CHILDLESS WOMEN

Please Read This Letter And See What Normal Health Will Do For You.

Berwick, Ont.—"I had organic trouble, and after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Medicine all my troubles passed away. I was made strong and well and have been ever since. Now we have a fine baby boy six months old, and I know that I would not have this baby and would still be suffering if it had not been for your remedies. My husband and myself say that your remedies are worth their weight in gold, and I recommend them to my friends. One of my aunts is taking them now."—Mrs. NAPOLEON LAVIGNE, Berwick, Ontario, Canada.

Among the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is its ability to correct sterility in many cases. This fact is well established as evidenced by the above letter and hundreds of others we have published in these columns.

In many other homes, once childless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

GOOD SUIT YEAR FOR THE SHOPS

Weather Has Been Satisfactory
—Not Too Warm and Not Too Cold.

PRICES LESS THAN YEAR AGO

Decline in Cost of Clothes Most Noticeable Feature of Season—Duvetyn Leads in Popularity, Fashion Writer Asserts.

Never has there been a better "suit year," as they have it in the vernacular of the shops. The weather has been just right—not too warm and not too cold. And just at this time, says a New York fashion correspondent, one sees the newest creations in the way of winter suits and all-the-year-round suits and fancy suits and plain suits. After a few weeks have passed the "general horizon" will again be dotted with varieties of top coats and fur wraps, etc., but right at this minute the popular trend is all in the direction of the suit. Then here is the psychological moment to study the suit, for the forward marching ones are setting the styles for many months to come and the little variances which they show are the ones that are destined to live. Thus does the wary woman plan her dressing, so that when she buys there will be no danger of her becoming the proud possessor of style that has seen its day.

Then again we have such encouraging news by way of bargain announcements that prices are much below those of last winter. A suit that retailed last winter for about $125 sells this year for between $65 and $75. And it is not the same suit, either, but one that has the same value as the one of last year—not the same style points, remember. There is no doubt that better times are ahead on this high price of clothes question—and the high price of suits is one of the first columns to be touched by the beautiful decline.

Duvetyn Family in the Lead.
A critical observation of all of the best-dressed women about town discloses the fact that of all materials duvetyn and the allied weaves that belong to that family are the ones which are displaying their popularity above all others. And in this woolly or heavily napped fabric there are shown all sorts of variety, from those weaves which are as thick and heavy as any blanket to those which are so soft and pliable that they can be gathered into no space at all, so to say. There are the woolen velours and the silk velours and the velours that are made of a clever combination of the two sorts of thread. The latter, they say, wears better than all the rest put together. It does not show that evil characteristic of matting into a matted spot at the place where the suit is subjected to rubbing. However, so fine rich silhouettes of your expression. All the way from the brightest and most glowing of shades to those that are very neutral in their effect is the range of color tones, and while most of the suits run to browns or to one of the numerous taupe shades, still there are some made from the gorgeous blue and green tones that make up so well with the gray furs and others in the reddish shades that are so effective when combined with the darker brown and black, both long and short haired furs.

Coats Are Noticeably Long.
The coats on the newest of all the suits that are being worn are quite noticeably long—so long, in fact, that but the merest bit of a skirt hangs out, for, with the present rage in New York for skirts that are short and with this added favor for longer coats there is left but a small portion of space that can be allotted to the skirt. There are reasons to be thankful for this, the latest whim of fashion, too. For, while the legs that protrude from the short line of the skirt must necessarily be cold, still upon the remaining portion of the body two layers of material are lavished—more than we have had to keep out the chilly blasts in many winters gone by. Some of the coats are fitted quite snugly, following the lines of the figure, and then again many of them are made full enough to make a tightish belt necessary to gather the fullness together about the waist.

There is one exception to the longer coat, and that is the little box coat, which has to be short in order to carry out its character. It reaches a high hip line this season, and is single-breasted—and it is more apt to be made up from the homespun materials, as it is a little more outdoors in style than are some of the other cuts. One particularly smart box coat had a rather narrow rolled collar of beaver with pockets of the same fur set on the extreme edge of the coat, so that they looked more like a wide binding for the coat than they did like conventional pockets.

Skirts Are Quite Short.
From all the skirts that could be noticed the conclusion was drawn that they are still "in our midst," and, all prophecies about French tendencies to the contrary notwithstanding, quite, quite short. Some of them might be called too short for beauty of proportion, but, be that as it may, the longer skirt as yet looks out of place in and around New York. The widths of the skirts are still moderate, and they are as straight as can be in line, with just enough room left to allow a step to be made in comfort and ease. There is no skirt that retards walking in any way.

