COMMISSIONER TO RECOMMEND ACCEPTANCE OF KIND OFFER

Property at The Glades Will Probably Become Provincial Sanatorium for Tuberculosis as Result of Munificence of Mrs. J. C. Jordan—Physicians Pleased With Situation of Buildings

The tuberculosis commission visited the Glades near Petticoat yesterday to inspect the property offered by Mrs. J. C. Jordan of Boston as a site for a provincial sanatorium. Those present included Doctors P. R. Inches, A. P. McAvenny and J. R. McIntosh of this city; Dr. W. D. Rankine, of Woodstock; Dr. T. J. Bourque, M. P., of Richibucto, and Dr. Robertson of Keswick, Carleton county. The city doctors left yesterday morning and returned last night after making a thorough inspection of the whole property. They are highly impressed with it and will report to the government that it is admirably situated for the purpose proposed. It is the understanding that while the property as it stands now will prove ideal for the administration of a provincial sanatorium, it will be necessary to build wards and with this understanding the commission will recommend the government to accept the kind offer of Mrs. Jordan, who is willing to give the property to the province.

Suitable in Every Way. To a Standard reporter last evening Dr. Inches in discussing the visit of the commission, said they were all very highly pleased with the property. There are 400 acres of land, partly cleared, and the house, stables and outbuildings are in the best condition. The water supply is excellent, as there is a stream running through the property. From a scenic standpoint the site of the building could not be surpassed. It is situated on land which, the doctor describes, as being neither too high or too low, but just right for a building of the kind.

The house is well built and handsomely finished in native woods, and the nineteen rooms are fitted with all modern conveniences usually found in a well appointed country house. There is also a herd of high grade Jersey cattle which would ensure an unfailing supply of milk, an important consideration in a sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis.

The house is furnished in the finest manner, and all the furnishings and equipments are included in the offer of Mrs. Jordan, who is willing to report at once to the government, and their report will be in favor of the acceptance of the property and the establishment of the sanatorium.

DR. TORREY TELLS SEVEN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE IN HARBOR

Way of Eternal Life Subject of Evangelist Last Evening—Singing by Sunbeam Choir Attractive Feature.

The evangelistic services in the Queens Rink, featured by the splendid singing of the largest choir ever organized in eastern Canada, continue to attract increasing interest and draw large congregations. Owing to the wet weather the attendance at the meeting last evening was not as great as usual, but it was remarked that the percentage of men present was very large. On the platform to the right of the preacher's stand, was ranged the Sunbeam choir, recently organized by Mr. McEwen—row on row of dainty maidens arrayed in white and with white ribbons in their flowing hair, as pretty a picture of youth and innocence as one might see anywhere.

On Eternal Life. Dr. Torrey preached an eloquent and moving sermon upon the way of Eternal Life. Intense but calm, speaking in the conviction of a man sure of himself and his message, he held the rapt attention of his audience and appealed to the reason as well as to the hearts of men and women.

Some people, he said, tried to win eternal life by going to church on Sunday, by observing the Ten Commandments, by saying their prayers three times a day, by attending Holy Communion, and conforming to all the other rites and ceremonies of the church, but this was not the way marked out by the good book. God offered men the blessed gift of eternal life, and made it known that if they would accept Jesus this gift would be theirs. Only by accepting Christ as their personal Saviour could men be sure of obtaining eternal life.

Once he was preaching in Philadelphia when one of the best known police magistrates and politicians of the Quaker city came in to the meeting. He preached the same sermon and tried to point out the way of life as he was doing tonight. The judge probably came in to hear him out of curiosity, but the spirit of the Lord came upon him and he went home troubled in mind.

Judge Converted. Next day the judge came to him and said: "I heard you preach last night. You said if I reject Christ then God will reject me. If I accept Jesus as my Saviour then God will accept me. The sentences kept reverberating in my brain. I went home and tried to sleep but I could not. I could not escape the insistent message of those pregnant words of the preacher. At last I went on my knees and prayed. I have come to tell you, Dr. Torrey, that I have accepted Jesus."

Next day the judge went to court and took his seat on the bench. When the prisoners were brought in and the policemen were standing around he arose in his place and addressed the crowded court room saying what he said to me. And then he added: "I want you all to know that I have accepted Jesus."

The papers that evening came out with big headlines: "An impressive scene in the police court. Judge designs to announce that he attended Dr. Torrey's meeting and has accepted Christ."

Continuing the speaker told a number of stories illustrating the power of the Gospel to touch and make over the hearts of men. Once, he said, a drunken man came into one of his meetings, and was brought up to the front seat. A man in the audience was giving his testimony of the raising power of the Word. The drunk man hiccupped and growled: "Do you believe what he is saying?"

The speaker had the drunken man taken to his office at the back of the platform, and after the meeting he went in and preached Christ to him. The man sobered up, and the spirit wrought with him.

A Drunkard Reformed. Next day the man got a job, and went to work. He was a man of ability, brought low through drink, and he rose again rapidly. Soon he obtained an important position with a great railway. But he wanted to work for his Master, and he began to study for the ministry. Unfortunately he contracted consumption and died. His mother sent the preacher the picture of her boy.

That picture he kept on the mantel in his study in Chicago—it showed
