"The country as a whole never looked better than it does at present," said Dr. McGill. "The weather was made to order, as you might say, and I am of the opinion that this year's harvest will be another wonderful one."

Making Window Gardens in Which the Blooms Are Babies

WINDOW boxes filled with human flowers bloom on the verandas of the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases in New York, and it is hoped that the little crippled children who now occupy the boxes will soon blossom into whole and entire human beings.

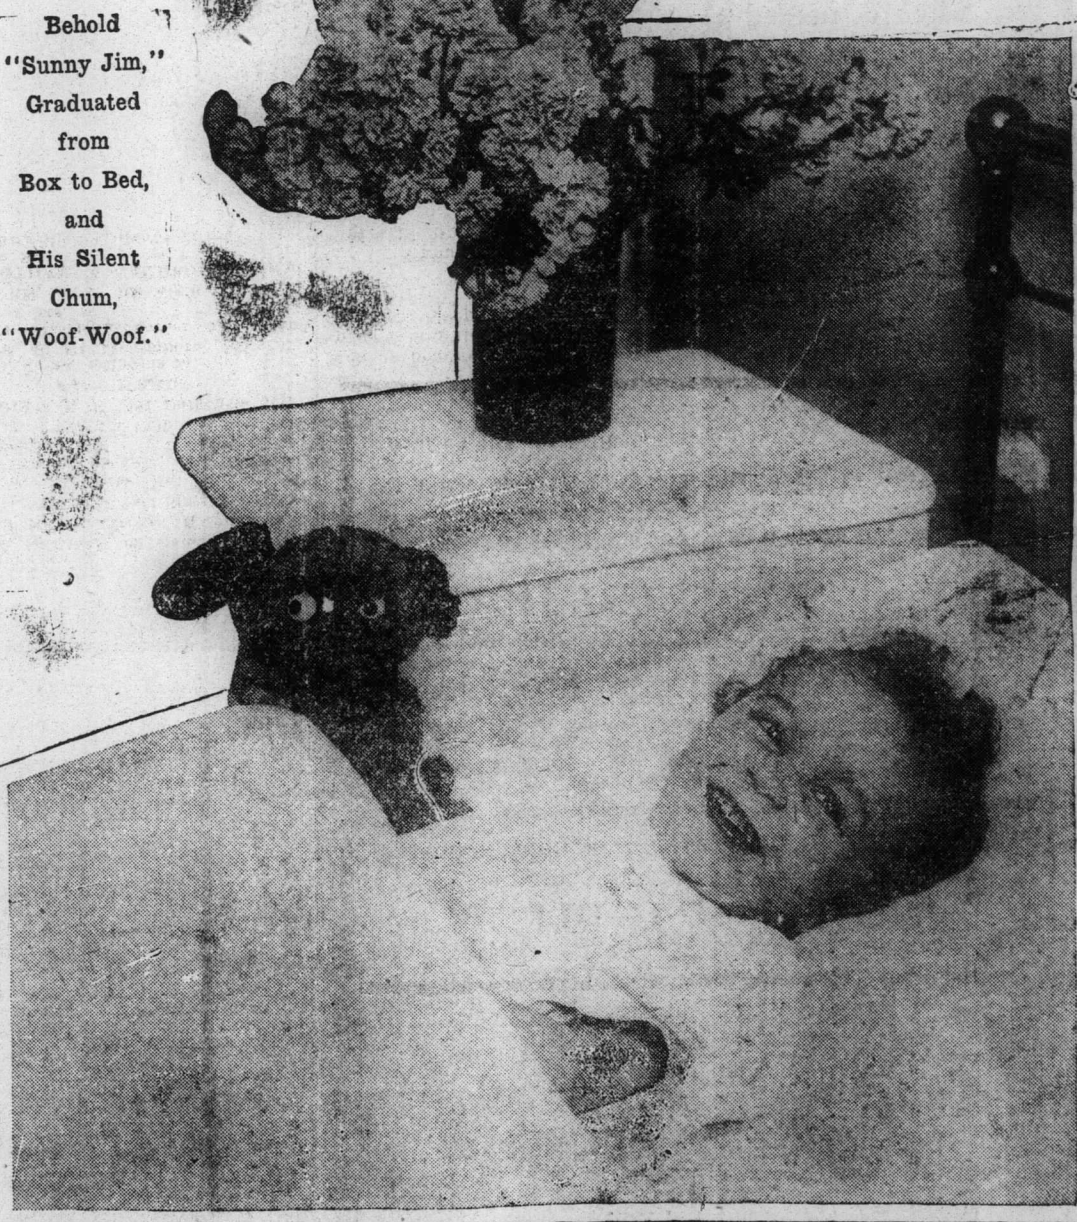

In the window receptacles, which are painted green, and are just large enough to comfortably hold the body of a young child, the children stay all the while long day through with their little limbs incased in plaster.

From 30 other states deformed and helpless babies have been sent to profit by the outdoor treatment which has made well so many seemingly hopeless bits of humanity.

The children seem to appreciate and to understand much that is being done for them, and respond by being cheery and sunny. One little lad, James Doyle by name, has earned the sobriquet of "Sunny Jim" from all the attendants for his sweet, patient smile and huge good humor. He has graduated from the boxes and is now in bed, his limbs still incased in a plaster cast. He hastens to inform you that he has been there nine months, is better and will soon be playing with the other boys.

The hospital is entirely too small for the demands made upon it. It has a waiting list of 100 serious cases and over 300 minor ones awaiting admission.

It is the hope of the authorities that the roof may soon be converted into a garden, where more room space can be given the children who need the sun and air to help in the treatment.

Behold
"Sunny Jim," Graduated from
Box to Bed, and
His Silent
Chum,
"Woof-Woof."

RED SOX WON AT ST LOUIS

Fight Between Players and Considerable Zest to the Game.

St. Louis, Aug. 7.—A fist fight between Austin and Thomas added thrill to Sunday's 1 to 0 victory of the Red Sox over the Browns. The sixth Austin fanned at a high on the inside, turned around, to Thomas' mask, and the two exchanged punches for several minutes. Fire Chili stepped between the fliers, and a right to the jaw at Austin floored the umpire. Police and players separated pugilists, with the popular decision going to Thomas. Both players put out of the game.

The only run of the tussle came the fifth. With two out, Foster led to the right. Hooper beat a bounder off Koo's glove and Fry singled, Foster crossing the plate. Foster gave but three hits. Score:
