He is one of the most active and prominent speculators on the turf; he is a distinguished orator, and the aristocratic hope of the Liberals in the north. Mr. Eastty, who is really a master of elecution, feels quites at home among us, and our citizens almost claim him as one of themselves, since it was in Charlottetown, some 13 or 14 years ago, that he made his debut as a professional reader. His selections are well made, and excellently rendered. It is possible that he will return shortly before Christmas and give series of three entertainments, reading chiefly from Dickons.
