Durant, June 3.—The Lord Mayor has telegraphed to the Mayor of every town in the limited States and Canada as follows:—"I regret to say that funds are needed for the relief of the distress in Ireland. In many districts the pinch is equal to any previous time. The distress is much felt by small farmers, who dread workhouse relief, but can get nothing else until the crops come in."

LOTBON, June 9.—A despatch from Dublin states that Lord Oranmore's estate in Mayo was set on tire, presumably by an incendiary, on Sunday ast, and several acres of his plantation destroyed. There is much feeling among the local peasantry against Lord Oranmore for his persistent opposition in Parliament to the chaims of the Irish tenantry, and suspicion has shallen upon some of his tenants, but no arrests have yet been made. have yet been made.

DUBLIN, June 12.—Numerous collisions have excurred between the police and the people in the County Mayo, and the state of affairs is becoming really serious. The exactions of the landledds for rent of farms which have yielded nothing for the last year, and the tenants of which are in deep distress, have aroused much peopular indignation.

DUBLIN, June 9.—The Irish Land League relief committee propose to set aside £10,000 from the relief fund towards rendering special assistance to evicted familier, provided the principal American committees will consent. The League strongly denounces all emigration achemes.

At the Mariborough Street Police Court a sum-At the Mariborough Street Police Court a summons for libelling has been granted to Mr. A. M. Bullivan against Philip Callan (Home Ruier), member for Louth. Callan is charged with having sent an anonymous telegram to the Joint Times, Dublin, alleging that Sullivan's recent election to Parliament for Louth was rearried by means of money obtained from the Carlton Club.

Sikla, June 10.—Orders have been sent to General Stewart at Cabul to withdraw his lorces with the least delay. Cabul is to be evacuated by the end of October, surplus members of Siewart's staff and surplus war material to be returned to India forthwith. It is believed that Gandamuk and Shutar-garden Pass will be the extreme points of British occupation.

ROME, June 8.-Cardinal Nina, the Cardinal Rame, June 8.—Cardinal Mina, the Cardinal Becretary of State, has asked the Pope to accept his resignation on the plea that the labors of cone are too great for his strength, which has long been impaired. His holiness has declined to accept his resignation, and has proposed to the Cardinal that his labors be lightened by a division of the tasks which he has thus far discharged among certain subordinates. charged among certain subordinates.

PARIS, June 9 -The Minister of the Interior PARIS, June 9—The Minister of the Interior has told the Prefects to make a cear distinction between the Jesuit and other unauthorized orders. The Jesuits are not to be invited like orders to have themselves authorized, but are ordered to dissolve, and on the 30th June the Bompany of Jesus must disappear and evacuate the establishment it now occupies. For teaching establishments, however, the respite is prolonged till the 31st of August. Other unauthorised orders will receive before the 30th instant an official summons to declare whether they intend submitting to the decrees.

Paris, June 9—It is now considered probable that the Government will declare a plenary amnesty for all the exiled Communists, to take except July 14th, the anniversary of the destruction of the Bastille, a day usually celebrated in this city and elsewhere in France by public dinners. The day also happens to be the anniversary of an important moderate speech delivered by Gambetta at Porte Bous Jouarre, 1372.

Agriculture,

The sources from which potash may be most advantageously obtained by the farmer are wood ashes—leaned or unleasched—green and the control of the sound of the country. We not ashes—leaned or unleasched—green and the control of the sound of the potash is content of the country like this, is, of course, wood sabes—leaned or unleasched—green and the control of the sound of the sound of the potash is concerned, as the statisty of the sound of the sealing has for its object only the removal of this ingredient. At the same time, the leaching has for its object only the removal of this ingredient. At the same time, the leaching has for its object only the removal of this ingredient. At the same time, the leaching has for its object only the removal of this ingredient. At the same time, the potash is aften too high to allow of their use as a manure; and the chief supply of farmers within easy carriage of its entire that the ingredient of the sound of the soun worked, but is of so poor a character that the whole country is covered with a stunted vegetary that he whole country is covered with a stunted vegetarion, and is known as the "Barrens." Much attention has been drawn to this region by the profuse advertising of the Vineland tract, and by the efforts which are being made to draw population from other settlements between Vineland and Sandy Hook.

