"In faraway Montana lived a wealthy who own-many who combined until his own own one or the lights out" for anyone who cannot have a chance of the lights out." In faraway Montana lived a wealthy who ow ter thief, would accompany them on their trips of investigation. However, he would previously have placed his men in hiding places, with food and ammunition enough for two weeks, and into this trap he would lead the police, the result being that all the police would be killed and he would be winged, for he always insisted on being shot himself to avoid suspicion. He would then retire to his home and nurse his wound. When a new detachment of police arrived, one of his children, whether it be Bill, Dick, Hammerhead or Spitfire, would accompany the police, and the same thing would again occur, all the police being killed and the friend of Buckskin, merely wounded, but always wounded. The members of the family cared nothing for wounds, as long as they got the cattle. Their smoke wagons were their constant companions, they swore and drank and murdered without a pang of conscience. They had never read the Bible, and had received no education, but what they had picked up from their fethers and mether. They were

Coats, Suits, Dresses, Blouses, Furs, Millinery We are going to make a clean sweep o . every article of ready-to-wear in our store.

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear

We realize that to clean out our big stock we have to cut prices. It is the policy of this store that no goods should be earried over from one year to another, these laggards must be up and moving; they must get out; pretty quick, too, and to lend them a helping hand on their exit we have quoted them at prices that the manufacturers would absolutely refuse to sell them for; at one-fourth, one-third and one-half the prices they are selling for elsewhere right now. At such reductions they will be bought up in no time, so come early and get your portion before they are all gone.

ng him to come to Montana and ne im out of the country, threatening hoot Bill at the first opportunity e did not come. Brother in Next Bed. Brother in Next Bed.

Bill refused to go, and soon left for overseas. Such an excellent shot was he that he served in France as a sniper and it is his boast that he has "got" Fritz many times. He is now in an English hospital, after having been severely gassed, and by the stroke of fate who should be in the cot next to him but his brother Dick. Both are now convalescing.

The following extracts are from two recent letters, received by Mrs. Mathewson from Bill, and they show how Bill is still fighting his old tendencies and coming out victorious for Jesus Christ.

"Bill" calls Mrs. Mathewson, Mother.

been so well guarded, but when Mr. Mathewson approached Bill, and began to tell him, how he had once enjoyed a barroom fight and so forth, Bill at once became interested, and before the meeting was over had confessed his willingness to become converted to Jesus Christ. This conversion is one of the most wonderful ones which has ever taken place in the City Mission. Shortly after this time Bill received a letter from home which informed him that "Spitfire" had also become converted, and upon her refusal to steal, had been instantly shot and killed by "Buckskin," her father. Before this time, the father had "put the lights out" for "Hammerhead" and the youngest brother, for some most petty reason. Dick, who was left alone, at Spitefire's death, watched for his chance, and finally shot his father, in revenge for his sister. The authorities at once got on his father. Accordingly as well as of his father.

This letter was written from his con-valescent camp in England, on December 9.

C. B. For Attending Revival.

"Well, mother, I have got a crime against me for the first time since I left Canada, and say it makes me laugh. I have got two days' C. B.; that is, two days confined to barracks. Well, mother, you see it was just like this: You see, they are holding revivals in a town about a mile and a half away from here, so I reckoned I would go up and see if they had as good a time here as we used to have in the dear old City Mission. Well, away I went, and say I got interested in the meeting, and before I knew about it, I was a half an hour late. So I stayed until it was over, and say it was just fine. Well, the meeting never got through until 11 o'clock. I tried to hire a taxi to get back, but it was nalf past twelve when I got back, so, of course, I was up for office next morning, and the major gave me two days' C. B. But I don't care.

"I reckort I will get ten days tomorrow morning or the guardroom, for you see, mother, today is Sunday, and tonight there is going to be a grand meeting, and it is the last one. I cannot miss the one tonight for the sake of a few more days' C. B. Ha! Ha! C. B. For Attending Revival.

night there is solving and in the continuous the one tonight for the sake of a few more days' C. B. Ha! Ha!

"Well, mother, talk about the old time religion. You know I never knew anything allout it, but that was what the preaches spoke about in one part ohis service, and say it was grand. Had he did not want any of their nereligion or their new style of preaching or none of the real nice fashions, an all the tominy-rot that preachers hanow-a-days. All he wanted was the old time way, or any old way, as long as he could win souls for Christ.

could win souls for Christ.
"Bill" Turns Evangelist. "And say, when he came down and asked me to get right with God, I got right up and told him I had done that very thing eight months ago tonight. And he said. 'Well, I am glad of that,' and I showed him one of your letters and also my Y. M. C. A. papers that M. Wilson sent me. Well, mother, he took me by the hand and walked me right up the side to the front and on to the platform, and told me to go ahead and rell them about it. Well, mother,
