We want to engage your attention about our Dress Goods Stock. If you have any thought of buying a dress you ought to see it. We are told repeatedly that there is nothing like them in Brockville for style and value. Ladies are good judges, and when they pass judgment it is generally correct. We have all the new makes and styles in Dress Goods, and some lovely new patterns in Challies. We will show the stock with pleasure.

Our stock of Spring Carpets has all arrived. As usual it is the largest selection you will see in this section, probably twice as large as any other stock. It comprises all grades of Brussels, Tapestry, Wool, Union and Homp Carpets, also Velvet Carpets, Mattings, Carpet Squares with border all around, and Floor Oilcloths. Tapestry Carpets range from 80c. to $1.00 per yard. Brussels Carpets at 85c., 95c., $1.00, $1.10 to $1.25. Borders to match a great many patterns. Also Stair Carpets. Prices guaranteed as low or lower than the same quality of goods can be bought for, either in Brockville or in the city. We will not be satisfied until you are satisfied. We guarantee them as represented or money refunded. We solicit the favor of a call of inspection. Carpeting and making attended to when desired.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR STAFF OF CORRESPONDENTS.

A Budget of News and Gossip.—Personal Intelligence.—A Little of Everything Well Mixed up.
LYNDHURST.

Some of the low land crops have suffered from the wet, but the pastures and meadows are in fine condition.

Mr. Delbert Danby came home from Michigan to attend the funeral of his only child. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Danby in their sad bereavement.

The Members of Court Lyndhurst, I. O. F. were prepared to attend divine service at the Methodist Church, but they did find fault with Mr. Horner's method of "converting" sinners. Calling the Athens Reporter and its correspondent names will be of no advantage to Mr. Horner, and will not advance the cause of christianity.

The impudence of Fair Play in dictating to the Recorder what items they are to copy from their exchanges surpasses that of a cent a piece. Mr. Horner, it appears, hypnotised Fair Play. I only hope he will not lose his senses before the new asylum is built in Brockville. In concluding this letter I will only add this: that if Mr. Horner is a true servant of the Lord, from all such servants, good Lord, deliver us.

AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT

MONDAY, July 4.—Lively times at the Byre Mtg. Co. works—running over-time.

Recalling the memory of the oldest inhabitant was there so much water passing through Lynd on 1st of July as this year.

A large number took in the A. O. U. W. excursion to Newboro on Dominion Day, and had a pleasant time.

The wet weather makes the strawberry harvest very unpleasant. A large number of Indians are employed. Ojibway boys buy their berries, make and selling baskets and bead-work. The Indians lounge around, some of them devising schemes to procure a supply of fire-water.

Typographical errors sometimes make quite a difference. In your rendering of my item in reference to the Horner matter two weeks ago you made me say, "When a man gets loaded up with self-righteousness, look out for your copper." It should be, queer capers.

OAK LEAF.

MONDAY, July 4.—This wonderful progress that is being made in this vicinity, especially in the educational line. One of the latest novelties is the teaching of Geography to the "birds of the air." To carry out this idea (we believe) Mr. Johnson has placed a large map in his corn field so that the crows, when picking out his corn may be improving their intellect by a careful scrutiny of the map. We are of the opinion that this idea was originated while Mr. Johnson was mastering classical in Athens high school. Our teacher spent last Tuesday morning in Athens, he having two pupils writing on the entrance examination, and during his absence the chair was ably filled and the roll was handled by Miss Maggie Johnson.

Building is booming, the structures varying in size from very large barns to small hen houses, but the latter are more represented by numbers to Mr. Godkin.

Crops look well, but a little too much rain.

Now that the holidays are at hand we advise any one to see their cattle before the road to take care that their cattle do not get within the school premises or the owner of such cattle shall be certainly called upon to clean the yard.

The school ground is the pride of this section, and we object to its being made a night pasture.

One of the funniest things we have seen for some time was witnessed last Wednesday evening viz: our Waterville farmer cultivating potatoes with his twenty year old hired man riding the horse. If one were to compare the sizes of horse and rider he would say "twice better if the man would carry the horse."

REDAN.

MONDAY, July 4.—I had a great number of interesting items relating to the good people of this place, but returning rather to my own people, my best girl, safely through the woods. I lost my way and my valuable memoranda—a private loss, a public calamity.

