

MR. WILLIAM LE QUEUX'S NOVELS.

OPINIONS IN 1907.

"Mr. William Le Queux is the master of the sensational novel. He never lets us pause for an instant to take breath."—The Daily Mail.

"Probably no other living Englishman knows so much of the political undercurrents on the Continent as Mr. William Le Queux."—M.A.P.

"There is no defter hand at the compounding of a thoroughly satisfactory mystery than Mr. Le Queux. He holds the reader in breathless suspense throughout."—Literary World.

"It is needless to recommend Mr. William Le Queux. He has an audience always ready for more."—Queen.

"Certainly the age of the mystery novel does not seem likely to pass away so long as Mr. William Le Queux lives and writes."—Morning Post.

"Mr. William Le Queux's mysteries can always be recommended to the tired reader."—Times.

"A recent inquiry of the principal public libraries in the country shows that Mr. Le Queux's books are more in demand than those of any other author."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"Mr. William Le Queux is the favorite novelist of both Queen Alexandra and the King of Italy."—Scotsman.

"Those who like good mysteries should read the novels of Mr. Le Queux. He never disappoints you."—Globe.