Exposition Will Have a Big Feature List

This Year's Show Will Be Replete With Amusements—Good Fish Exhibit Planned.
The Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition this year will be more replete than ever in amusement features and it will be better in its industrial, agricultural and commercial phases. The Fair will open on Saturday, September 12, and run to the following Saturday. Manager Hall says that he will have some decided novelties in the mechanical department. For instance, the United Shoe Manufacturing Company of Canada will have fifteen shoe-making machines in continuous operation. They will make all kinds of shoes in full view of visitors, and all parts of them will be produced from the upper to the sole and exemplifying sewing, pegging and all other operations in various styles of footwear. These machines will be driven by a 15-horse power motor.
In the amusement features Manager Hall has arranged for eleven great specialties, including singing and comedy acts, besides a fireworks display that will be equal if not eclipse what has been done before. The midway will be on new and attractive lines—a show in itself. The exhibition management predict.
All in all the 1914 Exhibition at Halifax will be on a more imposing scale than any hitherto, and will be an ample reward to all who come to Halifax for an annual holiday trip to the City, taking in the Provincial Fair.

TORBROOK

July 27.
Mr. O. K. Brown, one of our oldest and most respected citizens passed away at midnight on Thursday after several months' illness, aged 78 years. Mr. Brown contracted blood poisoning in the hand last year from the effect of which he never recovered. James L., of Torbrook; John, of Lawrencetown; A. D., postmaster at Bridgetown, are brothers; and Mrs. Fenerty, of Brooklyn and Mrs. Riley of Torbrook, are sisters of the deceased.
A distinct earthquake shock was felt here on Tuesday, Monday, July 27th. Lightning storms are frequent. A large ash tree at W. R. Nelley's was badly hit recently. Also destroyed a lawn swing and a pane of glass. One of the family received quite a shock. Last week W. L. Spinney's place was visited and ornamental trees splintered. Sunday morning Henry McMaster's barn was hit at Meadowvale and a three-year-old colt killed, two pigs, besides damage to the building estimated at two hundred dollars.

Outram

Mr. and Mrs. Allister Banks of Mt. Rose were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Banks one day last week.
Mrs. Wm. Bent has returned home after spending the past week with her sister, Mrs. Frank Marshall, of Middleton.
Misses Lizette Slocumb, Vera Elliot and Doris Healy were the guests of Miss Alma Grace Slocumb a few days last week.

IT EASIER TO SAVE THE HAIR YOU HAVE Than to Grow New

The tendency to put off until tomorrow what we should do today accounts for most of the bald heads we see in the front row.
Newbro's Hecipide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. The hair is destroyed by its use and is not like scalp.
Nearly everyone has hair troubles of some description which Hecipide will correct. Don't wait until it is too late.
It is conceded to be the standard hair remedy and it is recommended and applied by all the best hair dressers and hair stylists.
Newbro's Hecipide in the 50¢ and $1.00 sizes is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Larger Wheat Area Under Cultivation

But Government Report Says Drought Has Affected Spring Crops—Live Stock Shows Decrease.
OTTAWA, July 17.—Revised estimates are available of the areas sown to spring crops this year, their condition on June 30, the acreages under the later-sown cereals and of hooed crops, and of the numbers of farm livestock. The areas of wheat, barley, mixed grains and oats, and clover are less, and of hay, rye, peas and alfalfa more than the estimates a month ago, when in Eastern Canada seeding was late. The areas under wheat is now placed at 11,022,000 acres, or 7,900 acres more than in 1913. Spring wheat occupies 10,048,700 acres, as against 10,045,000 acres in 1913, and the area to be harvested of fall wheat is 973,300 acres, almost the same as last year.
The area under oats is placed at 10,814,500 acres, 380,500 acres more than in 1913. Barley occupies 1,571,600 acres, against 1,613,000 acres last year; rye, 111,280 acres, against 119,130 acres; peas, 205,950 acres against 218,330 acres; mixed grains, 463,300 acres against 473,800 acres; hay and clover 7,779,000 acres against 8,169,000 acres; and alfalfa 90,385 acres, against 903,560 acres.
For the three Northwest Provinces the wheat average is 10,063,500 acres as compared with 10,633,000 acres last year; an increase being shown in Saskatchewan and Alberta, but a decrease in Manitoba. Oats occupy 6,106,000 acres as against 5,792,000 acres in 1913; and barley 1,038,000 acres against 1,023,000 acres.
The net increase in the three provinces for the three crops is: wheat, 27,500; oats, 314,000; and barley 13,000 acres; a total of 354,500 acres for the three crops. The largest increase of area in the three provinces is for oats, 314,000 acres, which apparently shows that increased attention is being given to mixed farming.
The acreage under the later sown cereal crops of 1914 are estimated as follows:
Wheat 54,000, as against 380,000 in 1913; flax 1,163,000 as against 1,562,800; corn for husking 256,000 against 278,000; beans 43,830 against 46,200; potatoes 475,900 against 473,500; turnips, etc., 175,000 against 186,400; sugar beet 15,500, against 17,000; and corn for fodder 317,000, against 308,650.
The condition of spring-sown crops at the end of July was on the whole fairly satisfactory, excepting hay and clover, which, owing to the prolonged drought, has a standard condition of 73.7, as compared with 90.2 a month ago. All the other crops have exceeded from the high figures of June and their condition in percent of the standard of 100 was as follows:
Fall wheat, 78.2; Spring wheat, 86.3; all wheat, 84.5; oats, 87.3; barley, 86.2; rye, 84.7; peas, 86.9; mixed grains, 87.3; alfalfa, 81.5; and pasture, 83.2.

