost every step you take. But the cruellest of these are not so cruel as, and none have the pathos of, the tales of their own and their fathers wrongs and wretchedness which the people tell to-day. The old stories of the battlefield, and of clan meeting clan in deadly battlefield, and of clan meeting clan in deadly duel, have given way to stories of the clearing of the land that the laird or the stranger might have his shooting or fishing as well as his crops. At first people could not understand it. The evicted went to the laird, as they would have gone of old, and asked for a new home. And what was his answer? "I am not the father of your family." And then, when frightened women ran and hid themselves at his coming, he broke the kattles they left by the wall or women ran and hid themselves at his coming, he broke the kettles they left by the well, or toreintoshreds the clothes bleaching on the heather. And, as the people themselves have it, "in these and similar ways he succeeded too well in clearing the island of its once numerous inhabitants, scattering them over the face of the globe," There must have been gruelty indeed before the Western-Islander, who once loved his chief better than his own life, could tell such tales as these, even in his hunger and despair. I know it is pleasanter to read of bloodshed in the past than starvation in the present. A lately published book on Ireland has been welcomed by critics, and I suppose by readers. welcomed by critics, and I suppose by readers, because in it is no mention of evictions and crowbar brigades and horrors of which newspapers make good capital. I have never been to Isaland, and it may be you can travel there and forget the people. But in the Hebrides the human silence and the ruined homes and the almost unbroken moorland would let us, as foreigners, think of nothing else.—Mrs. Elizabeth Pennell, in Harper's Magazine for September.

Mrs. M. Stephens, of Albany, N. Y., write us as follows: "My stomach was so weak that I could not eat anything sour or very sweet, ever fruit at tea-time would cause Heartburn, fulrruit at tea-time would cause Heartburn, ful-ness or oppression of the chest, short breath, restlessness during sleep, and frightful dreams of disagreeable sights, so that I would often dread to go to sleep. With the use of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery this un-pleasantness has all been removed, and I now oan eat what suits my taste or fancy."

FOR OLD PEOPLE!

In old people the nervous system is weakened, and that must be strengthened. One of the most prominent medical writers of the day, in speaking of the prevalence of rheumatic troubles among the aged, says: "The various pains, rheamatic or other, which old people often complain of, and which materially disturb their comfort, result from disordered nerves." There it is in a nutshell—the medicine for old people must be a nerve tonic. Old people are beset with constipation, flatulency, drowsiness, diarrances, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia,

These diseases are of nervous origin. Paine's Celery Compound, that great nerve tonic, is almost a specific in these disorders, and by its regulating influence on the liver, bowels, and kidneys, removes the disorders peculiar to old age.
Old people find it stimulating to the Steamers sali from New York every weenesday.

The 2nd cabin in the Spain is the old saloon staterooms and berths being left as when saloon passengers were carried. As the Spain now carries no saloon passengers full deck and other privileges are allowed the 2nd cabin passengers. The Italy and the Queen have superior second cabin accommodation, the after part of the saloons being devoted to these passengers. Berths are therefore on the main deck, light and almost equal to first cabin.

Table and attendance on all the steamers equal to any other line. For saling list, cabin plan and full information, apply to
