WATCH FOR THE "COMING" MINES.
Eastern investors have watched with interest the position taken by the stock of the War Eagle and the Ontario and Quebec. It would appear as if the prediction, even those of the most wary character, made of that camp, are about to be realized. At all events one thing is certain, when a Roseland mine one has been developed and a considerable body of ore stoped out, there is no difficulty in selling either the mine itself or its stock. All the world knows of the marvelous success of the Le Roi and War Eagle, not to mention the Centre Star. The latter is almost as far advanced as any of the others, but as it is confined to a few owners with abundant capital they have not as yet put it on the market. War Eagle shares of $1 are quoted today at $2, and this stock is selling rapidly with the promise of a still further advance. Twenty-two thousand shares bringing $44,000 cash were sold in Toronto yesterday. But besides these mines, active development work is being proceeded with on many others, and some of these are just about "to arrive." It is these mines which are about to become shippers and whose stocks are quoted low that now offer the best investment. For instance, mines at the Iron Mountain and Monte Oro which have first-class plants working on them and are already beginning to ship ore, and which are quoted at a comparatively low price, promise to have an early rise equal to that of the War Eagle or Le Roi. And it is investments of this character that the World advises those who are contemplating Roseland purchases to consider. There is no need of unusual money to mere prospects, although we believe many of the Roseland prospects which are still only prospects are good, but any one who watches the camp and the mines that are being actually developed, and who exercises judgment, is almost certain to secure similar advantages to those reaped by the men who went into War Eagle once it "arrived."

IMPROVED RAILWAY SERVICE.
The G.P.R. has made several important changes in its timetable. The night express from Montreal now leaves at 9:35, or 35 minutes later than heretofore. The change will be generally appreciated, but the public interest would be still better served if the train were delayed till, say, 11 o'clock. Transient visitors to Toronto from the east would have the whole of the evening at their disposal here if the train left at 11. They could pay social visits to their friends, attend the theatres or otherwise pleasantly occupy themselves, whereas the whole evening is spoiled when they have to meet a train at 9:35. If the train left here at 11, it would arrive in Montreal quite early enough in the morning for all purposes. The company has been asked to make the change, and it is hoped that it will be made.

THE RED ROSE LEAGUE OF CANADA.
The flowers had not yet faded on the Volunteers' monument when the statue of Sir John Macdonald was decorated yesterday, and it seemed appropriate that the two memorial celebrations should come so near together, appealing as they did to the patriotic feelings of all who were present. The occasion will be a memorable one in the history of the country if it should prove to be the first of a long series of annual celebrations throughout the Dominion in honor of Canada's greatest statesman. Such demonstrations, held under the auspices of the Young Conservatives, will serve to unite the party and keep in mind the principles which have guided it in the past, in the work of consolidating and strengthening the ties that bind together the different parts of the British Empire. The suggestion of the chairman that the Conservatives of Canada should have their Red Rose League in honor of Sir John Macdonald, just as the Conservatives of Great Britain have perpetuated the influence of Beaconsfield by the establishment of the Primrose League, is a good one. Such a league would not doubt prove a great source of strength to the Conservative party. As Mr. Nicholas Flood Davin remarked in the course of his eloquent speech, Sir John Macdonald does not require such demonstrations to perpetuate his fame, but it will be a matter of great importance to young Conservatives now and in the future to feel that the spirit and the influence of Sir John Macdonald are with them. It will strengthen their patriotism and give them confidence in fighting political battles for their party and their country. Mr. J. P. Whitney's proposal that some extract from the speeches of Sir John Macdonald should be read at every annual demonstration is well worthy of adoption. Mr. Whitney inaugurated the custom by quoting from Sir John's last address to the people. Sir John was not a great orator, but he said many wise and witty things. It would not be difficult to find in his speeches something appropriate for each occasion, and some of his sayings are worthy of frequent repetition. It is well that this custom should be inaugurated while we have with us men who were associated with him during many years of political life.

Let the Red Rose League of Canada show that in spirit Sir John Macdonald still walks the policy of the Conservative party and will carry it on to victory.

THINKS UNCLE SAM WILL PAY UP.
London, June 6.—(Telegram Cable).—In the House of Commons today Hon. George J. Curzon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in reply to a question of Sir George Baden-Powell, said he did not suppose that the United States would be paying the claims of the Canadian soldiers.

MISSING CURATE A SOLDIER.
Rev. J. J. Neenan, the missing curate of the Church of the Messiah, in Ireland, where he enlisted in the British army, his father, Rev. Mr. Neenan, of St. Paul's, has gone to Ireland to see to his son's comfort, and if possible bring him back.

THE MOST CRITICAL PERIOD IN A WOMAN'S life may be properly called "Blossoming time." It is the period when the blossoms from girlhood into womanhood.