Leaders Have Aged

British Statesmen Show Marks of Their Long Struggle.
There is no activity on which a man ages more quickly than in politics. Quite young men in the British House of Commons look prematurely old.
At times even Mr. Churchill, over whose head only 40 summers have passed, has the look of a man of 50, and the tall-tale marks of age under the eyes have registered themselves. His colleague, Mr. Lloyd George, some 11 years older, has the walk and the alert figure of a well-preserved man of 50, but his hair worn thickly at the back, is quite gray. When the Chancellor is vexed the lines on his face show out very strongly. Only when he smiles, he looks his real age.
Mr. Asquith's hair, or what there is of it, is quite white. He gives the impression that he has lived every one of his 62 years, and that time has dealt not too kindly with him. He is young-looking, however, compared to Mr. Birrell, two years his senior, whose deathly pallor is accentuated by the mass of white hair that always seems awry. For a philosopher with an agreeable turn of humor, the Irish Secretary has ill-resisted the advance of years. One imagines his career likely to end with the dissolution of the present Government.
Thirteen years older than his leader, Lord Morley has aged perceptibly these last few years. His step is slow and measured; his voice that once rang through the House like a clarion, is now low and difficult to hear; the fine ascetic-looking face is the face of a very old man. One sees the difference in time's treatment of others when one notices the tall, upright, steady figure of Lord St. Aldwyn, better known as Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, striding proudly thru the Lords. On him the years have fallen very gracefully. He might be only 60 from that firm gait of his, and yet he is 77. With his daily floral buttonhole and his well-fitting clothes, Mr. Redmond encourages the belief that he is young, but regarding him in one of those off-moments, when his features assume a settle expression, one cannot help being struck by the time-worn picture he presents. His hair is now quite white.

St. John Exhibition

The Experimental Farm System of Canada is co-operating this year in making the Agricultural Department of the St. John Exhibition a larger and more complete feature than has been the case for some years. Owing to the early dates on which the Exhibition must be held in order to secure seasonable weather for those attending, the display of Agricultural products has during the last two or three Exhibitions not been as comprehensive as the Exhibition authorities would like but this year a special effort is being made and the Experimental Farm System will make an exhibit embracing the following departments: Animal Husbandry, Field Husbandry, Forage Plant Cereals, Botanical, Horticultural, Poultry, Chemical and Bees. This exhibit will be in charge of special officials and will be of a high educational value and of great interest to all classes whether farmers or not. It is also planned to supplement the value of the exhibit by literature especially prepared and also by special lectures to be delivered under the supervision of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. In these days it is the up-to-date and scientific farmer who produces the goods that command the best prices, and these lectures will describe the latest and most effective ways of getting the desired results. Other features are also under contemplation which will indeed make the St. John Exhibition of 1914 an Agricultural Exhibition in fact as well as in name. The dates are from Sept. 5, to 12th.

Dear Sirs,—This fell I got thrown on a fence and hurt my chest very bad, so I could not work and it hurt me to breathe. I tried all kinds of liniments and they did me no good. One bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT warmed on flannels and applied on my breast cured me completely.

