The best of good feeling pervaded the banqueters, and their beaming countenances plainly indicated that they, one and all, enjoyed the good things set before them. The climax of enthusiasm was reached when the haggis, "great chieftain of the pudding race," was introduced with regulation honors. All stood up when the skirl of the pipes announced that his haggishness was approaching, and remained on their feet while he was borne aloft around the room—preceded by the pipers playing an appropriate march. After full justice had been done the viands, the President rapped for order and the intellectual portion of the programme was entered upon. On behalf of the Club, the President extended to all present a hearty highland welcome. He then read letters regretting inability to attend from Lieutenant Governor McIntyre, U. S. Consul Vail and Col. Irving, as well as fraternal greetings from several sister societies. The toast list was then proceeded with, all the toasts being drunk in cold water. The speeches throughout were of a high order of merit, and elicited much applause and enthusiasm. Following is the list of TOASTS.

The King—God Save the King. The Day and a' Wha Honour it—Song, Scotland Yet. The Governor General—Pipes, Hail to the Chief. The Lieutenant Governor. The Land o' Cakes and Brither Scots—Song, Scots Wha Hae. Our Parliamentary Institutions. The Land We Live in—Song, The Maple Leaf. Our Empire and its Defenders—Song, Rule Britannia. The Learned Professions. Our Guests—Song, Will Ye no Come Back Again.

The President asked the Chief to propose the first toast, on the list, that of the King. Chief Stewart proposed the toast in a becoming manner, and after the singing of "God Save the King," toasts to the memory of our late beloved Queen and to the late President McKinley were proposed and drunk in silence. The toast of "The Day and a' Wha Honour it" was responded to by Rev. McLean Sinclair, an ex-President James McLean, Clansman D. A. McKinnon, M.P., responded for the Governor-General, and Lieut. Col. Moore to that of the Lieutenant Governor. The Land o' Cakes and Brither Scots was responded to by ex-Chief David Small. "Our Parliamentary Institutions" brought out Premier Farquharson, J. F. Wheeler, M. L. A., and Dr. Kelly. C. O. W. S. Stewart spoke for the "Land We Live in," while the "Empire and its Defenders" was responded to by Rev. Mr. Fullerton and Lieut. Arthur Melish. Dr. R. McNeill, Clansman John A. McDonald, Esq., Clansman J. E. B. McCreedy, J. H. Reddin and Oliver Rattenbury, Esq., answered for the "Learned Professions." Messrs. M. J. Butler, D. O. M. Reddin, Peter McCourt and W. J. O'Reilly answered for the "Sister Societies." Clansman Alexander McDonald proposed the toast, "Our Hostess," which was suitably responded to by Mrs. Archibald and Mr. Moffat. The we sang "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King."

Professor Earle presided at the organ, and the singing of Mr. Charles Earle elicited much and deserved praise. While Col. Moore was speaking the electric lights went out, and during the interval of darkness all joined in lustily singing "Annie Laurie." The seating capacity of the Queen's dining hall was more than taxed beyond its utmost capacity to accommodate the eighty odd guests that assembled on this memorable occasion of the St. Andrew's Dinner of 1901.

St. Andrew's Dinner.

The annual St. Andrew's Dinner, under the auspices of the Caledonian Club of Prince Edward Island, was held at the Queen Hotel on Monday evening last. Without any doubt the dinner was in every respect among the most successful Scottish celebrations held in this Province. The members of the Club assembled at their rooms on Queen Street, and about half past eight o'clock proceeded by pipers Ferguson and McInnis, marched to the hotel. Meantime a large number of guests and visiting clansmen had assembled. The dining hall of the Queen had been most appropriately decorated for the occasion with flags, banners and other emblems and devices, all having reference in one way or another to the festival about to be celebrated. The dining hall was brilliantly lighted, and in every way bore testimony to the taste and diligence exercised in its preparation by the genial hostess, Mrs. Archibald. About nine o'clock the clansmen with their friends and guests, upwards of eighty in all, marched to the dining hall to the music of the pibroch, and sat down to a most sumptuous banquet. John McSwain, Esq., President of the Club, presided, supported on the right by the Chief, Major D. Stewart and Rev. T. F. Fullerton, and on the left by Rev. McLean Sinclair and Premier Farquharson. The vice chair was filled by Mr. Charles McGregor, vice-President. Following is the Don't lose any sleep on account of slander. It will rub off when it gets dry.

