The activity in grain chartering con-tinuce, and there is a steady demand for additional boats for August and September loading. There is also a moderate inquiry in a few other of the transatiantic trades, and three large carriers were closed for trips on time charter. West India, South America and long voyage business of all kinds is scarce. Tonnage offers in limited quantities, and the tendency of rates for August and September Boats is somewhat firmer. There is nothing new to report in the sail tonnage mar-ket, and no change or improvement in