In the autuum of 1867, I visited the farm of the New Jersey Agricultural College, showed me a tract of heavy clay land upon which he had experimented with the use of mark. Three pieces of land, in all respects the same, and each measuring one quarter of an acre, were set apart for the experiment. The first received a dressing of 100 pounds of the best flour of bone; the second received nothing; and the third an application of green sand amount as the 100 pounds of bone dust. There were no means for accurately weighing the crop, but by a carrful estimate, the result was as follows: The tract manured with bone dust produced at the rate of $6 cocks; and that which was manured with green sand manure produced at the rate of $6 cocks. The following table of analymanured with green sand mari produced at the rate of 85 cocks. The following table of analysis will show the composition of green sand ari:-

Protoxide of iron
Alumina	69
Lime	5.3
Magnesia	1.6
Potash	4.8
Soluble Filica	32.4
Insoluble silica and sand	19.8
Sulphuric acid	0.8
Phosphoric acid	1.3
Water	8.0
Carbonic acid, etc	3.8
10	10.00

This is an average of three analyses copied from Professor George H. Cook's report of the geology of New Jersey. According to this estimate, one ton (2,000 lbs.) of green sand mark contains:

Lime.. | 106 lbs | Magnesia | 32 " | Potash | 96 " | Soluble siliciacid | 648 " | Sulphuric acid | 648 Sulphuric acid 12 "
Phosphoric acid 26 "
(Equal to phosphate of Lime, 56; lbs.)

It will be seen by this analysis that the amount of phosphoric acid contained is sufficient to add very much to the affect of the marl, cient to add very much to the affect of the marl, but its content of potash is so great as to account for its chief value, and all regions which are within reach of the marl-beds, even by the aid of a cheap water carriage, may be greatly benefited by the use of the material, which is found in comparatively inexhaustible supply. It is to be recommended, however, that its first introduction be only in an experimental way, as it is not equally efficient on all soils. As a source of potash anywhere along the Atlantic coast, it will probably be found an economical fertilizer. In the fall of 1867, I purchased a cargo of about 140 tons of marl, which cost delivered on the wharf at Newport, $3.60 a ton; and used it in various ways in my market garden.

and used the various ways in my intrice garden.

In the garden its effects was, in every case, very decided, especially on one tract of three-quarters of an acre of Jersey Wakefield cabbage. The land was manured very heavily, of course, with stab'e manure, but no more as than is customary in garden cultivation—no more heavily than my cabbage fields had previously been manured. After the plants had been set out a single handful of a compost of equal parts of green sand marl and clear horse manure was put on the surface about the plants, and I attribute chiefly to the influence of the marl thus applied the fact that the crop thus produced was the fluest that had ever been seen in the neighborhood, and better than any I have ever seen anywhere else. anywhere else.

MILK FEVER IN COWS.

MILK FEVERIN COWS.

Milk fever may be easily prevented by taking precautions to feed lightly before the cow calves to have the cow in moderately good condition only, to feed no corn-meal for two months previously, and, if any feed other than hay or grass is given, to choose bran in preference to any other. The cow should be kept in a cool, quiet, darkened stable by herself, where she can enjoy rest and repose; the calf should be removed as soon as possible, and the cow milked frequently. If anything seems to be wrong, or the cow is nervous, given drink of bran gruel, with one ounce of sweet spirits of nitre and two drams of bromide of potassium. Heavily fed cows are the most liable to have this disease.

PLEURO-PNEUMONIA IN CATTLE.

The first symptons of pleuro-pneumonia are a general duliness, hanging of the head, running at the mouth, nose, and eyes, redness of the eyes and a slight cough. Next the milk shrinks suddenly, the cough becomesdeeper and hollow, the animal breaths rapidly and with short jerky expirations, the breath is hot, the coat becomes rough, the back arched, and the appetite fails. The disease never appears spontaneously, but always by infection, and the stage of incubation is usually less than 80 days, but may extend to 90 days. There is no cure, and the only prevention is the immediate slaughtering of the sick cattle. This is the cheapest, as a recovered animal—and recovery is very rare—costs more to restore it than it is worth, leaving out of considation the danger of infection. PLEURO-PNEUMONIA IN CATTLE.

PLOWS AND PLOWING.

PLOWS AND PLOWING.

The plow is a fruitful subject. It is the most important agricultury implement, one of the oldest, and one ou which more inventive genius has been spent and more paterns devised than we have time to tell. It is as old as Moses, and improvements have been made every century from Moses's time till now. Still, the implement is not perfected, and one plow will not answer for "all purposes," Probably at no period in the history of the world has so much attention been paid to plows and such great improvements made as in this nineteenth century. Our memory runs back to the time when the wooden mold-board was used by some conservative farmers, and we distinctly remember using one of these mold boards, strengthened by a horse-shoe nailed on its surface. Such a farmer would now be indicted by Mr Bergh for crueity to animals, for the friction of these old mold-boards, covered with all kinds of old iron, as they were, must have made the draught wearisome to oxflesh—horses were seldom used in those days for powing, as it was considered too hard work for them. them. when we hear farmers say that they want their flows to run only thise or four inches
