Proceeds To Go To Heirs Of Murderer's Victims.

SASKATCHEWAN DECISION
Prisoner's Sentence Was Commuted to Life Imprisonment.

REGINA, July 1.—For the first time in the history of the courts of Saskatchewan, a ratification of settlement has been made by the judge of the Court of King's Bench, which gives the proceeds of the property of a murderer to the heirs and assigns of the murderer's victim. In April, 1918, Pierre Gulloux shot and killed Jean Marie Bourhis, his father. He was sentenced to hang on October 3, 1918, but the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

"PARLIAMENT OF IRELAND" MEETS

Secret Sessions in Dublin on Two Days This Week

DUBLIN, July 1.—(Associated Press Cable).—It became known to-day that the "Irish Parliament" was in session here on Tuesday and Wednesday, and that decrees were passed authorizing the establishment of courts of justice and equity and courts of criminal jurisdiction.

A national land commission was appointed. Another decree provides for the protection of persons occupying land against vexatious claims.

It was announced that the million-dollar international loan had been oversubscribed by $250,000, when the loan closed.

BORDEN DECISION MUCH REGRETTED

Sir Robert Greatly Beloved by His Followers

NEW PREMIER SHORTLY

Believed Change Will Be Made Early Next Week

OTTAWA, July 1.—It was stated to-night that early next week will see the new premier to be chosen as successor to Sir Robert Borden installed and a number of changes in the personnel of the Cabinet.

Wires, telegraphic and political, are hot to-day over the situation. There would appear to be no doubt that had Sir Thomas White remained in the ministry his selection as premier would have been immediate, but the fact that for personal reasons he left is being seized upon by the supporters of one of the aspirants, and taken in conjunction with his recent announcement that he is not a candidate, is not without effect.

MR. MEIGHEN.

Hon. Arthur Meighen's following is substantial, and his supporters are both enthusiastic and active, but one thing militates against him is the claim that he won't be able to "do anything" in the protectionist Province of Quebec. By quite a large group the first choice will be Mr. Meighen, Sir Henry Drayton, who is not pressing himself forward, has a good following, while Hon. C. C. Lantyne, one of the English-speaking ministers from Quebec, is easily in the running. More in the nature of a temporary solution is Sir George Foster, spoken of.

The new premier's advent will synchronize with a considerable measure of reconstruction features, of which will be the retirement of a couple of ministers and the selection of new ministers from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, both of which provinces, with Sir Robert's retirement, will be without representation.

While Sir Robert's retirement is by no means in the nature of a surprise, his passing under the circumstances causes a very sincere regret among his followers. The premier has held a very unique position. He is the only head of a war Government in the British Empire who was in office before the war and politically survived that period of stress. He has been here in Ottawa for 24 years.

He was not politically active in his younger days, and even when pressed to run in Halifax in the famous election of 1896 the practice of law was to him infinitely preferable to politics. Four years later he became head of the party, not that he had particularly aspired to the post, but rather because he was recognized as a man of weight and sagacity. In politics he overcame considerably a barrier of reserve that used to surround him as an appellate advocate.

OF SIMPLE TASTES.

He is a man of simple tastes and habits who took his position with a becoming seriousness. He was very cautious, some will think too much so at times, and he cannot be accused of hasty decisions, but once he made a decision it was carried out with precision and exactitude.

He never lacked the power of enforcing discipline when the occasion arose, as it did now and then in his tenure of office. No shadow of suspicion was ever cast upon his honesty, his probity or his resolute fidelity of purpose.

Fate destined for him a very strenuous political experience. When he came to office in 1911, there were political problems that introduced very vexatious elements, and no sooner had he been squared away than the war broke out with startling suddenness. His part in it, both as head of the Canadian Government and as one of the counselors of the empire was most conspicuous and the services which he rendered.

In debate he was always one of the fairest of men. He was never known to descend to personalities. He would attack a party or a principle or an argument but never introduced the personal element. Outside of the hurly burly of politics his relations with his political opponents were most amicable. Many instances could be cited of those little amenities which go to elevate the one of public life.

GERMAN GUN IN GODERICH PARADE

Large Crowd at County Town for Dominion Day

THREE TROTTING RACES

Band Concert and Fireworks Display Ends Program

GODERICH, July 1.—Dominion Day was celebrated here to-day with a large turnout of citizens, including many from outside points. The usual morning parade was held, headed by the town band, and consisted of decorated autos and trade floats, also the German gun recently received. After the parade the games for boys and girls were run off. In the afternoon a program of sports for every one was run off. Also some excellent Highland dancing and piping by local talent. The day's program finished with a band concert and a brilliant display of fireworks. The committee in charge of the day's proceedings are enthusiastic over the results of the day.

There was no luxury tax then.

ADD MOTOR BUS TO BRANTFORD RAILWAY

Special Service to West End, With Transfers From Cars

BRANTFORD, July 1.—Announcement was given to-day by the Brantford municipal railway commission that though they cannot give a street car service to West Brantford owing to the city deciding not to construct a new Lorne bridge over the Grand River, because of the high cost of labor and material, service will be given by means of a motor bus. In all respects it will be run as a part of the street railway system, with transfers effective for all parts of the city served by street cars and the straight five-cent fare.

The arrest of Sheldon Crumbach was the only feature at the police station to-day. Crumbach was a former restaurant proprietor here and was arrested on a charge of breaking into two stores the previous night. No bail was offered.

WHERE THE EGGS CAME FROM.

WINGHAM, July 1.—Your correspondent was informed to-day by one in a position to know that Wingham stands unrivaled amongst Ontario towns of its size as an egg producing center. Nearly three cars a week of new laid eggs being the average shipped from this point.

NEWSPAPER MEN CHEER PREMIER

Impressive Scene at a Farewell Interview

TELLS OF HIS HEALTH

Eminent Physicians Advised Him He Must Rest

OTTAWA, July 1.—Sir Robert Borden, who to-day announced his retirement from the leadership, summoned the press correspondents to his private office in the east block to-night to give them the last of the many official interviews which he has given in the 22 years since he became leader of the Conservatives.

He spoke long and intimately, and there was a note of regret in his voice, which found ready response from the group around him, who stood up and cheered him heartily before saying good-bye.

He told of his fight to regain his impaired strength, which he had pushed to the utmost limit, and confessed that now he had exhausted all his reserves of vitality and was forced to give up the struggle.

He also spoke of some more intimate matters of peculiar concern to the members of the gallery, assuming a tone which, if it had been adopted by some of the smaller men in Parliament, might have avoided much regrettable friction.

He went at some length into his own physical condition, saying that the most eminent physicians, both here and in Great Britain, had been unanimous in advising him that at least a full year's rest was imperative to restore his health. This, in justice to the country and Parliament, he felt, would involve such a separation from his public duties, at a time like the present, as he felt, would not be fair to take.

He will remain at Ottawa for the greater part of the summer, taking a trip to his old home, in Nova Scotia, a little later on.

He quite the leadership with the admiration and devotion of his followers and the highest respect of his opponents, who, though differing from him in many ways, have recognized all ways his rugged honesty and unwavering fidelity of purpose.