U. S. Apple Crop Will Top Record

SPOKANE, Wash., July 25.—This year's apple crop in the United States will exceed the record of 1912, according to a survey of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors, the co-operative selling agency which handles 65 percent of the Pacific northwest's commercial shipments.
It is apparent from reports issued by the head offices in Spokane that apple shipments from Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana will amount to about 15,000 cars a smaller total than authorities estimated earlier in the season. However, this figure is not final. The big selling agency is now making a careful survey of the crop in all localities. Each district in the four states will furnish a definite estimate to be reported at a meeting in Spokane, July 25.
Conflicting reports of California's apple crop have been received. The Watsonville district and the Pajaro valley each promise 2,000 cars. Conditions vary widely in other parts of that state.
Colorado, it is reported, will have the largest crop in its history, totalling between 3,000 and 3,500 cars. Utah and New Mexico will show increases.
"Practically all states have apples," the summary continues. "New York's crop will be the largest since 1896, it is declared. There may be a falling off in Indiana, Wisconsin and Minnesota, but these states are unimportant in point of production. Iowa is still uncertain. There will be large gains in all other New England, Southern and Middle Western States, particularly in the well-known apple producing districts."

A Practical Measure

(Weekly Witness)
A most remarkable petition "Out of the Depths" is that which has been addressed to the legislature of Pennsylvania by 1,008 prisoners out of the 1,478 in the Eastern penitentiary in that state. These men and women who are suffering the consequences of wrong-doing express their belief that fully seventy percent of crime within the state is directly attributable to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors. Many of them, they say, have a personal knowledge of its debasing influence in their own lives. They, therefore, ask the legislature to obtain the passage of an act to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors within the bounds of the Pennsylvania commonwealth. They describe their petition as "a voluntary deed of a body of earnest men and women acting entirely on their own initiative, without suggestion from others." Whatever heed the legislature may give or may not give to this petition from the prisoners it surely is provocative of serious thought. Here are more than a thousand persons, many of whom have sounded the very depths of evil-doing and consequent despair, yet, like one in the parable, who was far from being altogether bad, their main desire is that their brethren should be warned and safeguarded so that they should not come to like evil. It is a strange thing that these unfortunates have agreed upon a method of reform which many respectable legislators refuse to consider, and at which our daily press sneers as impracticable sentimentalism. Nobody but admits that the liquor traffic is the greatest crime breeder in the world, but lawmakers who have to be practical are forever tinkering at it, and endeavoring to limit its ravages by all sorts of minor regulations. These prisoners who know the thing practically agree that far from being impractical, the one cure that is practical is to prohibit it.

Fifth Edition Desbarats Newspaper Directory

Since the publication of the last issue of the Desbarats Newspaper Directory the newspaper situation of Canada has changed to quite a considerable extent and the 1914 Edition of this Directory will be gladly welcomed by advertisers and others interested in newspaper facts. This new Edition is more comprehensive than any of its predecessors, and brings the information up to the latest period of any directory published. A very satisfactory feature is the greatly increased number of publishers of leading newspapers and periodicals who have given sworn detailed statements of circulation. A larger number than ever of country weeklies have furnished the publishers with exact circulation figures. The usual gazetteer features are included and a list of the most important manufacturers in each city and town is given—an exclusive feature of the Desbarats Newspaper Directory. It is attractively bound in cloth, contains some 336 pages, and the publishers' price is $5.00. On receipt of request and for the nominal price of 35 cts., the Desbarats Agency have made a practice of sending a copy of their Directory to any business concern interested in advertising. Said requests should be made on the stationery of the firm making the application to the Head Office of the Desbarats Advertising Agency, Limited, Montreal.

Camp Meeting at Berwick

The Camp Meeting Association has made special preparation for automobiles, setting apart a place for them exclusively. A gate has been put in for their entrance. They will not be allowed to enter by either of the others, nor will any other vehicle be allowed to enter theirs. To meet in part only—the expense in preparation for them specially, an admission fee (single entrance) of ten cents (ten cents) will be charged.

Provincialism

A journalist who has worked for years in the foreign service of the Associated Press has given expression to his views of Canada in the Tacoma "Ledger." Among other things, the report says, "Everywhere he noted what to him seemed to be a total want of national ideals and standards. To a large part of the people of the Western Provinces, he thinks Canada means nothing in particular. Only the slightest bond of union with Eastern Canada is visible. Even neighboring Provinces of the West have little in common. Premier Borden's proposal to appropriate Canadian money for the British navy met with bitter opposition from all quarters of the Dominion." This is indeed a serious indictment, and unfortunately it is all too true. Canada is Provincial. As a people, we are divided into great groups by natural geographical barriers, of such a nature and breadth as to make intercourse between section and section difficult and costly. The political, religious and moral ideals and standards of these groups vary widely. So still more do their material interests. The question of Asiatic immigration stirring British Columbia has had little interest for Quebec and Ontario. The separate school issue in Manitoba has no interest for British Columbia, direct legislation and woman suffrage, which are so much mooted in three large prairie Provinces, have hardly begun to be talked of in the older Provinces and little of the legislation that goes on in the Maritime Provinces is even thought worth while telegraphing west by the Canadian Associated Press.
