It appears from the Hall Patriot, a paper coinciding with the Address, that two of the cleary have published their reasons with similar objections for declining to affix their regulatures to it, the Rev. R. K. Bailey, Incumbent of St. Paul's, Hull, and the Rev. Henry Newmarsh. Vicar of Heale. Our provincial contemporary, speaking of them,

"Mr. Bailey (as all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance know) holds no sympathy with the Bishop of Exeter. And, in his letter to the Archbishop of York, the rev. gentleman states his chief objection to the Address was, that it might seem to commit those who signed it, without an explanation, to Mr. Gorham's view of the question of baptism. He considers that Mr. Gorbarn takes the high Calvimatic view, that an act of prevenient grace is in all cases necessary to make baptism effectual. result of which would be, to throw a doubt upon the salvaton of mianta, who, being baptired, die in miancy before the commission of actual sin-this. Mr. Baily informs the Archbishop, he considers to be contrary to the word of God, and contrary to the Rubric, which states that infants, being haptised, and dying before the commission of netual sin, are undoubtedly saved? Mr Bailey guards himself against giving a false interpretation to Mr. Gor-ham's views; he merely considers them open to the above conclusion, and therefore is unwilling to sign an Address by which he might be supposed to adopt them as his own." Having this stated the objections, the Hull Packet proceeks to combat them as follows :--

"Now, with the utmost respect for these two reverend gentlemen, we cannot but regret their dissent from their brother clergy in this matter. We sincerely believe that their views respecting infant baptism accord with those entertained by the insportty of the elergymen who have signed the Address, and we must confess that a careful perusal of that Address convinces us that those who sign it are neither directly nor indirectly pledged to Mr. Gorban's views. The obstacles alleged by the two dissentients, appear to us to be of their own russing. The Address of the forty-six clergy of Hull and the neighbourhood to the Archbishop of York says not one word of either Mr. Gorham or his views, or baptism, or of either per or post-cenient or any other grace, saving only the Archbishop's Grace. It simply, but cordially, thanks the Archbishop for declaring his full sanction to a verdict which maintains the right of the clergy to hold and to preach doctrine consistent ith the Articles and Formularies of the Church. Surely to this neither Mr. Bailey nor Mr. Newmarch own

The deceased lady had gained the love and respect of all around her, and will be long and deeply regretted. Sie departed this life at Darlingheish, near Sydney, on Sanday, the 16th of September, 1818, aged sixty-six. We are informed by evertand mail, dated September 26, that his Lordship and Mrs. Broughton, with their daugliter, then upon the eve of being married, had been sufficing from a severe attack of influenza; that the prayers of the congregation were offered up in the churches in Sydney for the three; and that his Lordship's recovery was almost minactionies; but that at date (Sept. 28.) his improvement was as great as, under the circumstances, could be expected.—Cambridge