The English church is progressing as fast as possible in the unfavorable weather for building. This beautiful edifice will soon form one more adornment that will for generations grace and embellish this fine centre of morals and rural industry.

Mr. Wm. Harvey, a member of the firm McLaughlin Bros., Amport, during his annual business visit to the great lumber centres of the West and South, called at the home of his boyhood. He is a remarkable man and very genial. Mrs. Harvey, the guest of Mrs. Charlie Goff, is a merry-hearted lady of wealth and taste, but loves this locality more in its rustic simplicity than the most renowned summer resorts.

Mr. Charlie Goff has the finest piece of spring wheat (a new variety) that we have seen, and the finest piece of potatoes between the river and the Redan. Charlie has the ground to build a new house when the big storm is over. "It appears that the rain-makers at Washington have been tinkering with Nature's meteorological laboratory until they have got the machine off at a high rate, and they can't stop it. Why not let well enough alone? They ought to be arraigned at the bar of public opinion and punished for such extravagant conduct."

When Mr. Wm. Lee undertakes to move his building he looks off. He is regarded as an excellent hand at such work.

A very excellent young man from Greenbush has stormed the Redan. The capture of this time is a fair daughter of a good farmer who lives near the old fort.

If any of the Brockville or Lynd gentlemen in their rabbit haunts should find any memoranda we appeal to their honor not to reveal our notes on gossip, as they were not written for the public ear.

W. S. H.

DELTA.

MONDAY, July 4.—Mr. P. W. Strong was here last week looking after his cheese factory.

Mr. Davis, of Brockville, is the guest of Rev. W. F. Perley this week.

A number of men went to Lyndhurst to attend the Conservative meeting at the Agricultural hall.

Fred Vanalstine of Kingston is visiting his parents here.

J. H. Monlton has moved his furniture and all other stock to his new place in the South.

A large band of gypsies passed through here last week peddling tinware and lace.

We are pleased to hear of the recovery of Mr. Alvin Wilkes from his fatal illness. He is able to go around.

A number of ladies and gentlemen took in the A. O. U. W. excursion to Newboro last Friday and returned home in the evening. There were several new faces to Delta people and they had an enjoyable time.

Miss Fannie Hazelton has gone to Saad Bay to visit her friends.

We had a heavy rain last Saturday. There are many floods around the village.

ADDISON.

From an occasional correspondent.

MONDAY, July 4.—In looking over the columns of the Reporter I see that most of the correspondents to your interesting journal are noting the progress of their several localities. I thought I would send you in a few items this week about our quiet little village.

Crops on the high lands are looking splendid, but with extra good. The new variety that the farmers of this section imported from Huron Co., known as the "Hybrid Mediterranean", is something extra. Meadows are going to be the heaviest, in many places.

The lodge nights of the A. O. U. W. and I. O. G. T. cause quite a stir in the village, as the meetings of both societies are largely attended.

The great cheese sale at Moffatt & Scott's is making lively times in the village. The smiling countenance of Mr. Moffatt tells that quick sales and small profits is the way to do business.

There is a rumor in the air that our ex-mayor is about to join the great army of Benedict. His frequent visit to the vicinity of the Redan, gives color to the report.

BROCKVILLE CHEESE BOARD.

Special to the Reporter.

THURSDAY, June 30.—The market was well represented by gentlemen anxious to purchase and sell goods. There was a solid decline in price of colored goods, equal to 1/2 of a cent per lb. White goods declined 1/4 of a cent below that of last week. Buying was not general but solid in form among those wanting the goods. Every box offered could have changed hands at the prices paid. In a few cases the salesman refused to let their offerings go. We think, however, nearly every offering was closed out soon after adjournment of the board. President Singleton being absent, his chair was occupied by Professor Meech, vice-president. The sale moved nicely with the Professor as master of ceremonies. The offerings were: 3,196 colored; 5,084 white, a total of 8,280, which was about 2,000 short of actual sales. Ruling prices paid: 1-1/2c. below high and low points made. Cable, 45 shillings.

The make of cheese is said to be the largest and best in the history of the trade in Eastern Ontario, with fairly good prices for the goods. Comparing the market with the same date last year, and taking into consideration the shortness of the make at that time, a stronger tone is evident all around. Not only is the price higher, but there is also a certainty of a heavy make during the summer, which must be satisfactory to those interested in the production.

