LADIES' DAY.

Impolite Language—A Society Event—A Ferocious Dog.

Three drunks were arrested on Saturday night, two men and a woman, but the woman and one of the men managed to elevate the atmosphere to the extent of eight dollars possible to her, and she was allowed to go home. They did not appear in court this morning, and the deposits were declared forfeited.

Heroin the two made a mistake, for the third prisoner, who remained in jail until this morning, got off for four dollars. The engagement is announced of James Burns, of Blood Alley, a son of the south, and Mary Harrang, of the same place. Some time ago James plucked Mary from the street and took her to his house, where he has since afforded her the greatest comfort and utmost protection his humble cottage could afford. Naturally the companionable pair developed, into a much deeper feeling, and in court this morning James and his fiancée appeared. They declared their love for each other and expressed a desire to be married. The court was unable to come to a decision, and advised the tender doves to call upon a clergyman. But here arose the difficulty. James cannot afford a license nor the fee for the minister, so he earnestly pleaded for the protection of the court for a couple of weeks until he earns enough money to fix things. Mary is his housekeeper and has been acting in that capacity for some time, but he will be able to have the ceremony performed in at least two weeks.

This was ladies' day all right at the court, for nearly everyone who appeared on any business belonged to the gentler sex. It was found almost impossible to keep track of the names, especially in the abusive and obscene language case from Sheriff street. In this affair the trouble arose over a fight between some small boys engaged in carrying in a load of wood. They engaged in a very noisy and obscene language case from Sheriff street. Fourteen Italians were taken out today to permit fourteen Italians to work on the road at Sand Point. The foreigners were brought in because a number of the hands celebrated too well last week and delayed the work. They were discharged. The Italians will at first be paid by the hour and afterwards by the ton, the usual way. West side laborers complain that the Italians should not have been brought here while there was plenty of sober local labor to be obtained. Mr. Jameson says that he is sorry anything unpleasant has arisen, but he intends to conduct his own business.

In all seventeen Italians were brought here from Boston. Three foreigners, who had been working at Sydney, were sent out to the States. They were sent over to work on the road.

An indignation meeting was held at Lower Cove today by some of the workmen who are put out of employment and a number of sympathizers. No definite action was taken in the matter just then.

AT THE PARK YESTERDAY.

Thousands of citizens went to Rockwood park yesterday. A few went in carriages, but the vast majority walked. Men, women and children were there, and groups were found at almost every point along the roads, over all the various areas of the park. The May-cherry and the honeysuckle were in bloom in the waste places, and everywhere there was something to delight the senses. The Salvation Army held a service in the sheltered green-ward behind the tea house, and hundreds stood or sat around listening to the songs and exhortations. A very high wind made the dust of the roads impregnate disagreeably upon the attention of pedestrians, but that was a minor consideration. And all the people wondered how long it would be before some means would be provided by which the charms of the park could be enjoyed by the people without the long walk that is now necessary.

THE TOURIST SEASON.

Mrs. Rupert E. Olive returned on Saturday from a trip through Nova Scotia in the interests of the Tourist association. She visited Digby, Annapolis, Kentville, Wolfville, Windsor, Halifax and Yarmouth. At every place she found the most friendly feeling expressed toward the St. John association and its work. The valley, she says, is very beautiful now, as the season appears to be three weeks earlier than usual. The hotels for tourists will open about June first. At Digby and Yarmouth additions have been made to hotels and everything is now ready for the opening of the season. A great many cottages and quarters in private hotels and houses have been engaged for the season by people who will come along a little later.

Mrs. Olive will go this week to the north shore, and visit places in that locality.

The office of the Tourist association is at 85 Prince William street, and all communications sent in are promptly attended to.

THAT LADDER TRUCK.

Members of the fire department are now hoping that since the authorities have not deemed it wise to furnish an extra horse for the new ladder truck, they may be going to get two horses. The delay was doubtless caused by the impression which prevailed in the minds of the board that one extra horse would not be sufficient, and were only waiting a further test. It was shown at the alarm yesterday that four horses had quite enough to do to pull the machine up Jefferson Hill, and probably this is the test which has been needed. The firemen deny the report that the ladder truck is to be put in a glass case and placed on King Square.