At this momentous time the best medicine for a woman to take is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon the delicate and important organs that are to bear the burdens of wifehood and motherhood. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It corrects all irregularities and displacements and stops exhausting drains. Taken during the period of expectant maternity, it banishes the apprehensions and fears of a coming easy and almost painless. It insures the new-comer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. It transforms weak, sickly, nervous, complaining women into happy, healthy wives.

Thousands of women have told over their own signatures, the story of the marvelous merits of this great medicine. An honest dealer will not try to persuade you to take something different from what you ask for, for the sake of a few pennies added profit.

Mrs. Anna Ulrich, of Elm Creek, Buffalo Co., Neb., writes: "I was under doctors' care for several months, and when I had taken one-half dozen bottles I was up and going wherever I pleased. I never felt so strong and vigorous as I do now, and I have been very happy since—that was two years and a half ago."

The only constipation-cure that never causes discomfort—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. At all medicine stores.

NEW TRANSPORTATION CONDITIONS.
The transportation problem will assume quite a new aspect on the completion of the 14-foot canal system which we are now building. It is not at all unlikely that the opening of the new system will retire the proposed Ottawa and Georgian Bay Canal into temporary, if not permanent, obscurity. The scheme will, at any rate, make no headway until the results of the new system are demonstrated, as they will be very shortly now. The economy of the Party Round route will also be put to a severe test when the new canal is ready for use. We fall to see how the former route with its haul of nearly 400 miles, can compete with an all-water route capable of floating vessels of 14 foot draught. If, however, it is economical to transport freight at a Georgian Bay port to avoid the long detour round the western Ontario peninsula, then the greatest economy would be effected by selecting the shortest possible railway haul. That haul is undoubtedly from Collingwood to Toronto, a distance of about 80 miles in an air line. It is just possible therefore that the proposed Collingwood-Toronto air line may become a factor in the transportation problem as soon as the new conditions prevail. At one end is a harbor that will accommodate the large vessels of the upper lakes, while at the other end is Toronto, an important point on the 14-foot system. If it pays to transport freight via the Party Round route to Montreal, nearly 400 miles, it surely would be much more economical to transport it from Collingwood to Toronto, not one-fourth of that distance, especially when it may be possible to load vessels in Toronto direct for Europe. If transport is economical then Toronto ought to look at Quebec as the pivot point of its national history. It was there that Canada was transferred from France to Britain, and it is almost the only place in Canada where two great continental nations fought. To this generation, for its renown has been substantiated the peaceful achievement of the federation of the provinces into one great Dominion. It is quite fitting that it should see the ending of the political differences that have separated us in feeling from the United States.

In all conferences, between nations as between individuals, success depends on compromise. No one object to settling disputed points with the United States by compromise instead of by the trade of the sword. It is a question of the peaceful conviction that we are bound to lose or give up something valuable and precious. To the United States these topics of dispute do not touch its national life as closely as they do ours. They are only local sores to them, but to us they take in almost everything that is necessary to our development. Our great sea routes, fishing and sealing, our railway freight business, done over two lines alone, our mining development, our lumber and timber trade, what would we be without them at the present time? In years to come when we have opened up our great Northwest and have become as great grain raisers as Russia and the United States, when we have filled Canada with a network of railways, have tapped the Hudson Bay, and have developed the vast timber limits of British Columbia, and added to our territory the island of Newfoundland, we will be able to stand alone.

But at present we must choose between development within ourselves and gradual commercial dependence on the United States. If it accomplishes anything, must the latter direction. We must yield in some of the directions that at present, if worked out towards Canadian trade, will make us as great a nation in time as our friends to the south of us. The danger lies in conceding that which will take the edge of Canadian independence. On the other hand, the prospect is undoubtedly alluring, but our past experience leads us to fear that, with British colleagues, accomplishing some patent result will mean surrender to Canada.

Everything will depend on the men who are chosen to represent us. Nothing that the Liberal Government have yet done proves them qualified for the task, which needs statesmanship of no small order. Sunny days are not wanted where hard business facts have to be grappled with. Nor will good intentions take the place of far-seeing and resolute diplomacy.

An exceedingly interesting and instructive experiment has been detailed in Commander Wakeham's expedition to Hudson Straits. Reading it one is reminded that exploits and dangers among the ice are not confined to Canada, and it seems singular to Canadians to read in the reports of missionary bishops that Canadian goods for Hudson Bay are sent to England, and thence to Hudson Bay.

The possibilities of navigation through the Straits in summer have been fully demonstrated, provided the proper sort of vessel is employed. There is no reason why Halifax, or St. John's, Newfoundland, should not be the terminus of the transit into that great inland sea, and indeed, it is tapped by Ontario. Given the two trade routes, the sea and the land passages, and the trade is not wanted where hard business facts have to be grappled with. Nor will good intentions take the place of far-seeing and resolute diplomacy.
