The imports of cement into the United States declined from 919,555,343 pounds imported for ten months ending April, 1903, to 562,520,199 pounds ending April 30, 1904. The value of cement imports for this period in 1903 was $2,914,031, against the value of $1,837,211 for 1904, showing a net decline for 1904 of $1,076,820.

The City Surveyor of Montreal, in his last report, says: "During the past season 60,969 square yards, or about 11.4 miles of permanent sidewalks were constructed. In this connection, I may say the sum total of permanent sidewalks laid during the year just ended far exceeds that of any previous twenty years, and if this work is carried on at the same rate every year and provision made for its maintenance, the city will soon be in a condition to compare favorably with the most progressive cities. During the year in question a great deal of permanent paving was done."
