PREPARE FOR GREAT REVIEW AT BORDEN

Sir Sam Hughes to Inspect Thirty-One Thousand Troops Today.

WEATHER IS TORRID

Soldiers Exposed to Great Heat in Going Thru Drill Yesterday.

By a Staff Reporter. CAMP BORDEN, July 10.—Thirty-one thousand troops, marching under the command of Brig-General W. A. Lorie and staff officers twice today as a drill for the great review tomorrow, when the salute will be taken by Major-General Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia. The troops today were lined up in four companies deep, when they went thru the general salute at the grille ceremonial parade grounds. Ever in this solid formation the battalions stretched out for a distance of about three miles. There were enough infantry in the parade to form 10 brigades or three divisions—thirty-five battalions in all. When Sir Sam Hughes takes the salute tomorrow the troops will march in lines of half battalions. Thirty-five brass bands will play during the giving of the general salute. During the parades today there was no shade and the thermometer hovered around the ninety-mark at the buildings.

Pictureque Setting. The review round, officially known as the ceremonial area, covers several square miles. Off to the western side of it there is a long range of high hills, at least as high as the Hamilton Mountain, which add to the scenic effects of large military movements, such as held today.

The swing of the men was evidence of the good feeding provided by the Army Service Corps Staff. The corps has on hand for the battalions in training ample food provisions for 45,000 men for five days ahead, which gives a big margin on the present strength.

The big central military postoffice building was opened for general business today. Yesterday the staff postmarked and handled 75,000 letters. Captain J. H. McClellan, superintendent of the camp grounds, was busy today driving to the area of units giving special instructions against wasting water. Each man is allowed 12 gallons per day.

The waterworks has a capacity of 600,000 gallons a day, which is double the present requirements. Major S. D. Dunn is organizing a course of training for signallers, in which various advanced courses will be given with 200 instructors. The school will be divided into two classes, junior and senior, with 1000 soldier-signallers in each. They will be graduated on a percentage basis. Canadian signallers usually pass with a mark of over 90 per cent. Headquarters staff, transferred from Niagara, began its duties here today in the large new headquarters building just completed. The headquarters is quite near to the railway depot. It is a one-storey building, stucco-concrete, about 150 feet long.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent in One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home. Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? No, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the private and wonderful free prescription. One could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully now they feel fine all the time. Was like a miracle to me. A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with it. Without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are both sore, you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time. Note: Another prominent physician to whom the above story was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituents are carefully selected by them. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen eyesight in many instances. It can be obtained from any good drug store and if one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for emergency, it is almost every family." G. Tamblin sells it.

NO ONTARIO NICKEL CAN REACH ENEMY?

Deutschland Can't Deliver a Pound, Says Hon. G. Howard Ferguson.

CAREFULLY WATCHED

Declares Germany Gets Metal From Norway in Great Quantities.

"There is not a chance in this world of a pound of Ontario nickel getting to Germany in the Deutschland," said Hon. G. Howard Ferguson yesterday. "Where, then, would a cargo of nickel come from?" he was asked. He replied that there was a certain amount of nickel in the residue of copper smelters. Usually it was too insignificant a quantity to be worth separating. Altogether it might amount to 700 or 1000 tons a year. Then, too, a quantity was collected by the junk dealers. "As for nickel getting to Germany, there were a number of things to provide against that. The British Government has its eye on every source of nickel on the American side," said he. "They could not forward enough to be worth while without being observed. There were supplies of nickel in the United States in the possession of persons anxious to get it to Germany. They had never been able to forward it; they were too carefully watched. "It had been said that the Norwegian output was only 400 tons. Germany was actually getting 1000 tons a year from one source along in Norway. Getting it for Years. "For several years before the war Germany took the bulk of the output of the International Nickel Company. They got nickel from Tasmania and New Caledonia. Then, too, they have deposits of their own in Germany, in Saxony. They have been getting nickel for a long time. With what they have collected they are able to keep going with what they get from Norway and from their own mines. "The best evidence that they cannot get enough in their strenuous efforts to get more. That shows that they are practically out of it, also why should they want more? Twenty-five or fifty tons is a mere bagatelle. With a fleet of Deutschlanders they could not get enough."

