

Woman's Realm—the Household, Fashions and Society

SOCIETY

The Old Boys of Upper Canada College have issued invitations to a dance in Columbus Hall on Thursday evening, Jan. 23, at 9 o'clock. The following will act as patronesses: Lady Gibson, Lady Meredith, Mrs. W. G. Gooderham, Mrs. G. T. Denison, Mrs. W. H. Brown, Mrs. Somers, Mrs. A. Arnold, Mrs. Sweny, Mrs. Brook, Mrs. Auden.

At the Toronto Hunt Polo Ball officers will appear in uniform and members of the Toronto Hunt Club will wear pink.

The honorary president and officers of the Social Service Association have sent out invitations to their first annual meeting, to be held in "Holwood," Queen's Park, the residence of J. W. Queen, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Sir James Whitney, K.C.B., will take the chair.

Miss Dehls Davies and the Messrs. Davies are giving a small dance on Jan. 23.

Mrs. H. D. Warren is giving a dance this evening, and Miss Mowat one on Tuesday.

Her Excellency the Countess of Aberdeen arrives from Ottawa on Tuesday morning in her private car and will breakfast at Government House. The city will entertain her at luncheon at the Queen's Hotel, after which she will attend the reception at the Margaret Eaton School, take tea at Government House, leaving Toronto at 4:20.

Mrs. William C. Crowther is giving a small house dance this evening.

Lady Mann, Mr. D. Mann and Mr. T. A. Mann have sailed from New York for England by the Carmania.

Miss Dorothy Lam-nuir is giving a small house dance this evening.

The annual dance of the University of Toronto Engineering Society will be held in Knights of Columbus Hall on Jan. 24. Tickets may be obtained from the secretary, Mr. C. C. Rous.

Mrs. Walter Barwick has sailed for England.

A waiting competition will be held at the skating club on Tuesday evening and the fancy dress carnival will take place early in February.

Mr. R. Hume Smith will not return from the south until the middle of February.

Mrs. W. H. Warren is giving a tea at the Metropolitan this afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock.

Mr. Frederick Condon is in town from Dawson City.

Mr. Frederic Nicholls has left for Vancouver and Victoria.

Miss Margaret Davis Cayuga, is the guest of Mrs. Miller Lash.

Mrs. Caldwell of Barrie is the guest of Mrs. Graham Thompson. Next week she will visit Miss Macdonald, Wellington street.

Mr. Edward Steinbrun, Jr., of New York, is at the King Edward.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Ramsay are in St. Catharines with Mrs. Ramsay's mother, and are expected home next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Bernard have returned from California and are at the Queen's Hotel.

The Misses Hoover, who have been spending the holidays in Clinton with their parents, returned last evening.

Dr. Bruce entertained at dinner on Wednesday evening. His guests going on to the Pionazette Quartet concert.

Mrs. Percy Parker leaves shortly to join Mr. Parker in England, whence they will go to the Riviera.

Dr. Augustus Stowe-Cullen and Dr. Margaret Johnson have issued invitations to a tea at the Metropolitan on Tuesday, Jan. 21, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mr. Harry Gates was in town from Hamilton at the end of the week.

The president and members of the Literary Institute of Trinity College have sent out cards for their annual conversation and dance on Thursday evening, Jan. 23. The patronesses are Lady Whitely, Lady Pellatt, Mrs. W. H. Brown, Mrs. Somers, Mrs. A. Arnold, Mrs. Sweny, Mrs. Brook, Mrs. Auden, Mrs. W. H. Brown, Mrs. Somers, Mrs. A. Arnold, Mrs. Sweny, Mrs. Brook, Mrs. Auden.

A number of parties from out of town are coming to Toronto for the Hunt Polo ball on Wednesday night.

The Women's Canadian Club has extended an invitation to the members of the Women's Press Club to attend a meeting of the former club this evening at 8:15 in Association Hall, where Mrs. Alice Stebbins, in the United States, will deliver an address on "The Need of Policewomen and Their Work."

Miss Rene and Miss Helen Von Hugel are at 30 St. George street for the winter.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association announce the fifth annual ball to be held Jan. 23 at the Temple Building.

Mrs. D. J. Richmond Wilcox of 184 Delaware avenue and her daughter, Beatrice, have left to join Mr. Wilcox in Vancouver, where they will spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Main announce the engagement of their daughter, Mabel Pearl, to Mr. Geo. E. Meredith, Orillia, the marriage to take place late in January.

The fifth annual dance of the Sigma Theta Fraternity took place at the Metropolitan on Friday, 10th inst. The guests were received by Mrs. Corvelli, Mrs. Fell, Mrs. Berkishaw, Mrs. Maynard, Mrs. Lyle, Mrs. Munro, and the exalted sigma, Mr. J. A. Gairdner.

Receptions Today.

