"I say, John, where did you get that rogue's hat?" "Please, yer Honor," said John, "it's an ould one o' your'n that the Misses gave me yesterday."

A Scotch paper tells the story of a farmer who, after the burial of his wife, drove a hard bargain with the grave-digger, who, bringing his hand down on the shovel, exclaimed, "Down wi' anither shillin', or up she comes!"

Yves Guyot, the Paris journalist, tells how King Louis XVIII., when he returned from exile, asked Fouché if his movements had been watched by spies. Fouché admitted that the Duc de Blacas had been so employed. "And how much did you give him?" asked Louis. "Two hundred thousand livres," was the reply. "Good," said the monarch. "I find he did not cheat me. We went halves."

George Washington never told a lie; but it must be remembered that he entered politics when the country was very new.

"There's nothing like settling down," said the retired merchant confidentially to his neighbor. "When I gave up business I settled down and found I had quite a fortune. If I had settled up, I should not have had a cent."

"Couldn't you find room enough for yourself on that bench, without pushing him off on the floor?" asked an Austin school teacher of the bad boy of the school. "I didn't want any room for myself," was the reply: "I wasn't crowded at all." "Then why did you push him off?" "To give him more room. He was the boy who was crowded, so I pushed him off to give him plenty of room. There is a great deal more room off of a bench than there is on it."