New Year's Day will not be observed this year. It doesn't come till next year, you know.

The Hillsborough Bodge will likely be ready for crossing about the first of January. It will be constructed of ice, the same as in former years.

Six hundred more Canajians for South Africa! The Boers may well lay down their arms right away. They may be good at guerrilla warfare, but the Canucks know a few monkey tricks too.

There is some talk of starting a beet factory in this Province. Good idea! Now, if a factory could be started by which the characters known as "dead beats" could be put to some advantage wouldn't we be more than happy?
The Denver News says: "A Missouri man was arrested for having a $100 bill. Such unusual things are liable to cause suspicion."
The St. John Telegraph thinks he must have been a newspaper man. He might have been. But how on earth could a newspaper man get hold of a $100 bill.

George Byers, a colored puglist of Charlottetown, was knocked out in the sixth round in a fast encounter at New Britain, Conn. on Thursday night. To add insult to injury Tom Sharkey got up at the conclusion of the bout and offered to meet any man in the world, barring colored fighters. It is rumored that George on hearing this turned as white as a sheet.
"Can anoring be cured?" is the question which New York city is now discussing. Up to the present time the negative side of the argument has the advantage, but there is a simple and sovereign remedy which no one has ventured to suggest. Wake up the offender.—Toronto Globe.

Truro News: "We cannot publish the stuff we have received from a fall poet, who sends in a lovely thing which begins as follows:
The leaves are falling, falling,
And the trees are catching cold,
And go on to depict a coldish immodesty of the trees for standing around in this weather with bare limbs.

The Patriot, in its issue of yesterday, under the heading of "Men of Mark," prints some very interesting items, indeed. One of these items concerns that "President McKinley's summer tour will begin in July and will probably include a trip to San Francisco, where he will witness the launching of the battleship Ohio." Another item says that Ex-Frederic Crisp is seriously ill with influenza. This news, well kept, will be all the more appreciated by those who do not know that both men have been dead for some time.

"Sir," began the seedy-looking individual as he approached the cashier in a down-town office, "I have seen bet your dye and if you kindly render me a little assistance—
"I'm very sorry," interrupted the cashier, "but I can do nothing for you today. Charity abhors a beggar as you know."
"Thank you sir," replied the man discreetly, as he extracted a memorandum book and pencil from a mysterious recess of his apparel. "What is your home address, please, and what time shall I call?"
George had wanted a bicycle for a long time. Last year his birthday was embittered by the fact that he did not get the much-coveted wheel, and so he waited the day this time "with much anxiety."
During the week before, he regularly and earnestly resorted to prayer that he might have his desire granted. His parents really feared for his faith should he again be disappointed. Therefore, on the morning of his birthday he found awaiting him by his bedside a beautiful new wheel.

When his mother entered the room she found him delightfully gazing upon it.
"Wall," he called out, cheerfully, "I thought the Lord wouldn't have the nerve to refuse this time."

BATTLE ABBEY SOLD.

Battle Abbey, the historic place near Hastings, associated with the landing of William the Conqueror in England in 1066, was sold at auction on Wednesday for $200,000. It was the property of the late Duchess of Cleveland, mother of the Earl of Rosebery. The bidding started at £50,000, and was followed by an offer of £80,000, and immediately another of £100,000 was made. The price rose quickly by tens of thousands, and in less than ten minutes had reached £180,000. Ten minutes afterward the sale was made at £200,000 amid great cheering. The auctioneer refused to disclose the purchaser's name, but he is understood to be an Englishman.

BULLER DEMONSTRATION.
A remarkable demonstration took place at the Devonian Dinner, at Hotel Cecil, London, Saturday night, in honor of Buller. A presiding officer he proposed the health of the King which was the signal for deafening cheers. There was no anti-Government demonstration. On Sunday the traders unions and workmen's societies with bands