The members of Franklinville Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters will hold a strawberry social in the grove of Mrs. Soper, Esq., on Thursday evening next. The inst. A. interesting programme is being prepared.

A RELIC OF THE LONG AGO.

A few days ago a friend who went through the late negotiations between the Northern and Southern States, as a soldier attached to a Wisconsin regiment, handed us a letter that fell into his hands by the capture of a Confederate bearer of dispatches. While sorting out the contents of the letter, which being addressed to the captured man, and not possessing any value as a public document, was retained by him as a curiosity. The letter was written by the man's sweetheart, who, for her country's cause, was teaching school in one of the Confederate states. A few weeks after this, while raiding in the enemy's country, the company to which our friend belonged was billeted for dinner at a little village, and at the house to which our friend was assigned he met the young lady who wrote the letter. He drew her into conversation and to him she expressed the same love of country and principles and the same deadly hatred of the Northerners that she had expressed in such terse, bitter and eloquent lines in her letter. One line our friend thought he would produce the letter and explain the circumstances under which they came into his possession, but a look into the depths of those lustrous black eyes made him reconsider that discretion was the better part of valor and he wisely determined to retain the secret within his own breast. We give quotations from this letter simply to show the feelings that actuated the people of the South in their determination to keep and perpetuate their own peculiar institutions, and their hatred for those who wished (as they thought) to deprive them of the same. The language and the sentiments expressed are, from a Southern standpoint, grand, noble and expressive, and the mind that conceived and that wrote those sentiments did not belong to a plebeian Southerner. Following is the letter, minus the endearing and private portions:—

OAKLAND, MISS., May 8, 1865.

My Darling Jimmy,— * * * I have an opportunity of sending this across the river by a steamer, and I could not resist the pleasure it would afford me to talk with you awhile. And, too, I did not know when I would have another opportunity of writing to you, if it is true, as reported, that the Confederacy east of the Mississippi is surrendered to the enemy. The condition of things on this side is truly deplorable. Demoralization fills the mass. I am shocked at the acquiescence with which a majority, within my knowledge, yields to the thought of Yankee rule. To me the contemplation of the thought is horrible. Has God forsaken us? I will not think so, even though I know we deserve it. Has all the precious blood which has been spilled upon so many hard contested fields been for naught? Have the best and bravest of our Southern land fought, bled and died for the love of one at home to have Yankee masters? Great God! has honor, truth and patriotism sunk into utter oblivion? Shall it never more be "sweet to die for one's country"? If we are soon to have the enemy among us, may God destroy me forever if I ever prove faithless to our Southern home and our own brave, true, honorable soldiers—not those who have deserted, but the firm and faithful who had rather die than bow to the Yankee yoke of bondage. Such men I love, I honor, respect them, and would sacrifice any pleasure for their comfort. I hope the war will go in Texas. Go in? Yes, till not a vestige of a Yankee nation remains.

* * * What are you doing, Jimmy? Fighting the Yankees? God grant He may give you strength and bravery to fight them to the very last hour, until there is none left to fight. Stand by your country's banner, Jimmy, be firm, true and faithful. Let not despondency find admittance into your breast for a moment; drive it away as a viper whose very breath is death. Fight, Jimmy, be true, be faithful to God, your country and yourself. If you fall, fall honorably with your face to the foe. Posterity will award you a wreath of unfading glories. Never flinch from duty that leads to the salvation of your country, the independence of the Southern States, and the teaching school about two and a half miles from Oakland. Love of occupation prompted me to it and patriotism urged me on. All the servants are with us still and faithful to labor. * * * Sister Anne is with us yet, loyal and true to her Southern home. She is as much an enthusiast as I am. Her husband has given a brave heart to the Yankee bullets. It is a deep and rankling wound, and I verily believe that were it not for Gasset (her boy), she would be tempted to don male attire and revenge the death of her husband. * * * The Yankees made a raid to Grenada New Year's day and burned the block of the Brown's Hotel; did not do much other damage. Ten Yankee transports have been to Grenada trading with the government. Bro. John wrote me that he did not even see the boats, much less trade with them. Cousin Lou received a long letter from Cousin Bod some time ago. He arrived home safely. He is still a cripple but able to ride horseback, and has joined a cavalry company. He says he will fight, play the fiddle and dance as long as there is any life left in him.
