Dear Mr. Murray,

I have read with great interest and much real pleasure your address to Scotia's sons in Hamilton on St. Andrew's day. I have been amazed at its survey of present day questions, and Canadian problems in particular. Your personal references are also most generous, and I should like to thank you in particular for your thoughtfulness in bringing my name into the poem. It is only one more of many like kindnesses for which I shall always be indebted to you.

Yours sincerely,

(Sgd.) W. L. MACKENZIE KING
