Job's Patience and Faith—"Though He Slay Me Yet Will I Trust Him."—Eloquent and Scholarly Sermon by the Lord Bishop of Oxford.

"Though He slay me, yet will I trust in Him: but I will maintain mine own ways before Him."—Job xiii.:15.

Here are two statements set before us, two different lines of thought in dicated in the speaker's mind, and from each there is a lesson to be learnt, as well as a deep lesson from the blending of the two together. Let us first consider the second statement, the second clause. "But I will maintain mine own ways before God." So speaks the patriarch Job. He sat there in utmost misery. He had lived a careful, a respectable, a religious, a God-fearing life; and suddenly, in wave on wave, the storm of disaster had broken upon him. One calamity after another had befallen him, and he proposed in the speaker of disaster had broken upon him. One calamity after another had befallen him, and the great amphitheatre, and Central Tibe, who proved the second clause. "But I will maintain mine own ways before God." So speaks the patriarch Job. He sat there in utmost misery. He had lived a careful, a respectable, a religious, a god-fearing life; and suddenly, in wave on wave, the storm of disaster had broken upon him. One calamity after another had befallen him, and he had broken upon him. One calamity SPLENDOR AND CERTAINTY OF after another had befallen him, and he FAITH. whose lot had seemed as enviable as

A case of extortion which has seldom been equalled in this province occurred here last week. The guilty party is the proprietor of a small sum mer boarding house on the north shore. One of his guests was about shore. One of his guests was about leaving on return to New York, when the proprietor presented a bill of $42 for horse hire. The items were as follows: Driving to Hunter River, a distance of 10 miles, with luggage, $7; next time with no luggage, $3, and return, $3; driving Colin Simpson, $5; driving two friends, $8; driving to New Glasgow, $2, and on leaving with luggage, $14. The guest was compelled to pay the bill, but he at once came to Charlottetown and entered proceedings. The case was not allowed to come to trial the extortione currence. Dr. Kennedy and wife and Dr. Maoney have left here to locate in Winnipeg. They are spending a few days en route visiting friends in St. Andrews, N. B. Dr. Bell has purchased town. Dr. Robins, late of Springfield. Mass., and a native of Bedeque, is also opening an office here. Dr. W. H. Pethick accompanied by his wife and son, have gone to Picton, where the doctor will start his experimental station in connection with the Pictou county cattle disease. Much interest has been taken in ton of W. S. Strickland, a lawyer of that city and a former councillor. Mr. Strickland is well/known here, and his father has resided in Charlottetow for years. While the charges against him are annarently ordinary violations story which has generally been told about his case. With regard to him it has been alleged at various times that instead of being a Maine man he came from the provinces, and that he was elected and served as a member WAPELLA, N. W. T., Sept. 2.-This own was treated to a piece of sensational news today when it was announced that Mr. Jno. Rowell had recovered his hearing through the use of Catarrhozone. He was totally deaf, but Catarrhozone has restored his hearing. Catarrhozone is great praise and should be used by everyone suffering from impaired hear-ing or catarrhhal deafness; it seldom fails to cure. All druggists sell Catarrhozone.
