Corner of Prince and Hoffis streets, Catechism of Baptism. CATECHISM OF BAPTISM. By Dun-

Lean D. Currie, of the Conference of E B Amrica: New York, 1864. The following favourable notices of this pamphlet have appeared:

"This is a pamphlet of fifty pages, neatly printed on good paper. This Catechism is not devoid of elegance and learning; but, without descending to rulgarity, it yields each response in words of convincing simplicity, which will do more to allay the honest anxiety, or prejudice of many minds, than all the logic of the most claborate treatises on the subject. We should like to see this pamphlet scattered over the country by tens of thousands. It will, we are confident, save scores, if not hunreds or thousands, of those disquieted beings who are incessmantly plied with argument and entreaty, and ultimately yield rather than live in a state of ndecision. Put Mr. Currie's catechism in their hands at any moment before the absolute crisis has been reached, and in nine cases out of ten, with God's blessing, it will decide the question adverse to immersion. — Correspondence of Provincial

"The object of this book is to correct what the writer supposes to be erroneous views with regard to Baptism; and to establish the validity of in-fant baptism, and baptism by affusion, rather than ly attracts our attention, we have found an atten-tive perusal of this book very interesting, and it must prove a valuable hund-book for Theologians who hold views similar to Mr. Currie; and its arguments may prove, for aught we know, diffi ones for opposite thinkers to controvert.
