MOTHER PLEADS FOR RETURN OF HER BABE

Little One Kidnapped in New York—A Pathetic Letter

Mrs. Edna Wentz of 725 Home street, the Bronx, New York, whose ten-week-old child, Arthur, was stolen on July 29, from the baby carriage at 150th street and Third avenue, sent last week to the press of the city a letter containing a pitiful plea for the return of the child. The document which is four pages long, is to the effect that if the person who took the child will only return it by leaving it in the baby carriage under the stairway of the Home street address no questions will be asked and no prosecution will be instituted.

She asks in the letter how can the person hold the child from her, feed the child, dress it, put it to sleep without realizing that the mother of the child is heartbroken for just one glimpse of her baby.

The anguish which she suffers is aggravated almost daily by her nine-year-old son William, who is continually asking for his baby brother.

Here is the letter:
New York, Aug. 22, 1919.
To the Dear Public:
You all have read about my dear little baby Arthur Philip Wentz, of 725 Home street, being stolen from his carriage in front of Blumstein's department store at 150th street and Third avenue on July 29, 1919, about 5.13 p. m., while I was in the store but for a few minutes. I appeal to you all to help me if you know of anyone who suddenly had a baby boy that never had one before. Won't you please let me hear from you, so I could investigate and see if it is mine?

Perhaps the woman who took little Arthur is afraid to return him to me for fear I would prosecute her, but I promise upon my word of honor that nothing will harm her. Why don't she bring him to my home late at night and put him in his carriage and then she could go away unknown and without any guilt?

How can she dress and feed him without knowing how? She is breaking my heart and torturing my soul. I cannot understand what kind of a heart she has. Does not her conscience tell her the wrong she is doing? Little Willie, my nine-year-old boy, always asks why did they take his brother when all these years we have had none. Couldn't she get one from a home, where there are so many little babies without mammas and papas? If only she will restore the sunshine to our little home once more how happy we would be as I hope and pray night and day that she will open my basement door and leave little Arthur in his carriage that stands there so forlorn looking.

I am broken hearted and will die of grief if I don't get him back. Won't you all help me to find him, as he is now ten weeks old and as he was all our joy and sunshine of life.

HIS BROKEN HEARTED MOTHER.

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. Mary McFarlane.
The death of Mrs. Mary McFarlane, widow of George McFarlane, occurred at her late residence, Richmond street yesterday. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Joseph Burns of Roxbury (Mass.). The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning at 8.45 o'clock, from Fitzpatrick's undertaking rooms, with high mass and requiem at the Cathedral.

"Billie" Bigelow Dies.
Sackville, N.B., Aug. 25.—The many friends of Professor Bigelow, dean of Applied Science at the University of Mt. Allison, will sympathize with him in the death of his young son "Billie" which occurred at Moncton yesterday afternoon.

Frank J. Wilson, a well known resident of Sackville, passed away of Sackville, N.B., is ill at her home after a plunge in the Washademoak Lake from the wharf at McDonald's Corner. Before leaving for the corner a few days ago she said goodbye to her friends saying she would not return, but the reason for her act is not explained. Mrs. Brander has relatives in St. John who had often asked her to live with them.

Captain Albert Morrison of Lubec, a boatman, has been arrested in connection with the smuggling of Chinese across the Canadian border, at Eastport. Henry Burns, arrested in this case, and said to belong to St. John, is now believed to have come from Amherst.

The Methodists of the St. Stephen, N.B., district have accepted their share in the forward movement objective of $150,000 as $8,500 and have appointed a strong committee to see about raising that amount.

A. T. Weldon, assistant freight traffic manager for the C. N. R., Moncton, where he has been transferred, was the recipient of a silver tea service from his fellow employees. The presentation was made by Owen Cameron.

The jury inquiring into the death of Wm. Stevens, Jr. of Sunny Brae, N. B., killed in the C. N. R. yards at Moncton, returned a verdict that he had been killed by being struck by a blind car, but held no one responsible for the accident.

BRITISH CLERGYMEN

CONDEMN FASHIONS

One-Piece Bathing Suits for Women Scantier and Tighter Than Ever

London, Aug. 26.—Fashion's edict had prescribed a liberal display of back for fashionable British women this winter, but the women are not waiting for cold weather. Clergymen are condemning some of the present modes as intolerable. One-piece bathing suits at the beaches are scantier and more snugly fitting than ever before. The Rev. F. B. Meyer, a Nonconformist Church leader and writer said:—
"Many girls think that men can be won by the flesh. But men are too sensible. They are not going to marry girls who go about half-naked. One aim of many girls seems to be to attract men, and that may account for the present styles. A man may flirt with a girl who goes to extremes in these fashions, but he will not marry her."

He said he doesn't set himself up as a censor of clothes, but he added: "I only know what I see in the streets. But what I think is that women seem to have lost that restraint and modesty and befitting style of dress which characterized them during the war."