The sleeves of the very nicest of the suits are fitted to the last degree of perfection. The armholes are as small as they possibly can be and still remain in the class of the "perfect fit." Our American suit shows not the least tendency to go large and kimono-like in the armhole. It keeps the well-made tailored look, and sometimes it is astonishing to see how far back an armhole can go and still keep its uninterrupted contour.

Trimings, of course, are the important features of any new winter offerings in the way of suits, for trimmings are necessary in order to keep up the warmth of the proposition, and whether they are in the form of trimmings that are permanently attached or whether they are the popular fur sets, still they become a part of that suit. The shorter furs are the ones that are receiving the most attention.

Furs That Are Liked.

Beaver and nutria and mole are the ones that are best liked for collars and cuffs on the brown and taupe shades of duvetyn, and their colors blend so very harmoniously with the shades of those favorite materials. The longer haired furs, as far as suits are concerned, have "sunk into the background just now. All of the suits have that slick look that is out of key with the longer and more irregular looking skins. Astrachan and Krimmer are very popular, and these furs are particularly lovely when they are combined with the rich dull-red shades. Baby lamb has sprung into favor for this sort of trimming, and this season it is the fancy of the best designers to dye this fur, not only black, which has been the accepted color in the past, but any of the gray and tan and brown shades to harmonize with the color of the material with which it is combined.

The fur sets that are designed to be worn with suits have very slight neckpieces and muffs. They are mere accents for the collars and cuffs and the smartest of them do not attempt to be of the cape variety, the matching muffs keeping the small, regularly rounded shape that is always the accepted thing for a muff at any time. Indeed, the high prices to which furs have as undid make this fashion for restraint in their use almost a grim necessity.

Internally and Externally it is good.—The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has curative qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs so little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

Solitude.

The truth is that solitude is not an affair of being physically alone. There is a solitude, immense and remote, that can be ours in the midst of noisy multitude, chattering roomful, a world in tumult, or an age of hate. It is secret withdrawal into the silent places of our own minds, profound and aloof, without ever violating the courtesies of daily intercourse; it is the companionship with the finest minds and spirits of the ages, obtained through great books and expressed in high conduct.

Such is the only solitude that never turns sour; such the only solitude on which nothing can intrude.—"Uncle Dudley," in Boston Globe.

Afternoon and Evening.

The New Century dictionary and encyclopedia defines afternoon as that part of day which extends from noon to evening; and evening as the time, from sunset until darkness; in common usage the latter part of the afternoon and the earlier part of the night before bedtime. However, under definition three it declares evening to be the time between noon and darkness, including afternoon and twilight, as in England and southern United States. It is, therefore, probable that the Southern custom of so designating this portion of the day has come to them from their English ancestors.

Internal parasites in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children sap their vitality and retard physical development. They keep the child in a constant state of unrest and, if not attended to, endanger life. The child can be spared much suffering and the mother much anxiety by using a reliable worm remedy such as Miller's Worm Powders, which are sure death to worms.

WINTER CLOTHES FOR TOTS

Velveteen and Broadcloth, Plainly Made, Promise to Be Among Popular Fabrics.

Velveteen is to play an important part in the development of next winter dresses for little girls. These are always made on very straight, simple lines. The majority of those seen so far are finished with plain satin or Roman striped ribbon sashes.

For children of six years or younger, very fine broadcloth appears to be the favorite coat fabric for the coming season. Some of the garments brought out have interlining, for greater warmth, but the weight of the coat required depends entirely on the climate. Pushes and imitation furs serve as very effective trimmings on many little coats. The mother who tackles the job of making her little daughter's winter wrap may make a muff and bonnet or hat to match.

A Man is just as Young and Strong as his Blood

No man can fight the battles of life and hold his own if his blood is not pure, for rich, red blood is what strength is based upon. When you see a strong, vigorous man, who never knows when he is licked, you may wager that such a man has coursing through his veins rich, red blood. Many people have thin, pale blood. They are weak, tire easily, become discouraged quickly, and sometimes feel like giving up the struggle. Such folks need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is sold by druggists in liquid or tablet form.

Send 10 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of the tablets.

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery at times for the past three years with wonderful results, and I take great pleasure in saying a word to boost the cause of 'Freedom from illness.' I am a pressman by occupation, which is quite fatiguing and injurious to the system, but since taking the 'Discovery' business has no drawback for me. Three cheers for Doctor Pierce's medicine!"—WILLIAM H. DEMPSEY, JR., 32 Bridge Street.
