

ed to write them by a strong desire to serve my native country; and I flatter myself, that your Lordship will look into them at a leisure hour, and find, at least, some amusement from the facts, though represented in a homely dress.

THE opening a new channel for trade to a vast country, abounding with inhabitants, and with many beneficial articles of commerce, is a work that highly merits the attention of our wisest and greatest men.

THERE are furs, my Lord, on this large tract of land, sufficient to supply all Europe; which yet are locked up by a few
