The exhibitor took it eagerly, gave one look at it, and then, with visible embarrassment, said "Your Highness will pardon me, but this is not the right flea."

BA CHANCE FOR MORMONS,—The Aylmer Times states that at the last session of the Court of Queen's Bonch in that of the Court of Queen's Bench in that village, "a man wastried for bigamy papers purporting to pe ecrificates of his wo marriages were produced, the two largymen that performed the two marriage ceremonies were examined, and he was confronted with the two women to whom he had pledged fidelity and protection. The counsel for the defence stated that as these certificates did not appear to have been signed by the contracting parties, and did not contain a statement that they could not sign their names, and as no person could claim the title of wife and the civil effects of marriage unless a certificate of marriage unless a certificate of marriage

By general sonsent the hypecrite is set down in the same category with the cheat, if not at the bottom of the list. The man who pretends to be what he is not is universally regarded as a fraud and capable of overreaching in a bargain if not of tapping a till or picking a pocket. To profess what one does not believe is a species of lying for which there was a show of excuse in ages when the penalty of holding heretical opinions was burning at the stake, but has no excuse in our tolerant days. And the man who is not intellectually honest enough to confess his real convictions, but shuffles and potters and hides behind phrases which mean one thing to one mind and another thing to another, commits a great offence against the integrity of his own mind and the sanctity of the truth.
