BRITISH VIEW OF PRESIDENT'S SPEECH. London, Sept. 6 .- President McKiney's speech at the Pan-American Exosition in Buffalo yesterday is the theme of much comment in London papers today.

"It will excite throughout Europe, says the Standard, "as keen interest as it will arouse in the western continent. It is the utterance of a man who feels that he is at the head of a great nation with vast ambitions and new-born consciousness of strength. "America has become an imperial power. Her national life is no longer self-contained and introspective. Heedless of scoffers at 'spread-eagleism,' the United States will go their way regardless of attempted combinations such as Count Goluchowski has sketched, and with a certain carelessness whether or not they come into violent contact with any European power. The Morning Post uses the speech as a text from which to urge the necessity resting upon Great Britain to redouble her efforts to maintain her trade supremacy. The Daily Chronicle says: "The free

Henry told Doxtater to get out, holding the revolver right in front of his chest. Doxtater turned to go away and had almost reached the gate when a shot was fired. He was not hit, and turned around, when a second shot caused him to fall to the ground in an unconscious condition. When he regained consciousness Henry was beating him with a club. The bullet had grazed his forehead and a lump was raised at the back of his head. Cross-examined by Mr. E. Meredith, K.C., Doxtater admitted that he had been living with Henry's daughter on several occasions. Questioned as to stopping in a store on his way to Henry's to purchase cartridges for a revolver. Doxtater denied either having a pistol or cartridges.
