- 6. The National Museums of Canada will, in agreement with the M.H. de Young Memorial Museums of San Fransisco, (California), take all necessary measures to take custody of the Treasures of Tutankhamon on or about September 15, 1979, and with the appropriate authorities of the Federal Republic of Germany to transfer possession of the exhibition after its closure at the Art Gallery of Ontario, on or about January 15, 1980.
- 7. It is agreed that the Government of the Arab Republic of Egypt will assume no expense or financial obligation in connection with the exhibition during the time it is in the custody of the National Museums of Canada. An appropriate admission fee will be charged to visitors to defray the expenses incurred by the Art Gallery of Ontario in connection with the exhibition.
- 8. No reproduction, cast or copy of any kind or photograph (other than for the purpose of a condition report or a documentary report) or repair or restoration of any object of the exhibition will be authorized other than by arrangement between the designated agencies of the respective governments.
- 9. It is agreed that the objects of the exhibition will be adequately insured against theft, loss, damage, and all risks including force majeure while in Canadian hands, under terms and conditions to be agreed between the designated agencies of the Governments. The cost of this insurance as well as other security measures to be agreed upon by the designated agencies will be considered as an expense in connection with the exhibition.
- 10. The National Museums of Canada shall require the Art Gallery of Ontario to acquire an amount of catalogues and other materials appropriate to the public exhibition of the Treasures of Tutankhamon that the Art Gallery of Ontario believes it can resell to the public during the said public exhibition.
- 11. The National Museums of Canada will, after all costs have been deducted, pay in Canadian dollars to the Government of Egypt the net profit derived from the exhibition, both from admission fees and the sale of catalogues and other materials connected to the exhibition.
- 12. Any dispute between the two Governments concerning the interpretation or application of the present Protocol shall be settled by direct negotiation between them.

If no agreement can be reached through such negotiation, either Government may submit the dispute to an arbitration committee within two months after receipt of the note stating that the dispute is to be settled by arbitration.

The two arbitrators appointed for this purpose must within one month after their appointment, choose a third arbitrator who may not be a national of either of the two countries concerned and who shall preside over the arbitration committee.
