Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to & Cochrain Cables were steady and some firmer, while new sexport business showed an improvement. It was believed the market would advance on this, but a great deal of long stuff came out on the rallies, mostly, it was believed, for New York, and the inrket was too narrow to absorb it without breaking. Corn and oats strong early, but clique in corn sold freely at advance and both went of later in sympathy with wheat. Provisions are firm on smaller supplies of hops and higher prices at yards. Shorts were fair buyers, and there was also some demand for long account.

There was also some demand for long steeling to the first part of the control of Guff from Gotham.

Henry Allen to John J. Dixon & Co.: The market has displayed unexpected strength today. Nearly all the active stocks have advanced. The closing prices were not the very best, but they show advances over Saturday's closing. There has been a sensational break in whisky trust along with the announcement that some of the officers have been indicted and are arrested, but the goings on that quarter have not much interest for the average man in the street now so flagrant have been recent stock jobbing tactics. Among the cheering stories to-day are reports that the Pennsylvania has an interest in the Reading deal and that its proposed absorption of the Delaware and Hudson will only tend to strengthen the anthracite monopoly and that the St. Paul directors have been polled with the result that three quarters of them are found to be in favor of a 2% per cent. cash dividend and that Cornelius Vanderbilt and one of his brothers own 50,000 shares of Union Pacific stock and that President McLeod of the Reading has named three directors of the New England. Some of these stories may be true, all of them are circurated, most of the little fellows have stocks. Curostone opinions are nearly all bullish. Room traders, however, as a rule are not loaded up. It is believed, however, that there are not many of them short.