Britain Satisfied. "A newspaper or a man who will say that Germany is getting our nickel, slaying our soldiers with our own nickel, when he knows perfectly well, or should know, that the imperial authorities have assured us time and again that they are perfectly satisfied with the arrangements made and the precautions taken, is doing a lot to upset the peace of mind of the public and to stop recruiting. He has the same sources of information as we have. "He must know that not a pound of nickel can be exported without a dominion license. The authorities are able to tell where every dollar's worth of it is going. The imperial authorities have an army of observers, and they make monthly or fortnightly statements for every pound put out. That must be plain to every newspaper editor. "We shall be able to refine nickel in Canada," said the minister speaking confidently of the result of the work of the Nickel Commission. He has received a cablegram recently from Mr. Hallway that he was in Norway. Dr. Miller and Mr. Sutherland were in their Caledonia. McGregor Young, K. C., was in England where he would look into nickel legislation. J. G. Gibson was studying the question, he has an army of observers. On that the future action of the Ontario Government would depend. They might arrange a sliding tax.

They've been trying to see how much water they could put in the gasoline as far back as I can remember.

FILM ACTORS ENJOY GENUINE HOSPITALITY

E. Drexel Godfrey Proved a Fairy Prince to Madame Bertha Kalich and Her Company.

For some of the scenes in a new photoplay starring Madame Bertha Kalich, the entire company was transferred to Redbank, N.J. In an effort to find a good setting for the scenes, Director James Vincent discovered a beautiful estate on a hill. Inquiry revealed that the estate belonged to E. Drexel Godfrey. Mr. Godfrey was extremely cordial to the Fox Players, invited them to his home, and willingly gave his consent to their taking as many pictures as they liked on his grounds. He had announced to them that he had a projecting machine of his own set up in his house, and a small camera for taking moving pictures. He was, in fact, a movie fan of the first order. At nights during the stay of the company, Mr. Godfrey invited them to his house, entertained them, and showed them moving-pictures in which they themselves had acted. In the day he would follow them around the grounds watching the camera work. Many of his friends came around, and a temporary camping outfit was arranged, consisting chiefly of a great supply of cushions. When scenes were shifted to other parts of the estate, the cushions followed on a large wagon, and the temporary seats for spectators were set up.

MINISTER BELIEVES IN SCREEN SERMONS

Unitarian Preacher Prefers to Appeal to Millions Each Day.

Clarence J. Harris, who wrote the scenario of "Caprice of the Mountains," the William Fox picture in which Juno Caspary is appearing, is a retired minister. He was born in New England, and he was a Unitarian preacher for more than twenty years before he took up scenario writing. "I prefer to appeal to some millions of people every day," Mr. Harris says, "than to a few hundred every Sunday. I believe the sermons of the screen are more impressive and more vital than the sermons of the pulpit. It is no more logical for the churches to ask that the theatres be closed on Sundays than it would be for the theatres to ask that the churches be closed on week-days."

FAMOUS FILM DIRECTOR FOUGHT IN PRESENT WAR

Albert Capellani, director-general of the Clara Kimball Young Film Corporation, and producer of those famous picture plays, "Les Miserables," "Camille" and "La Vie de Boheme," served the first year of the great war with the French army. He was twice wounded, and after being decorated for bravery, received his honorable discharge as physically unfit to continue in the service. His younger brother was recently killed at Soissons.

FILM ACTOR PLAYED WITH SIR HENRY IRVING

Herbert Standing Was Also Part Lessee of Drury Lane Theatre.

Herbert Standing, famous English actor, whose acquisition by the Morocco picture forces was regarded as a loss to the stage and a gain by the films, is a connecting link between the modern industry and the traditions of the drama. With Sir George Wyndham, Herbert Standing was part lessee of the old Drury Lane Theatre in London, where he originated many famous characters. Standing played with Sir Henry Irving years ago. With these associates in mind, he went to see the premiere of Sir Beerbohm Tree's "Macbeth" in Los Angeles recently, probably with mixed emotions. The actor was full of praise for the Griffith production, however. "The stage," he said, "has its own traditions and its methods; no doubt the pictures will do the same for the silent drama."

