

S.O. 21

the President of the United States. How can we expect the cooperation and aid of that great country when we are in need of protection in time of war?

I suggest that we renew our pledge to friendship and cooperation with our friend and greatest ally, the United States of America, a country which has no fences to keep its people in, a country which has accepted millions of people from over crowded and under privileged countries. God bless America.

NUCLEAR ENERGY

CALL FOR INQUIRY INTO USE OF NUCLEAR FUEL

Mr. Bill Blaikie (Winnipeg-Birds Hill): Madam Speaker, at this time I would like to call upon the Government to set up a full public national inquiry into the nuclear fuel cycle in Canada, including the mining of uranium, the storage of radioactive wastes, the transportation of those wastes, safeguard treaties, and both the export and domestic uses of nuclear materials and technologies and the relationship between them and the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

There are many good reasons, Madam Speaker, to hold such an inquiry. Unresolved questions abound around the nuclear power issue, and Canadians have never really had the opportunity to be heard on the decision made by technocrats in back rooms to forge ahead with a nuclear future for Canada in spite of growing economic and environmental concerns about the viability of nuclear power as an energy option.

Instead of bending over backward to save a vain and unacceptable energy choice which poses ethical questions that will never be addressed properly within the confines of AECL's internal reviews, the Government should look to the involvement of the people of Canada for instruction on how best to pursue energy for Canada. It should heed the call of the United Church and of many other groups for a public enquiry, something I asked for myself on April 10, 1981, when speaking to a Private Members' Bill in my name that called for just such a process.

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

ROLES OF TRI-LATERAL COMMISSION AND BILDERBURG ORGANIZATION

Mr. Stanley Hudecki (Parliamentary Secretary to Minister of National Defence): Madam Speaker, two international organizations on which the Canadian Government is unofficially represented and in which the Parliament Centre for Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade appears to play a role, are a source of concern. One is the Trilateral Commission and the other is the Bilderburg Organization. The latter held a meeting recently at Montebello in the Province of Quebec. Both organizations carry on with a secret agenda. Both have ties with the United States and overseas countries. In both organizations, members with contacts in international financial circles are present.

Where there are secrecy and foreign involvement, dealing with finances, suspicion and distrust exist. What is the ultimate goal of such organizations? Are they concerned with international trade, with the exchange of scientific data? Are they concerned with foreign aid, or are they social gatherings? I feel that those Canadians who are involved in these all-made power broker organizations should be asked to report to the Committee on External Affairs, or a statement should be made by External Affairs on the role of such organizations where Canada is involved.

There is a body of Canadians who fear that such organizations are designed to gain control eventually, at an international level, of the banking systems, which in turn would give them political power exerted through monetary control. The anxieties, concerns, and suspicions created by such surreptitious organizations can, to a degree, be laid to rest by official statements indicating their aims and their goals.

AVIATION INDUSTRY

ASSEMBLY OF WATER BOMBER PARTS SOUGHT FOR WINNIPEG WORKERS

Mr. Dan McKenzie (Winnipeg-Assiniboine): Madam Speaker, the government has announced that it will be building 20 new CL-215 water bombers. CAE in Winnipeg has the assembly jigs and tooling to continue building wing flaps and rudders for water bombers, as it has already been doing during the time from 1980 to 1982. There is now talk of this equipment being moved from Winnipeg to Montreal.

The Winnipeg aerospace industry was promised 10 per cent of the new fighter aircraft contract. This has never materialized. There are 120 aerospace machinists being laid off in Winnipeg by Air Canada. CAE is being forced to close down because of lack of contracts. Every effort must now be made to keep hundreds of aerospace workers employed in Winnipeg. This can be done if the Government would leave the equipment that is ready to build the parts for the water bombers in Winnipeg, and not move it to Montreal. Aerospace workers can be employed in Winnipeg if the Government will award contracts to that city in which workers are already knowledgeable and are prepared to assemble the water bombers.

INDUSTRY

FOOD SERVICE INDUSTRY—NECESSITY TO UPGRADE TRAINING FACILITIES

Mr. Gus Mitges (Grey-Simcoe): Madam Speaker, the food service industry in Canada has 600,000 people on its payroll, 5.7 per cent of the national labour force. Last year the industry