Mrs. George W. Watts, 1 Beaumont road, and not first Monday in February, Mrs. J. R. Montgomery, 100 Glen road, with her mother, Mrs. Dwyer, 133 Carlton street. Mrs. Jackman and Mrs. Ruth Jackman, Blenheim road. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Evelyn Taylor, Sherbourne street. Mrs. Louise Duncan Ray (nee Glasgow), 17 Whitely avenue. Mrs. G. P. Payne, 689 Sherbourne street. Mrs. G. Cecil Moore, 3 Glenview, Glen road. Mrs. H. H. Pidgeon, 200 Glen road. Mrs. Pidgeon, 40 Maple avenue. Mrs. N. W. Rowell, Crescent road, and Mrs. Langford, 100 Whitely avenue. Mrs. George P. Reid, 577 Jarvis street.

Receptions.

Mrs. Hearst, wife of the Hon. W. H. Hearst, will receive for the first time in her new house, 58 Glen road, on Thursday from 4 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. David D. Wickson, 200 Charlotte street, on Tuesday; and Mrs. Edward Flanagan (Winnifred Macpherson), post-nuptial, Tuesday, at Lockhart Hall, 138 West King street, and Mrs. Macpherson with

The Daily Hint From Paris

DAINTY DRAPERIES.

Rose tints are cleverly placed in the evening gown, which was made the subject of this sketch. The foundation is a skirt of soft rose-colored messaline, accented with a waist of chiffon in the palest shade of rose.

An overskirt of this chiffon is made quite long and over all is a tulle of white chiffon, encircled by a girde of roses. The chiffon draperies are all slightly weighted by the pearl trimmings on their edges.

her. Mrs. J. M. Young, 73 Soranau avenue, third Wednesday of the month, instead of the second Tuesday as formerly. Mrs. T. H. Cooper, Misses Cooper, Russell Hill road, on Thursday and not again this season.

Private Individuals Hope to Raise Ten Millions to Supplement Crusade of Government.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—An important new movement of a private character is about to be started in connection with the government's campaign against the white slave traffic.

The new movement contemplates the establishment of a money foundation, amounting possibly to as much as $10,000,000, the income of which will be used in promoting features of the campaign in which the federal government cannot lawfully engage.

The purpose of this new movement will be to save the unfortunate girls who have been made the victims of white slave practices. While the enforcement of the law against interstate traffic of this character has been successful beyond the anticipation of the department of justice, it long has been felt by the government officials that the prosecutions under the law accomplished only half the real work to be done. The guilty man is punished under the operation of the law, but his victim is left in most instances in an almost hopeless condition.

It is to support homes for women of this character and to establish new ones that the movement about to be launched will aim. Some cities already have good retreats of this kind, but it is said their facilities are not adequate, while some places have no "shelters" at all.

Two Asphyxiated. The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The Rev. George H. MacDonald, a retired Presbyterian clergyman, and his wife, both octogenarians, were found dead in bed to-day from gas. A faulty stop-cock was on the gas jet.

A BREAKFAST IN CEYLON

would not bring you a more delicious cup of tea than you may have at your own table by using

"SALADA"

It is the world's choicest tea, at its best—the finest hill-grown Ceylon—in sealed lead packets.

BLACK, GREEN or MIXED

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

THE TAILOR'S POINT OF VIEW

"There are two things in a woman's suit should be cent to be pressed—or she should press it herself. I interpolated—just as often as a man's. I have one customer whose suits are always an advertisement for me. Ladies come and say, 'Make my suit as smart as Miss M.'s. Her suit is perfect and always keeps its shape. Why is this? Miss M. has an arrangement with me to press her suits. The result is that they are always fresh and smart. And I must say that she puts her things on properly, has a carriage of the shoulders and an air that would give distinction to any clothes. Press your clothes, ladies, and in the end it is the cheapest and best thing to do.'"

The tailor had other things to say of the unreasonableness of women, but of this more later on.

is unquestioned even by the English themselves. Then in the matter of women's tailoring we excel. The English tailor is supreme in the cut and fit of men's clothes. But as for women's suits, the trouble is that women do not get the shoulder line. He contracts the chest and makes the waist thin." The tailor was right on such deplorable lines. The fine line of the shoulder, the easy fit over the bust, the snug well-fitting collar, the well-hung sleeve, we recognize all these at a glance, as well as the fine curve of the semi-fitting back. But even on this side of the water the essentials for a reasonable price!

"There is another thing," said the tailor after a pause. "If I say so, madame, ladies are unreasonable. They complain of their suits not looking smart after one season's wear, perhaps two seasons' wear. They declare that their skirts lose their shape and the coats their line. They cannot understand why this should be so, and they blame the tailor. Now, madame, I put it to you squarely, what would a man's suit look like if he kept wearing it three months, six months, a year, two seasons, without pressing? Would his clothes look as if they came from to keep that thought away. Let your children see that the acquiring of knowledge never ceases, and that for every reason, life is a beautiful, interesting thing, and that being young only gives one more opportunity to learn. Since the home really means a child's life, and the attitude of the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work is really natural and delightful to the children, the home must enter into every activity that the child enjoys; and if we look upon the school as simply helping the home, we find out where the actual centre of a child's life is, and discover that the school work