to the oil region at this time would appear to indicate that operators still entertain hopes that they will be able to develop this field to even better paying quantities than has so far been demonstrated, as he is in close touch with some of the wealthiest United States oil organizations, who do not generally waste their time on territory that does not give promising indications of productions in large quantities.

MISS LAURA BURT

Miss Laura Burt went to London and created a historical record by sharing the honors, as Helen of Suabia, with Sir Henry Irving in his last new production of "Dante" at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane.

Alas! D. L., the well known critic, devoted six columns of the New York American to a detailed description of her successes in their country. After her contract with Sir Henry Irving expired, Miss Laura Burt, feeling she would prove successful as a manager and actress, took out her own company in a tour of the English provinces. Her venture far exceeded her most cherished hopes, and money simply poured into her coffers. At the expiration of her tour, contracts calling for her appearance in the United States had to be fulfilled, and she set sail from England with Mr. Henry Stanford.
Audiences in the Southern States have accorded her as many as eight curtain calls and demanded a speech of her in their unbounded enthusiasm.

Miss Burt plays Dorothy Vernon in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," at the Brisco Opera House tomorrow night.

MR. HENRY STANFORD

Is the young Englishman who came to New York and appeared as the leading male support of that great popular favorite, Sir Henry Irving, playing the son in Robespierre with such instantaneous success that the London, England, Telegraph printed the following cable despatch from New York, Nov. 1, 1899: Both Sir Henry Irving and Miss Terry, it is needless to say, are acclaimed by the critics, but the hit of the evening was made by Mr. Henry Stanford, in the role of Olivier.

Mr. Stanford plays Sir John Manners in Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall at the Brisco Opera House tomorrow night.

Of the Late Sir Henry Irving's Company In a $20,000 Production of

HADDON HALL.

"An exceptionally well balanced company. The entire production is a delight to the eye.—TORONTO GLOBE, DEC. 18.

"They shone resplendently. At the end of Act 3 Miss Burt, after six curtain calls, acknowledged the applause in a few happy words.—TORONTO MAIL AND EMPIRE, DEC. 18.

"A keen, literate, satisfying performance, gorgeously staged and excellently played. The audience was more enthusiastic than ever.—TORONTO WORLD, DEC. 18.

Those who missed last night's romance lost sight of a performance sure to be fruitful of pleasant memories.
Sir Henry Irving was not alone as a genius when Miss Burt and Mr. Stanford were with him.—TORONTO NEWS, Dec. 18.