Elwell Sacrifices for Art

George Elwell, the boy actor of the Ince forces, who scored a pronounced success in support of H. B. Warner in "The Raiders," sacrificed the hairs of his head this week for purposes of realism in the current Triangle play in which Frank Keenan is appearing as star under the direction of Reginald Barker. Young Elwell is cast as a negro jockey and rather than rely on a wig to aid him in portraying the difficult character, he suffered the barber at Ince's Culver City plant to apply the clippers to his scalp. He is being laughed at considerably, but he has the consolation of knowing that he has done what few would be brave enough to do.

TO APPEAR IN NEW DRAMA.

William H. Thompson, the veteran character actor, who already has made three distinct appearances in Triangle plays, soon will be seen again when he is presented by Thomas H. Ince as the star of a heart interest drama from the pen of C. Gardner Sullivan, entitled "The Eye of the Night." In this production Thompson plays the part of an aged keeper of a lighthouse in a small village on the coast of England, and his characterization is said to be one of the most impressive of its kind ever seen.

PLAYS WITH MABEL NORMAND.

Wheeler Oakman, who was the n'er-do-well in the Selig production of that name, is Mabel Normand's new leading man at her own Hollywood studio. Mr. Oakman quit Selig for Fox, but only remained for a single picture, Lewis J. Cody, another former Seligite, is also in the Normand company, which Director James Young presides. Miss Normand's first release will be a five reel drama.

NOW WITH VITAGRAPH.

Brought from England a short time ago because of her success in photoplays made in that country, Peggy Hyland has become a Vitagraph star. Miss Hyland appeared in one picture for Famous, "Saints and Sinners," and then asked for a release on her contract, which was granted.

BRITISH ADVANCED AT CONTALMAISON

Captured Three Guns and Several Hundred Prisoners in Drive.

FOE ATTACKS CRUSHED

Fighting Raged Round Trones Wood Sunday Afternoon and Night.

LONDON, July 10, 3.05 p.m.—British troops have made a new advance northwest of Contalmaison, in the field of their offensive north of the Somme. It was officially announced this afternoon. Three additional guns and several hundred prisoners were captured.

A British force which captured the southern end of Trones wood, north of Hardecourt, in Saturday afternoon's fighting, has extended its position northward, General Haig reported. For forty-eight hours heavy fighting has been going on in the woods. Altogether five desperate German counter-attacks were repulsed in the course of the night's fighting.

On the British front farther north the Germans bombarded British positions for three hours in the region of Hooge. In this region British troops made three successful raids on German front line trenches. The announcement follows: "In the past forty-eight hours particularly severe fighting has centered around Trones Wood, which is triangular in shape and measures some 1400 yards from north to south, with a southern base of 400 yards, and has been strongly defended by the Germans with trenches and wire entanglements."

"On the morning of July 8, after a heavy bombardment, we succeeded in capturing the southern end of the wood. Subsequently we extended our position towards the north and drove back a determined counter-attack with heavy loss to the enemy."

"Yesterday afternoon, as already reported, two more German counter-attacks in mass against our positions in the wood were crushed by our artillery. Again, last evening, the enemy bombarded the wood with all nature of armaments and launched two strong attacks against it from the east and southeast. The first of these was completely repulsed. The second succeeded in penetrating the southern end of the wood, but the Germans were at once ejected with heavy losses. Later in the night a fifth desperate attempt was made to drive us from our positions, but this also was completely crushed by our fire."

"The enemy's casualties in these five fruitless attacks have been severe. "At other places on our battle-front progress has been made. Northwest of Contalmaison we captured a small copse and three more guns, and this morning we have taken several hundred more prisoners. "On the Flanders front the enemy's artillery was active and heavily bombarded our trenches near Hooge for three hours. In this neighborhood we made three successful raids into the German front line."
