

the Alliance, in August 1959. In the same elections, he was returned again.

In December 1959 he became Minister of Rural Development, in addition to holding a portfolio of Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Defence. He launched the rural development programme in 1960 and was responsible for over-all national development.