Friendship.

Would you have friends-five hundred, less or more. Throw open wide your hospitable door:

Make it a creed-in will believe, 'Tis better far to give than to re ceive. Why should you take around microscope

To spy upon the faults of friend ly folk?

Far better for your peace to shu your eyes, A trifling grievance causes many sighs. And never on your friends in judgment sit, Or try to prove that they are counterfeit.

Why should you keep a crucible Which of your friends are trues or the best?

If you are friendly you are sure to find, Some real friends who to your faults are blind Thank God for faith-far better be deceived. Than not in human hearts have believed.

That Tantalizing Baster Hat

(By Grace Barry.)

Margaret Jordan's mind was in state of tumult, if a mind may be spoken of as in that condition. It was all mixed up, thoughts were struggling assert themselves one against the other, and poor Margaret could not collect any set of them into a train that could be expressed at all coherently. possible, but most of all she wanted that hat. And of course there Sister Evangelista smiled in was a special reason. This was Tom Blake had asked Margaret if he might go out walking with her after church on Easter Sunday evening; and Margaret felt with that rare institution a woman has in such cases, that the walk in question was likely to be an eventful one. Tom had been paying her considerable attention of late, in a friendly way but Margaret did not flatter herself that he was at all in love with her, especially when it was told to her that at the same time he was also devoting some of his evenings to Jean Randall, whom Margaret considered a very many years ago. And now his powerful rival. Jean's father had plenty of money, and what Jean earned was for herself alone.

She was a clever girl and had a rather important position in a downtown establishment. Jean's money she used for personal

Heart and Nerves So Bad Walked Floor All Night.

Nature intended women to oe strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. The trouble is that they pay more attention to the work they have to do than to their health, therefor they become run down, weak and miserable. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the remedy that these nervous, tired-out, weakly women need to restore them to perfect health and happiness.

women need to restore them to perfect health and happiness.

Mrs. Fred Lee, Almonte, Ont., writes: "My oldest daughter was so bad for over a year, with her heart and nerves that she was compelled to give up her work. I was very discouraged about her, as I had her to two doctors, but they did her no good. She could not sleep at night; would have to walk the floor, and felt as it she would go out of her mind. One day a friend told me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I cannot speak too highly of them. She used three boxes and is feeling fine. She started back to work two months ago."

adornment, and with her fairly good looks she did indeed look extremely well. Margaret's people, in the small town which she had left to make her way in the world, were very grateful for any assistance she could render them, and as she was a generous girl and loved her family devotedly, it was a pleasure to her to be able to help them. Now, lowever, there was this new in terest of hers in Tom Blake and her fear of Jean as a successful ival. She simply must have that hat. With her new tailored suit, she felt sure she would ook her best, and she did want appear well in Tom's eyes on Easter Sunday. Well, Margaret's thoughts folowed her as she sat all huddled up in her chair fast asleep, and she dreamed that on Sunday evening she met Jean Randall and Tom Blake coming out of church together and Jean had on her head the identical hat upon which Margaret had placed such high hopes. She awoke with a start, hastily completed thar pregarations for bed, said her prayers, and composed herself

ALL SUMMER

Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, etc., ARE DANGEROUS.

During the hot weather the bowels seem to be more susceptible to disease than at any other time of the year.

The holiday season is on; you go travelling and change your diet and drinking water; catch cold at every change in the weather; eat unripe fruit, etc., which causes the bowels to become loosened up. To get relief from these conditions, you must take something to relieve those awful cramps in the stomach; those awful pains in the bowels; in fact, something that will in a natural and effective way stop the fluxes of the bowels as quickly as possible, and at the same time not leave them in a constipated condition. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Straw-berry is exactly the remedy you need, and by using it you are not taking any
